attended, and its two days' proceedings of Ohio, and Harkins of Baltimare (one of the original Washingtoniaus) were present and addressed the meetings.

From the statement of Rev. Dr. Malcom at the meeting in the Lutheran Church on Tuesday evening, it appears that a draft of a Prohibitory Law, containing a proviso submitting it to the ratification of the people at a separate election in June NEXT, was prepared by the Convention, and will soon be brought before the Legislature, and, likely passed. This law, while it has all the binding force of a positive unconditional enactment, provides also that if at the special election held for in connection with the Goods, or the Goods the purpose, a majority appear against it, is a good business stand in a small village the next Legislature shall repeal it. This law has been submitted to the judgment of some of the ablest lawyers in the State, who have pronounced it free from any constitutional objection.
