"The Lewisburgers have filed bonds to the amount of $50,000, binding themselves to erect the public buildings, in case of a division. This is the greatest humbug yet, we hope our friends will not be gulled by it. These bands are worthless, no sensible man would give 50 ets. fer them. Next we k the whole thing will be exposed. Would not some of the men, whose names are attached to those bonds, find some trouble in paying the legal notes standing against them?"

Such is the manner in which the tized by the German paper at New Berlin, and there are these who read nothing else who will believe the falsehood.
