

LEWISBURG CHRONICLE

Sept. 29, 1854.

Editorial Correspondence of Lewisburg Chronicle, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25, 1854.

To leave Lewisburg at 10 o'clock, A.M.—as I did to-day—and take tea here at 8 in the evening—174 miles—is a crumb of traveling comfort for West Branchers, not noted down heretofore, I believe, in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant; and is, in solemn verity, a most grateful and welcome relief from purgatorial packet-boats, and risky Broad Mountain staging. The actual running time between Milton and Philad'a is from 11 A.M. till 7 P.M. which shows at a glance how happily our secluded valley is brought into contact with the outside world, and the outsiders with us. A month or two hence, the link from Milton to Williamsport will be completed, and then we can slip out in both directions. All that remains to put the finishing touch to the picture, is an iron track down the Susquehanna, and west to Spruce Creek or Tyrone. And this must and will be done. Manifest destiny has decreed it, and like Chinese emigrants, her "special edicts" must ultimately be "obeyed."

The completion of the Cattawissa road is proof positive that any other road under the heavens can be made if the projectors hang on to it with the same tenacity of purpose. Col. Paxton has been his own Jupiter, and—our party is here! There are two "wonders" about this road. First is how the first explorers ever got "through the woods," and the next how they managed to make them. Some tipsy locomotive must have been out sky-larking when it first found its way through that wilderness of mountains between Tanamqua and Cattawissa. But bravely and beautifully does it now move on its pathway, like an exultant behemoth, sublimely unconscious of nature's ineffectual barriers in the way of its majestic progress—scaling dizzy heights, flying over deep valleys, shooting through unwelcome knobs, or dodging round them, as if they were thrown in merely for variety and embellishment. There are 67 miles of road in which there is not a single continuous mile of straight track. I confess I had some lurking fears that, with all its merits, the safety of the route was rather dubious; but personal observation has dissipated all such apprehensions. To be sure, steaming hurriedly along mountain crests for miles, with the valleys gliding past far down the wooded slopes, or standing on the rear platform of the train as it shoots in two or three instances, across valleys from ridge to ridge, and looking down, 120 feet perpendicular, through the open train-work, will add something to one's ideas of "perspective," but the smoothness and completeness of the road, and the solidity which you can feel to be in these bridges as the train passes over, together with the evident prudence and good management of the officers, will soon satisfy any one that there is no more risk here than on other roads. Mr. Emmett, the chief engineer, assured me these truss-work bridges would readily sustain a weight of one thousand tons, and that the heaviest burden train that could be put upon them would not disturb them in the least. Other roads have them still higher. This one across the Genesee river, at Portage, N. Y., built by Messrs. Lauman, Rockwell & Jas. Moore, Jr., is 234 feet high, and lightning trains daily pass over it at speed. Similar structures also abound on the Lackawanna, and N. Y. & Erie roads—the latter, the track passing high over the chimney tops in the village of Lanesboro.

It is fourteen miles farther from Milton to Port Clinton (15 miles below Pottsville) where we connect with the Reading railroad than it is from Port Clinton to Philadelphia, yet we made better time, and were much more comfortable on the Cattawissa than on the Reading track—the larger portion of the time having been spent on the shorter portion of the road. This route will now monopolize the travel from the West Branch country, and old fogey stage coach administration on the Susquehanna is already an obsolete idea. Peace to its manes. Arrangements will also be made to an accommodating freight business. The Spruce Creek road should be put through now. Col. Paxton and Mr. Emmett say it must be done. I must remark before closing that the present appearance of Tanamqua took me by surprise. Eleven years ago, this month, I was the only passenger one day from Port Clinton to Tanamqua in a small open car, with two mules, on a used-up flat-rail track. We were five hours making the 20 miles, and there were not ten houses in Tanamqua, and the main street—which was about the only spot the mountains would permit to be level—rejoiced in a fine crop of stumps. Now it is a well built and flourishing town of five thousand inhabitants. So much for railroads and enterprise. What would the West Branch country be in ten years, if our railroads were in full operation?

The State Fair is bringing an immense crowd to the city. The grounds are at a pleasant spot on the west bank of the Schuylkill, not far from the Fairmount bridge, and the occasion promises to be one of extraordinary interest.

The cholera has disappeared from Columbia. About 120 deaths occurred from the disease.

Wreck of the Philadelphia. HALIFAX, Sept. 26.—By the arrival of the Cunard mail steamship from St. Johns, N. B., we have intelligence of the total loss of the new steamship City of Philadelphia, near Cape Race, Newfoundland.

She was stranded on the 7th inst., when only eight days and a few hours from Liverpool. All her passengers were landed in safety.

Five hundred and forty passengers arrived here this morning and the rest remain at St. John's, awaiting a conveyance.

It is thought the vessel will be a total loss. A portion of the cargo will be saved in a damaged condition. The owners are fully covered by insurance in England.

The Lewistown Aurora, the Temperance paper of Mifflin county, says: "Below will be found the correspondence between the Temperance Executive Committee of this county, and Messrs. Sellers and Doty, the Whig and Democratic candidates for Senator in this district. It will be seen by their letters that they have each answered the questions in the affirmative, and have thereby evinced a determination to be on the side of right and justice, let what will come. In answering us they have, they have relieved Temperance men of the district from taking any further action in the matter, and all we have to do with them now, is to turn them over to their respective friends, with a regret that they cannot both be elected."

The Whig and Free Soil papers of Leaver, Butler, Mercer, Lawrence and Crawford, speak in the most enthusiastic terms of Judge Pollock's reception and speeches in their respective counties. They all commend his ability, sentiments and appearance, and predict for him an overwhelming vote.

ARE YOU ASSESSED?—Do not depend upon the word of others, but see that your name is on the tax list before the first day of October. You must be assessed at least ten days before the election, and pay your tax, before you can vote.

The cholera has disappeared from Columbia. About 120 deaths occurred from the disease.

Important to Voters.

Appended to the ticket to be voted this fall, is a ballot headed "Prohibition Liquor Law," to which is to be added "For a Prohibitory Liquor Law," or "Against a Prohibitory Liquor Law." This ticket must be voted on a separate slip. We presume that all the tickets will be printed both for and against, leaving the voter to choose as he sees proper. No voter should forget this, as it is by no means the least important question to be decided this fall.

For the Lewisburg Chronicle. VOTERS! Remember that at the next election you will be called upon to deposit two votes—one for the men of your choice for the several offices, and another on the most momentous question which has ever called you to the polls:—"Prohibition!"

The number of votes for the prohibition of the liquor traffic, as now authorized, will determine the question. If you do not vote at all on the subject, it is just the same as if you voted against it, so to the legal effect. Never open your mouth again, against Groceries, if you now by not voting against them, give them your sanction and support!

Let every man who is enlightened on this the great political question of the age, see that his neighbors understand it, and that they are provided with the requisite ticket.

For the Lewisburg Chronicle. Women of Union County! Do you pity the drunkards? Then see that your husband and sons vote the Prohibition ticket at the coming election. Do you pity the drunkard? Then use your influence that the temptation may be put out of his way.

Do you feel the curse of the grogery in your own households? Then be up and doing at this critical moment and peace may yet shed its blessings over your family. Do you love your Country? Then strike for its release from its GREATEST CURSE.

Do you love religion? Then let no effort be wanting to remove that traffic which is seducing tens of thousands from the only way of salvation. REMEMBER, he who does not vote at all on this question, votes to continue the traffic as it is.

Candidates' Department. To the Voters of Union County. The undersigned would respectfully inform the voters of Union County, that he has been recommended as a candidate for the office of REGISTER AND RECORDER, without his solicitation, and afterwards nominated by the Democratic Convention assembled at New Berlin. I would therefore say to my friends, and also to all others that may consider me competent to attend to the duties of said office, that being reasonably well acquainted throughout the county, I hope you will excuse me for not calling on you personally before the election, but should you favor me with your support, and elect me to said office, I will promise to attend to the duties thereof with strict fidelity, and to the best of my ability. Yours respectfully, GEORGE DREIBACH. Mifflinburg, Sept. 25, 1854.
