

LEWISBURG CHRONICLE & WEST BRANCH FARMER.

LEWISBURG CHRONICLE
JANUARY 27, 1854.

White County Meeting.

The White County meeting is requested to meet at the Court House in New Berlin, on Tuesday the 21st of February next, to appoint a Delegation to meet the Convention to be held in Harrisburg. By order of the Standing Committee.
C. D. ROUSH, Chairman.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday night last, about 12 o'clock, the driver of the four horse mail coach which runs between Northumberland and Williamsport via Milton and Red Hill, stepped at the tavern near the Chillisquaque creek, two miles below Lewisburg, to warm himself and water his horses. While doing this, the horses took fright from some unknown cause, broke the harness by which the driver was tied to the hitching post, and started off at full speed. The passengers jumped out of a hundred yards from the tavern, and the horses kept on to the east end of the Lewisburg Bridge, where the king-bolt broke, and leaving the stage there, the horses came over the bridge with the fore-wheels at full speed—the gate-keeper hearing the racket hoisted the gate in time to save it from being demolished. Two of the passengers were unhurt. But we regret to state that James Armstrong, Esq., of Williamsport, was so badly bruised in the shoulder and leg, that he proceeded home with difficulty. And Mr. George McGinness, of Lunenburg, Co., (who was returning with his nephew from a visit to relatives in some of the lower counties,) had his skull so badly fractured that he died the next afternoon, without having been sensible for a moment after he was picked up. Mr. McG. was a middle-aged man, a farmer, but formerly a carpenter, which trade we understand he learned in this place. The driver was said to be a very careful man, and the team heretofore steady and tractable.

—On the Sunday night previous, when the four-horse coach on the same route had passed the river, a mile and a half below the Lewisburg bridge, the hind wheels in the leader's mouth, when the team became unmanageable and ran off, precipitating horses and coach over the bank into the river, where one horse was drowned. There were no passengers, and the driver jumped off in time to save himself.

—When the news of the accident reached this town, the worthy proprietor of the Eagle Hotel dispatched a messenger with the sad tidings to the family. Before the messenger came within a hundred yards of the house, Mrs. McGinness, accompanied by her family, ran out to meet him crying, "Oh! he's dead! he's dead!" The gentleman assured her Mr. McG. was injured, and she had better go immediately to see him, but he was not dead. She would not be comforted, but continued to cry, "He's dead! I dreamed it last night!" Truly a singular combination of a dream—Milman.

—We are informed that during the riot, noticed last week, the house of Maj. John Gundy was both a fort and a hospital, for several days, and the worthy Major kept the wounded, the young and the unarmed with genuine German hospitality. One woman fled herfooted and in her night clothes for shelter against the drunken marauders; a young girl with her arm mangled, terrified children, men dotted with blood from wounds in their heads—were all taken in, fed, and helped on their way. Several well-dressed young Irishmen lost their clothes, and some went off without getting their pay.

—Some of the ringleaders of the riot are in jail, and we hope an example will be made of them—such as may deter others of their countrymen from alarming the peace and endangering the lives of their fellow-beings.

—It will be seen that the Treasurer of the Susquehanna Railroad Company calls for the payment of the subscriptions made in this county for the carrying on of the work. The Company have now paid out in the county twice as much as they have received from it. If the road is built in Union county under the present contract, it must be with means raised in Union county; and all the money raised from Union county is to be expended here. Railroads are not built without money.

—The Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society have fixed the time of holding the next State Fair on 26th, (Tuesday), 27th, 28th and 29th of September, and appointed a committee to receive propositions from the cities and towns of the Commonwealth, relative to the place for holding the Exhibition.

FOUND DEAD.—One day last week, Jos. W. Potter, late Register & Recorder, of Luzerne County, was found on the line of the new railroad from Scranton to Water Gap, just breathing his last. He was seen in the afternoon walking up the road, and a few hours afterwards he was found as above stated.

Repeal of the Usury Laws.

A bill is before the Legislature to repeal the existing laws against usury. We are not advised of the particular features of this bill, and can therefore only speak of the subject generally. If its object be a modification, merely, of the law as it now stands, it may possibly be well enough. For instance, the legal rate of interest in New York being seven per cent., while in Pennsylvania it is only six, and heavily taxed at that, large amounts of money annually go out of this State, instead of coming into it, for investment. A legislative adjustment of such an adverse current might be judicious and commendable.

But if a sweeping and unconditional repeal of the usury laws be contemplated, the enactment would prove one of the least wise scourges the legislature could inflict upon the people of the Commonwealth. Instead of benefiting poor men, and giving a healthful impulse and free scope to the business operations and productive industry of the country, it would really cripple and oppress, and eventually will both destroy the interests and prosperity of both capital and labor; and surrender both, like blind, shorn Samsons, in chains to the keeping and control of unscrupulous, unconscionable Rapacity, with an eye single to nothing but its stipulated pound of flesh, blood and all. The opponents of the usury laws rest their main argument upon the fallacious and untenable proposition that houses, land, money and horses are alike property, and a man should have a right to sell either for what-ever he can get for them, and invest his capital as he pleases in a free market—forgetting that capital and money are two different things, and that money is not "property" in the sense in which they use that term, but is only the standard and representative of value, and has no intrinsic value per se. In regular business transactions buyers and sellers of houses, lands, cattle and goods are voluntary agents in the transaction, stand on the same platform, can bargain or not as they please, and the one is not in the power or at the mercy of the other. Besides money is not sold, but loaned, and the regulation of its traffic is necessarily governed by widely different principles from those which enter into other operations of trade.

The demand for money arising from extreme necessity, or temptations in the eye of the borrower, is an exception to the rule, and strengthens instead of weakening its force. The evils resulting from over-trading, improvidence, incapacity, or wild speculation—which are the immediate or remote causes of nearly every commercial crisis—must cure themselves by a voluntary correction at the fountain head, and not by unrestricted license for brokers and shavers to bag the game, under the plea of benevolence, at the end of the ruinous chase. But suppose the benevolent pretext of these money-lending opponents of the usury laws be admitted, and the legal rate of interest be changed from six to twelve per cent. How long would it be before these same charitable capitalists would tell these identical customers for whose distress they expressed so much sympathy, the same old story, "Oh, we can't accommodate you at 12 per cent. for that is the regular law of the rate of interest, at which we can invest our money at all times with entire safety. Times are 'tight'; your situation is probably critical and we must have an extra percentage to cover the risk." And they would extort 20 or 25 per cent. for an accommodation, just as they now demand 10 or 12. The entire community would be saddled with heavier burdens, and the unfortunate plunged into deeper and more hopeless distress. And so it would continue to be under every change of the usury law, as long as Cash and Conscience travel separate paths, and the Golden Rule is practically regarded as merely a pretty piece of abstract sentimentalism.

Such laws as these under consideration, should have for their basis the legitimate business operations of the community, and not speculative enterprises, as most of them are, in some feature or other, for whose benefit this change is asked. If this repeal should be granted, we would have that an enemy in legislation, an all-pervading net of assembly, based upon exceptional cases, instead of the general principle involved. There are other obvious considerations, together with the moral aspects of the case. But if the continued safety of the community can rest upon theory, the disastrous examples of such States—Indiana and Wisconsin, for instance—as have fully tried the experiment, ought to be sufficient, we should think, to set the matter at rest. In the former State, widespread and remediless distress and ruin were the speedy and direct consequences of a repeal of all laws against usury; and in the latter, the same paralyzing calamities were rapidly overtaking the people, when the Legislature was obliged, some three or four years ago, to come to their relief by re-enacting heavy penalties against usury. Like causes will produce like results anywhere else. And so long as Shylocks and sharks—with reverence be it said—never take more than two bites to a cherry, if they can help it, there can be no great harm in continuing, as heretofore, to keep them closely muzzled.

Bonaparte is hunting at Fontainebleau. He will "get a shot," some of these days.

Over One Hundred Suits

Are now on the Trial List for Union county, and the list swelling every Term! It appears to me that something must be done to clear the list. And it seems to me the first thing is, to sweep away the petty, lawless prosecutions which the New Berlin lawyers are getting up, under the name of "Railroad suits," to fill their own pockets, and to draw custom to their town. It is well known that Mr. Slenker got $100 out of the County Treasury for advising the notorious Himebach to violate his own solemn contract, under oath; and with the aid of the unscrupulous Van Gezer, they all (except Weirick and Casey) seem to expect fat lumps from the County Treasury. It is well known that New Berlin efforts and influence caused the $200,000 Bonds to be made; and since it is made, they are making hundreds of dollars expense to the county, every year, in vain and useless litigation about it, and thus they not only engender bad feelings, but prevent the proper and legitimate business of the Court from being performed. Let Judges and Jurors think of all this, and apply their veto powers.

The Turkish War.

ARRIVAL OF THE NAGARA! SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE. HARTIX, Jan. 25.—The British Mail Steamship Nagara, arrived this morning with Liverpool dates to the 7th instant, which is one week later than received by the Europa.

The weather has been very severe, and a deep snow fall, which caused a stoppage of the mails throughout Great Britain, France, and Belgium. It is feared that destructive floods will ensue upon the melting of the snow. It was the heaviest snow storm that has occurred for many years.

There is no positive change in the affairs of the East. All the indications on the side of Russia are, that the Czar is preparing for a fierce struggle with Turkey and the allied powers. He has given orders, it is reported, for the troops to cross the Danube. The French government appears to suspect the good faith of Austria, in her alliance with the other powers, and threatens, in case of her withdrawal from the alliance, to raise an insurrection in Hungary and her Italian dependencies. The allied fleet had not yet entered the Black Sea, though under orders to do so. They intend to force the Russian Admiral back to Sebastopol, if he will not go at their request. Altogether, the Turkish question appears as complicated and as difficult of settlement as it well can be, and every day's experience is, that all parties are getting more exasperated and hostile. France has a large force ready for service, but Great Britain still lags back. The popular feeling against Prince Albert appears to be growing more determinedly hostile. He is openly charged with Russian sympathies and of betraying the secrets of the Cabinet. The subject, it is expected, would be brought before the Parliament.

Extraordinary military activity prevails all over Russia, unexampled since 1813. The Czar has got a supply of 10,000,000 rubles from the Church.

The London Observer says that agents are on their way to the United States to purchase ships and ammunition privately for Russia.

Susquehanna Conference.

At the late meeting of the Susquehanna Conference of the East Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church, held in Sunbury, on 9th inst., with a view to the preservation of the History of the Lutheran Church in America, it was resolved:

- 1st. That each Minister of this Conference prepare a faithful and concise history of the Church composing his charge.
- 2d. That these sketches be intrusted to a Committee of three, appointed by Conference, to arrange them, and preface the whole by a brief historical sketch of Conference as a body.
- 3d. That we invite our sister Conference to unite in preparation of similar sketches.
- 4th. That our next Synodical Convention, we ask Synod to appoint a Committee to take charge of these sketches, arrange them, preface them with a history of Synod and through it, repeat other Synods to do the same.
- 5th. Finally, That all these historical sketches be deposited in the Library of the Historical Society of the Lutheran Church at Gettysburg, Pa.

The next meeting of the Conference is to be held at Lewisburg, Union County, on the last Monday of February, proximo. —Pottsville Emporium.

President Pierce has issued his proclamation against the expeditions now being fitted out in California, and elsewhere in the United States, with a view to the invasion of Mexico, and calls upon all good citizens to discontinuance, and by all lawful means to prevent, such unlawful and criminal enterprises.

Gen. Wm. H. Irwin, who has been very favorably noticed by some of our Whig contemporaries as the next Whig candidate for Governor, has addressed a letter to the editor of the Lewisburg Gazette, which is published that paper declining the use of his name for that office.

We are indebted to Messrs. Greely and M'Elrath, for a copy of the Whig Almanac, for 1854, which is useful to every one in the community.

A COUNTRY Dollar Paper!

Since the Chronicle came into our hands, we have clothed it in new type, at a cost of $300 or $400—Office rent has advanced 20 or 25 per cent.—Printing paper has advanced 20 or 25 per cent.—The number of workmen employed is larger—Farmers' produce is raised in price generally.—Our terms have not been advanced. Thus, while our patronage has increased, our profits have not.

A reasonable inference from these premises is, that we MUST RAISE OUR RATES OF CHARGES, or our readers must obtain an increase of PATRONAGE. The papers above us on the West Branch, and some on the North Branch and elsewhere, have raised their charges. We chose to wait—one year longer—at the old rates, trusting that we may be favored with such an increase of Subscribers, Advertising, and Job Work, as may enable us to keep on at our old rates.

In almost every neighborhood, within 20 miles around Lewisburg, additional patrons might readily be obtained. We send out weekly 98 papers in single copies. To print, fold, envelope, and direct singly, 92 times a year, affords but a small profit indeed. If each one now getting a paper alone will get one or more new subscribers to join him, the larger packages will go more safely, and afford us better compensation.

One Dollar a Year—Two Copies a Week—(and no postage in Union county.) is all the paper will cost to any old subscriber who will obtain one or more new ones, and send the Cash for all ($1 each) in advance. This offer is for ONE YEAR ONLY. With such a chance, no Housekeeper, no Young Man, should be without the Chronicle.

We ask all who approve the course of our paper, to aid it by getting one or more subscribers.
