A Railroad Melody. Or the Tune the old Com died of. If you should hear a little boy, Just from a common school, Oppose a Railroad near his home, You'd think him quite a for !. Well, just such chaps we've in our land

In the shape of public men, Who'll dance to one time for a V, To another for a Ten. Cherus-Hi! Charley-Ho! Johnny-Listen now to me, I'll aing for you, I'll play for you A Ratiroad melody!

When a Railroad project is got up. They're keen to have it made For "here" (they think) " there is a chance "For something in the shade;" But when they find their "cake is dough," No orrica have they got. They turn and cry, "Commissioners!

The Radroad—make it not!"

Hi! Shindle-ho! Keller-Listen now to me, I'll sing for you. I'll play for you A Railread melody!

Great meetings then they will get up, And make a mighty fuss. But ere the "ball goes rightly on" They're in an awfu! muss-Th' Improvement cars just heave in view, With the Voters all along, Th' Repudiators hang their heads,

And we will sing our song: Hi! Charley-ho! Fisher-You must clear the track; Old Ner and go-shead Bullgine Have laid you on your back. Hi! Sammy-ho! Filly-You must clear the track; Old Ner and go-ahend Bullgine Have laid you on your back!

Her parents were Suppliety and Prejudice. and are supposed to be living, but being op posed to Common Schools, to Rathroads, an to Telegraphs, there has been no communicate tion between them for some time, except by word o' mouth.

The progenitors of Aunty Ralerede having been firmly impressed with the opinion that " larnin' was useless for honest folks," and also very expensive, her mental culture was somewhat neglected. In the science of Reading, however, she could long ago master the moon-signs in the Almanac In Arthmetic, she progressed as far as the Double Rule of zila Black, dec'd: Grab-All-and-Give-Nothing. In Algebra, she solved the problem that the less you have the better, for you thereby diminish your taxes -In Logic, she was early taught that to spend a levy to gain a dollar, is a great loss. In Music, the strange and varied tones of the Ap-Music, the strange and varied tones of the Appalonichon—now on a high Railroad key, and anon muttering Repudiation to Aunty—were her secret delight. In morals, her golden maxims were, "Let others sow, and I will reap."

"The end justifies the means." "A lie well and the secret was to the supplementary of the secret west of the secret stuck to is as good as the truth," and others equally benevolent and truthful. Her life has been a toiling one, and her hard- street, ships great, for she would do everything the est way, inasmuch as she thought that the " most notural way," and "despised newfangled inventions." For some time past she has often been perfectly blind, and partially deaf, while her faste was also somewhat defective-so much so, indeed, that of late she has harbored and given " aid and comfort " to an onthw named REPUBLATION-a worthless dog of a fellow, who never did a good thing in his life. This well matched couple have carried on a clandestine intercourse, although it is said they have been secretly joined in wedlock by a dissolute priest named Pozitica, who had a handsome sum from their unlawful gains for

This guilty pair have been for some months past alarming and harassing all the good peop'e of Union county, by crying Wolf! Wolf!! hen there was no wolf near. They have deanneed as "villians," "midnight plotters," " rowdies," or " swindlers," his Excellency the Governor of the Commouwealth, the honorable Senators and Assemblymen, the Commissioners of the county, and a multitude of good | Esq. citizens, especially those of and near Lewisburg. They have misled and deceived the unsuspecting, confounded the timid, and, moved and instigated by the Devil, have carried dismay and terror to many happy firesides. They have falsely declared that every woman would lose her chickens and eggs, and that every man was in danger of being driven from his home, by the tax-gatherer, for the benefit of the King. They have excited insurrection and resistance to the laws of the land, raised the standard of rebellion, and declared themselves "in the field" along the Juniata Frontier, under the command of that veteran warrior, "Col. Keller, 6,000 strong."

Against all warnings, expostulations, and entreaties, these seditions persons waged war that be. But the storm and confusion excited by them, at last became so greatly obnoxyour to the public weal, and hostile to the credit and the peace of all well-disposed citizens, that a warrant was put into the hands of the Sher- Tho iff for their arrest, and for their trial on the charge of treason; and the posse was called out to execute the writ Mr. Repudiation had early notice of the movement, and disappeared. but the officers of Justice are on his track, and will surely bring him to the bar if he renews CHEAP WATCHES, JEWELRY AND his hostilities. Aunty Ralerode was tried by a Jury of her country. Mossrs. Milier, Casey, and other eminent counsel appeared on behalf of the People, and the witnesses were abondant and straight-forward. The culprit was ably defended by Messrs. Sienker, Bonsall, Fisher, and several would-be great men; the Whiskey Inspector administered his gas, and the Cargo Inspector the Government pap, and Hard Times propagated some most egregious stories and side-issues; and all attempts were made to blind, bribe, or intimidate the honest and independent Jury. After an impartial charge from Judge Truth Reasonwell, the same day the Jury through their foreman, Mr. Sheckler, returned a verdict that they found Aunty
