The Locusts.

- I grieve to see the Locusts come and go, And not a Barl essay to take the pen To keep them in remembrance for a while-At least until the creatures come again.
- I've waited long to see some others start, But find that I will have to go before them, So if I miss the knowledge they'd impart,
- I will in some degree forestall them Why should the airy Locust be forgot, While "cra'lin' farlies" live in deathless lines,
- And poets hunting subjects everywhere, And 'round them thronging all the tuneful nin When the Locust first appeared in view,
- Is more than I will undertake to say. But think it was when Pharaoh lived as King,
- Because they scared the people in that day They rose so unexpected on the earth That everybedy qualled again with fear,"
- And thought they were a curse just sent from G To est up all their substance, blade and ear. But all the harm they ever did to man
- Has been but very swall and very seldom. And if they did kill here and there a boy, And e'n a girl, we're willing to forgive them

A Financial Operation.

We lately heard a story illustrative of the days were long." The parties were 1846, and painted to correspond with the bountwo of the early settlers in the western part of York (now Adams) county-both were of the honest old German stockand as one of them is still living, we sup press the name. Peter, it appears, had increased the size of his farm by annexing sary to pay for the new acquisition. He called upon his neighbor, George, to borrow the amount. George brought out an old bread basket, and counted down the desired number of "thalers"-and then, of course, the two sat down to two large THAT large and desirable property on earthen mugs of cider and as many pipes 1 the corner of Market and Water Sts., of thesee. After smoking over the mat- well situated for a residence, for business, ter for a while, it occurred to Peter, that or for a residence and place of business. in similar transactions he had seen or heard a document was connected, stating that George had loaned Peter one hundred dollars, which Peter would repay to George in "dree monts," (three months.) This Peter signed, and thus far our two financiers had made the thing all regular and ship-shape.

But at this point a difficulty presented itself. They both knew that notes were too much" because you was not made in the operations of borrowing and sware that Hatfield sells cheaper. lending which they had witnessed—but do full jeweled 16 to 18 240.00 to 50.00 neither of them had observed what disposition was made of the document-neither could tell whether it was ne regle for the borrower or the lender to take charge of the paper! Here was a dilemma! At length, a bright idea struck George. "You haf de' money to pay, Peter - so be sure haf de' money to pay, Peter - so be sure you must take dis paper, so as you can Plated and Germ. Three months retailers can sell, by passed over; and punctually to the day appeared our friend Peter, and payed over Lewisburg foundry the promised sum to George. This being done, the mugs and pipes were again paraded. After puffing a while, Peter produced the note, and handed it to George, with the remark, "Now you must take de note, so as you can see as de money haf been paid!"

Pensin is the chief element or great digesting principle of the gastric juice. It is found in great abundance in the solid parts of the human stomach after death, and sometimes causes the stomach to digest or eat itself up. It is also found in the stomach of animals, as the ox, calf, &c. I is the material used by farmers in making cheese styled Rennet, the effect of which has long been the special wonder of the dairy. Curdling of milk is the first process of digestion. A call's stomach can curdle nearly one thousand times its own weight of milk. Baron Liebig states, "one part of Pepsin di-solved in sixty thousand parts of water, digests meat and other food." Diseased stomachs produce no good Gastric Juice, Rennet or Pepsin. To show that this want may be per-sectly supplied, we quote the subjoined SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE!

Raron LIEBIG, in his celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says: "An artificial dissertive fluid, analogous to the Gastrie Juise, may be readily prepared from the muccus membrane of the stemach of the calf, in which various articles of food, as meat and eggs, will be softened and digested in the same manner as in the human stemach." Dr. PERELIA, in his faments treatise on Food and been the published by Fooder's & Wells, New York, page 3th fact, the same great fact, and describes the method of preparation. There are few higher authorities than Dr. Poeria, Dr. COMBE, in his valuable writings on the Physiology of Eugestion, observes that "a distinuation of the disquantity of the toastrie Juice is a prominent and allipte vailing cause of Dryappsia," and he states that "a distinuished professor of medicine in London, who was severely affiliated with this complicant, finding everything else it fail, had recourse to the tearing July on the status of the form of the immons works on Vegetable Bot, as severely affiliated with the grounds, which completely successful. For GEAHAM, author of the immons works on Vegetable Bot, as yet "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, the the stounches of animals, maccorated in water, impact is the fined the property of descrining various articles of food and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of the m in a wise different from the natural digestion of the m in a wise different from the natural digestion of the m in a west different from the natural digestion of the m in a and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in no upe different from the natural digestive process.

In SINON'S great work, the Chemistry of Man, Lea & Blanchard, Philiod., 1846, pp 221, 3, asys. "The discovery of Popoin forms a new era in the chemical history of the estion. From recent experiments, we know that feel is discolved as rapidly in an artificial discetive, fully prepared from Popoin, as it is in the natural Gustre Juice He M. Pret. DCAGLISON, of the Jefferson College, Philad., in his great work on Human Physiology, divides more than fifty pages to an examination of this studget. His exper-ments with Dr. Beanmont, on the Gustrie Juice, obtained from the living human stomach and from animals, are smoon. "In all cases," he says, "digestion observed as perfectly in the artificial as in the natural digestions."
