Opening of the Buffalo & N. Y. City Railroad. - That portion of the road, between this Village and Portage, is now completed. On Tuesday last, the whole length was run over by a locomotive and passenger car. The train left the Depot about 104 o'clock, A. M., but as that was the first passenger car ever run upon the track, causion was necessary in passing through budges and other points. Stops were made at several places along the road, and visiters continued to increase our numbers until we had a pretty comfortable car load. On arriving at Hunt's Hollow, it was found that some half a mile of rails were yet to be laid. At this point, teams were provided for our conveyance to Portage. At about 3 o'clock, the whistle of the locomotive was heard for the first time on Portage summit; and although the weather was intensely cold, and no special arrangements had been made to draw out the citizens of the village on the occasion. yet large numbers rushed out, regardless of the severity of the weather, to witness the novelty of a locomotive.
