

Wit and Humor.

"Fellow citizens," said a stump orator, "We have the best country in the world, and the best government. No people on the face of the globe enjoy more liberty than we do. Here we have liberty of speech, and liberty of the press, without onerous despotism. What, fellow citizens, is more desirable than this? Do you want anything more, my countrymen?"

"Yes, indeed," said a red faced loafer, "this is dry work. I want a sack out of the put black sticking out of your coat pocket behind."

"Our orator was completely winged in his lofty flight, and came down floundering. He suddenly rained from that neighbor hood."

A Good Joke.—The Adrian Expositor is responsible for the following: A tall, keen-eyed countryman stepped into the Court room at Detroit, the other day during the progress of the Railroad Trial. Stepping up to a spectator, he requested that the prisoners might be pointed out to him. The man he accosted, being somewhat of a wag, pointed towards the story. The fellow scanned the twelve with an interested eye, when, satisfied with the scrutiny, he turned to his informer and whispered, "Well, they are a hard looking set, but they? I know by their looks they ought to go to the State Prison, every one of them."

A WAR ANECDOTE.—During the renowned "Burr war," in Rhode Island, a tall was brought in to "organize the army." This arose from sleep an old man in one corner, representing a "o in the west of the State." "Mr. Speaker," said he, "I tell you I am decidedly opposed to 'organizing the army as you call it. Our forefathers fought through the Revolution with nothing but a drum and fife, and come off first best; too I am again opposed. They'll be a dreadful unhandy things in battle, now I tell you." This was irresistible, and "Aunt Rhody's army," we are informed, remains "unorganized" to this day.

We wonder if there is anything that a Frenchman is "afraid to eat." We picked up a Paris paper the other day, and found the following delicacies advertised by one of their restaurants, viz.: "Hippopotamus soup, stewed camelopard, elephant steaks, and alligator tails." The elephant steaks were served with orange outing sauce—while the alligator tails were accompanied with a side dish of roast baboon. "Vot a Poulx!"

A QUAKER'S LETTER.—Friend John, I desire thee to be so kind as to go to one of those sinful men in the flesh, called attorneys, and let him take out an instrument with a seal therewith, by means whereof we may seal the outward tabernacle of George Green, and bring him before the land-skin men at Westminster, and teach him to do as he would be done by.

Thy friend, R. C. A Yankee has just invented a method to catch rats. He says: "Locate your bed in a room much infested by these animals, and on retiring, put out the light—Then strew over your pillow some strong smelling cheese, three or four hundred herrings, some lard or new maul, and a sprinkling of dried codfish. Keep awake till you find the rats at work, and then make a grab."

A Dutchman was relating his narrow-escape from drowning, when thirteen of his companions were lost by the upsetting of a boat, and he alone was saved. "And how did you escape their fate?" asked one of the hearers. "I did not go to post," was the Dutchman's placid answer.

An Irishman who lives with a Grahamite, writes to a friend, that if he wants to know what diligent living is, he must come to his house, where the breakfast consists of nothing, and the supper of what was left at breakfast.

The happiest day in a man's life is the day when he first thinks of poetry and milkmaids. There is a pink time about that period of existence, in comparison with which every other portion of our pilgrimage seems dark, prosy, and miscellaneous.

It is gravely stated by the Bangor Mercury, that "goose eggs, as large as a hail stone, fell recently in a shower, at Danbury, Ct." The egg or must have written the paragraph with the wrong end of his pen.

We know a lady who corrects her children, when they are disobedient, by threatening them with a dose of castor oil. When we were a boy, the prescription for such disorders was a dose of nickony oil.

"Do you understand me now?" thundered out one of our country pedagogues, to an archdeacon whose head he threw an inkstand. "I have got an ink-stand of what you mean," replied the boy.

"Don't be in a hurry—keep your seat," when addressed to a visitor in an editor's office, means, "clear out as fast as you can."

To pronounce a man happy merely because he is rich, is just as absurd as to call a man happy because he has enough to eat.

A late country paper mentions a man in his vicinity who was run over and fatally killed.
