Editorial Correspondence of Lewisburg Chronicle. HARRISBURG, March 27.

The Chronicle has come to hand. "Editorial correspondence not received." Quite likely, inasmuch as none was sent—there being too many irons in the fire, and too many other fish to fry, just now, in this immaculate Capital, to permit indulgence in the luxury of epistolary editorials.

I suppose the subject uppermost in the minds of your people as they turn a wishful glance towards this political Mecca, is the probable fate of the bill to divide Union county. It is backed up, so far, by the signatures of 3,109 petitioners, for and 962 against it; and passed the Senate, unanimously. It then was sent to the House, where it was referred to the committee on New Counties, who gave it a partial hearing on last Thursday, and for want of time adjourned over till Wednesday next, when they will probably report it to the House, with a favorable recommendation.

From that point, if the people of the county were faithfully represented on the floor of the House, there would be no serious difficulty in the way of its passage. But the member from Union seems to consider himself endowed with some kind of autocratic power to do as he pleases, without regard to the wishes of his constituents; and acts very much as if he considered the people of county a sort of militia battalion, to be governed by his will, instead of their own.

He discards their petitions entirely, as being of no sort of account on the Division question. He plants himself on the ridiculously abortive attempt to take a vote on Division last fall, and considers that, and the fact of his own election, as absolutely conclusive against the friends of Division, and—as he stated to the Committee—he don't know what they mean by coming here now to agitate the question. I leave you, Mr. Publisher, to explain the falsity and injustice of this attitude.

This is purely a local question, and it is customary to refer such bills to the member from the district to be affected by it, and other members dislike, as a general thing, to interfere. But the petitions are addressed to the Legislature, and the whole House must act on them under oath, and when the bill comes up and its merits are understood, the indications of opinion so far, lead me to hope that the petitions will have justice done them, and not be kicked out of doors while in the exercise of their constitutional rights.

Our Member goes from desk to desk, imploring his fellow members to stand by him in this emergency. But he evades his direct responsibility to his constituents, by peremptorily refusing to be a candidate for re-election. It will be well for him if he don't, with his vote and opposition on record against this bill, he would be swept from the field as if struck by a whirlwind.

DEATH IN THE CARS.—The Locomotive Gazette, of March 22, says: A young man named Jared Welch, a son of Samuel Welch, Esq., of Clinton county, died in the cars on the Central railroad, on Wednesday of last week, between Newport and the Junction. He was seized with a violent fit of coughing, ending in the rupture of a blood vessel, which caused his death in less than ten minutes. He was on his return from a visit to the south for the benefit of his health, and was in the last stages of consumption—going home to die. His remains were interred in the cemetery at Lock Haven, on Friday last, and followed to the grave by a long procession of mourning friends and relatives.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—It is stated confidentially this evening, that Mr. Breckenridge, accompanied by Gen. Lane, left in the cars at five o'clock this afternoon for the North. It is also believed that Messrs. Cutting and Hunt went in the same train, to settle the pending affair of honor, between Messrs. Breckenridge and Cutting. Horatio King was confirmed by the Senate to-day, as first Assistant Postmaster-General.

Mrs. Rose delivered an eloquent discourse to-night against the Nebraska bill. The Gadsden treaty is likely to be defeated. The venerable Jonathan Harrington, the last survivor of the battle of Lexington on the 19th of April, 1775, died on Sunday last, aged ninety-six. He was born in that place, and though but 17 years of age, was connected with the Provincial militia, and played the fife, at the battle.

FOREIGN NEWS.

NEW YORK, March 28.

We have rumors by steamer of the fall of Kalafat and massacre of garrison. The only fighting has been between two columns of the Russian army, who met in the dark and killed several hundred before discovering their mistake.

LATER NEWS. The Royal Mail Steamer Africa, arrived at New York yesterday morning. Her news is of an exciting character, although no battles are reported. The rumor that Russia had made new propositions for peace is confirmed, but they were of such a nature that they could not be accepted.

The news of the capture of Kalafat by the Russians, seems to have been a fabrication. On the contrary, the Russians are retiring from before that place. A Greek insurrection has again broken out in Western Turkey. It seems to be of a formidable character. The British fleet had sailed for the Baltic. The Queen had issued a proclamation against British subjects engaging in foreign service.

Austria and Prussia still maintain neutral ground, although the former is raising a large army. The French force of the East numbers 90,000 men. Spain is reported to be in a distracted condition. It will be seen that the news has a tendency to produce a decline in cotton and breadstuffs.

The Canada arrived at Halifax last night. English fleet of fifty ships, all steamers, had departed, March 31, for the Baltic. Russia's reply to the peremptory demands of England and France had not been received, and it was said could not be till 16th or 18th.

Affairs on Danube about as they were. A letter dated Kalafat, Feb. 28, says a rather serious occurrence had taken place at Geougevo. Two battalions of Turkish infantry, with two guns and three hundred caissons had crossed the Danube and engaged three battalions of Russians with six guns and a regiment of cavalry, and after a sanguinary conflict of three hours, the Turks returned to their own position, with a loss of one hundred killed and seven hundred and fifty wounded; while the Russians are said to have lost three hundred killed and fifteen hundred wounded. Breadstuffs considerably declined.

The Illinois Legislature recently passed resolutions in favor of the Douglas Nebraska Bill. The National Intelligencer says, "from the analysis of the vote contained in the Illinois journals it appears that in the House of Representatives only thirty members out of seventy-five sanctioned the resolutions," a fact which considerably lessens the weight of this legislative act.

We are pained to learn that Mr. Edwin Forrest, the American tragedian, has become a convert to the very ridiculous belief in spiritual manifestations. This gentleman is a constant visitor upon the Foxes, now stopping at a hotel in this city, and most credulously insists upon correctness of the developments communicated by the rappers from "the other side of Jordan."—Trenton True American.

NEW ORLEANS, March 28.—The Providence publishes private advices from Mexico, which states that Gen. Alvarez, had defeated the Government troops sent against him, and that Santa Anna had determined to take the field, and dialogue him from his fastnesses.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—The Germans in this city, as well as the German press generally, unite in denouncing Kosutski's letter upon the removal of George Saunders, U. S. Consul to London. Jacob Peters, Sen., a gentleman well known in Philadelphia and the State for his connection with various stage and omnibus lines, died at his residence in this city on Monday morning, March 13.

It is stated the capital stock of the Lackawanna & Bloomsburg Railroad has been secured, and the entire work will be placed under contract during the coming season. New Hampshire Election.—The Concord Statesman, a Democratic paper, has returns of all but two Representatives elected. They stand—Whigs and Free Soilers, 157; Democrats, 150—with the two undecided, 152.

A severe gale was experienced, at Albany and Troy, N. Y., on Saturday and Sunday week. A large number of buildings were unroofed, and damage to a large amount was otherwise sustained. Nathaniel G. Taylor, Whig, has been elected in the first Congressional district of Tennessee, to succeed Brooks Campbell, Dem., who died in the early part of the session.

THE HIGHLANDS, March 28.—A man named John Smith was found, this morning, on Island Beach, frozen dead. It is supposed he was out gunning, as his dog and gun were found lying by his side.
