To Business Men.—The Lewisburg Chronicle has considerably the largest circulation of any English newspaper in Union county.

Editorial Correspondence of Lewisburg Chronicle.

HARRISBURG, January 29, 1855.

Aside from the suspense at this time about U. S. Senator, legislative business always moves slow at the commencement of the session, because all bills introduced are referred to the appropriate standing committee, and in their own good time are reported to the House or Senate, as the case may be, and then come up in their turn, under the Rules, for discussion and for action. Oftentimes the Committee do not report at all, and thus smother obnoxious projects at the start; or withhold them for some weeks, from various causes, and thus occasion great delay. Again, it takes members some time to get acquainted and understand each other, and measures that await their action; so that people at a distance who expect to have every thing put through and finished the first week of the session, are apt to be disappointed, and must learn to exercise a little patient forbearance.

Your division bill has been introduced into the House by Dr. Crawford, but I am unable to say at this moment whether it has been reported from the Committee yet or not. Now Berlin has had more or less force here all the time for the last two weeks, and remonstrances against division have been presented. They now ask that the division question shall be referred back to the people at the next general election, and the result be regarded as a test for the action of the next legislature, and I understand a bill to that effect has been introduced into the Senate. In reply to this, the friends of division propose to have the House division bill passed, with a clause submitting its repeal to a vote of the people, at the spring election. This it is alleged would present a practical, tangible question for the people to act upon, and would separate it from all the political and other side issues, that would cluster around and embarrass it at the fall election.

Bills have been introduced to change and restrict the license system, to abolish the canal board, sell the public works, incorporate banks, define the duties of State Treasurer, &c. &c., and will in due time give rise to much interesting discussion. But at present things are comparatively quiet.

Over a thousand dollars was raised at a public meeting in the Court House the other night for the relief of the poor of Harrisburg, many of whom are in a state of great destitution. Times are hard and provisions are very high, and it will require another thousand before spring to enable the sufferers to get along with any ing, without much effort.

Dr. Dowling is to lecture this evening on "Divine Providence in the life and character of George Washington," for the benefit of the Baptist Church. A large number of tickets have been sold. H.

"Down with the Clergy!"

The Editor of the Easton Argus is very wroth at the late overturnings of parties by the people, and declares that elevating clergymen to office is "a mighty stride towards a connection of Church and State"! He had no qualms of this sort when Jesuit priests pulled the wires; but for republicans—American freemen—to nominate and elect, (in defiance of Arnold Douglass' anathems upon them for protesting against the Nebraska infamy,) competent and worthy Protestant clergymen—Sons of the Sires of '76—to stations of honor and profit, is more than his mighty Democratic soul can bear, and he declares, "it is time to put a stop to it." Vapid, impotent soul! to try to "stop" the American voters from exercising an unbiassed choice—to try to "proscribe" as pure and respectable and competent a class of men as we have, from holding office! John Witherspoon, John Elder, and scores of Presbyterian and other clergymen who held civil or military offices during the Revolution, must have been sad dogs in the view of this pious editor and the Know-Littles who copy his ravings. When the Vermonters elected for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, William Butler and Aaron Leland—both Baptist ministers—the Argus-eyed Editor would doubtless have declared that our "lebbertiz wor clane gone for iver intirely!" The Argus party, however, we believe, sustained John Andrew Shulze and Henry A. Muhlenburg when running for Governor of Pennsylvania, (both Lutheran clergymen,) without any compunctions of conscience: but they belonged to their party, and that made all the difference!

The truth is, but for the infamous measure of the Administration, and the attempt of Arnold Douglass to gag the preachers for denouncing national sins, very few of those recently elected would have desired, or been thought of for such spheres of action. We do not admire a clergyman who in ordinary times seeks an office: but none but an aristocratic tyrant of the stupidest, blackest stripe, would seek to proscribe them from holding office, if the people desire their services. If they choose to elect a Catholic, they have the right; and if he brought with him a regiment of "woters," even the Argus with its hundred eyes would see nothing improper, provided they only voted "right."

☞ In the Senate, January 27, Bills were reported for the erection of the new counties of Lackawana, Madison, Conemaugh, Redstone and Pine

Sale of Personal Property.

The Pottstown Ledger very appropriately remarks, that years ago it was most customary for all classes of citizens to visit the stores, taverns or shops, to learn the news and have a little social converse, evenings and rainy days. The change of habits consequent upon the increase of population, wealth, and the general spread of newspapers has very materially altered this order of things. Now, people look to the newspaper to bring the information to their houses which formerly was obtained at the Cross roads, or at some place of public resort, by a written or printed bill. Particularly are the sales of real estate, and personal property, considered worthy of newspaper publication. Experience has demonstrated, that one additional bidder at a sale of personal property often pays all the cost of publication many times over. The custom of publishing these sales in the newspaper, is not generally appreciated so fully as it deserves to be, but it is rapidly growing into favor. Printed handbills, (and sometimes written ones, which attract but little attention,) are made to answer the purpose. At this stage of progress, a handbill and the newspaper each fill an excellent office—both are valuable. The time is coming fast a-pace, when the Newspaper will be chiefly relied upon. Even now, many people seem to think it an underrating of their presence—those who go but little from home—if a valuable sale is not made known to them through their local paper—while others attend a poorly advertised sale, expecting to "get bargains," because of want of competition among the paucity of bidders. It is the interest of the seller to have as many buyers as possible; that of the buyer, to have a small number of bidders.

Teachers' Associations.

Agreeably to previous notice, the teachers of the Common Schools of Beaver and West Beaver townships met in Adamsburg on Saturday the 21st day of January, 1855, for the purpose of forming a Teachers' Association. On motion, Dr. ISAAC ROTHROCK was appointed president, and SAMUEL PETERS, Secretary. The association was then addressed by D. Heckendorn on the importance, and good, that would result from their united efforts.

A large number of resolutions were adopted, among them the following:

Resolved, That this association recommends the teachers of Union county to form similar institutions in every township in the county, as necessary preparatory in the formation of a County Teachers' Association.

Resolved, That we now consider this a permanent organization, called the Union Teachers' Association, and that we meet again on Saturday morning the 11th of February, 1855, in Adamsburg.

After appointing D. Heckendorn, to receive D. Amish, and J. K. Millet, on reading; I. Rothrock, Jr., on geography; S. Peters, on penmanship; E. Knepp, on arithmatic; and C. E. Haus on English grammar, at the above mentioned time and place. The meeting adjourned.

Sound Views.

The Editor of the Danville Democrat is a naturalized citizen, but in his paper last week he makes the following timely and judicious remarks:

"All peculiarities and distinctions, it should be the object of the adopted citizen to forget, from the moment he declares his intention of asking from his adopted land the bestowal of its highest privileges. In private life, in his family remembrances, and in his social friendships, it would be unjust to ask that he should forget his native land, or that his heart should not warm towards those who with himself have been expatriated by the influences of bad governments or tyrannical rulers. But when, going beyond this, he seeks on public occasions, to display the insignia of his old nationality, and to perpetuate, by name and dress, the customs, events, and remembrances of a country whose allegiance he has solemly forsworn, he practically offends the national feeling of the American people, and, though he may do so with the purest intentions, and design thereby no disrespect to American sentiment, yet the act itself is so offensive, that it must breed jealousies, foment discord, and prove determinal to his own social position. It would be a matter of sincere congratulation if the initiative in disbanding all these foreign military and other organizations, except those for purely social or benevolent purposes, was voluntarily taken by parties who compose them!"

—Were all our adopted citizens to feel and act in the spirit of Mr. Cook, demagogues could have no interest in banding together, to ride into office with them, or to excite prejudice to ride into office over them.

Arrival of the Africa.

HALIFAX, Jan. 30.—The steamship Africa, from Liverpool, with dates to the 20th inst., arrived at noon, to-day, bringing one week's later news.

The steamship America has arrived out at Liverpool. Her advices imparted a more buoyant tone to the cotton market, and prices closed at a slight advance.

There has been no improvement of trade at Manchester.

The previously reported decline in Breadstuffs had been overcome, and at the close of the market on Friday Flour showed an advance of 6d.

Wheat was firm but not active, at 2d. advance.

Consols are quoted at 91¾.

The War news is entirely unimportant. Nothing decisive had occurred before Sebastopol, and affairs there were unchanged.

The negotiations are still in progress, but nothing is certainly known respecting them.

Protection vs. Free Trade.

We have before us certain official statiess in the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, relating to the quantity of United States imports and exports, respectively of general merchandize and specie, for the last ten years—from which we have compiled the following tables, setting the whole matter before the reader as clear as day-light:

	Goods, &c.		Specie.
	Total Imports.	Total Exports.	Imports.	Exports.
1845	$114,371,442	$120,037,111	$ 4,050,242	$ 5,600,495
1846	117,254,653	106,283,248	3,777,732	3,005,284
1847	122,454,749	146,741,598	24,121,593	1,207,024
1848	146,838,504	128,190,405	6,360,324	15,341,616
1849	141,398,199	140,451,172	6,651,246	5,404,618
	$642,317,547	$640,703,534	$44,960,729	$35,067,971

The effect of the Tariff of 1842 was not felt much except in inspiring confidence and building up protected industrial establishments, during the two first years after its enactment—nor was the blighting influence of the Bill of 1846, (which took effect in 1847,) felt in all its intensity so long as there was a famine in Europe, which threw the balance of trade in our favor, and prevented the export of specie beyond the amount usually imported and exported in a healthy state of the commerce of the country. Now look at the above figures, and what is the result of the five years from 1845 to 1849, inclusive?

	Goods, &c.	Specie.
Exports,	$650,903,594	$35,667,071
Imports,	643,360,659	44,980,727
	$7,542,935	$9,313,656

Showing an excess of exports on goods, produce, &c., in our favor of $7,542,935, and an increase of specie added to the country of $9,313,656, How wonderfully were our resources developed, and the creative industry of our country stimulated by that act that its influence extended, nearly three years after its repeal, aided of course by the famine in Europe and the influx of gold from California. It is true the patient was sinking as early as 1848 and 1849, under the treatment of the quack doctors, who had been called in, as witnessed in the destruction of so many Iron works,—but it was only after 1850 that the patient began to sink rapidly.

But now look at the other picture, under the Tariff of 1846, and take the five years from 1850 to 1854, inclusive:

	Goods, Produce, &c.		Specie.
	Imports.	Exports.	Imports.	Exports.
1850	$173,769,518	$144,376,736	$ 4,028,742	$ 7,842,794
1851	216,524,130	178,592,252	4,424,202	27,941,762
1852	207,471,099	154,998,741	5,108,044	42,071,135
1853	290,777,945	203,189,282	4,291,102	27,480,879
1854	298,844,091	226,818,941	8,910,102	41,422,424
	$1,184,386,783	$908,975,952	$26,762,192	$146,759,179

What a startling, withering contrast! Look at the figures:

	Goods, &c.	Specie.
Imports in 5 years,	$1,184,386,783	$ 26,762,192
Exports,	908,975,952	146,759,179
	$213,766,831	$121,871,247

Excess of goods imported $213,766,211 —excess of specie exported, 121,871,247 —the result of Free Trade.—Pottsville Miners Journal.

"THE CABIN BOY'S STORY,"

A true Nautical Romance of intense interest, by the Author of "the Sailor's Doctor," "the Lawyer's Story," "the Steel Dagger," &c. &c.

THE publication of the above is the withdrawal of a popular story, in a sufficient guarantee of the favor with which it will be received. It is a work of merit, presented by the publisher in a style of unusual excellence, illustrating the interests of the whaling Trade, in connection to the Coast of Africa. The author has secured in the story—and the descriptions and characters are painted from personal acquaintance with them. The story is full of exciting interest, and adventure as the celebrated work of Defoe, "Robinson Crusoe," and in the attractions of that glorious history, depends as it is founded on facts of every day occurrence. The history of the heroine of the story, Zoraska, the Circassian slave purchased at Constantinople, rescued and married by the resident, yet christian, Seymour—the consequence of the Albatross is simply the narration of a fact painted from the life, and all the romance of the story is found throughout the story are vividly and naturally drawn.

The publishers have already received orders for the whole of the edition if was originally their intention to print, but have been induced by the demand to increase it; and they respectfully request that all orders may be sent immediately.

They confidently expect that the work will excite as much interest as any book of fiction that has ever been emanated from the press, as extraordinary since the publication of Uncle Tom's Cabin, works relating to slavery in America, has produced, have been numerous, none have appeared having relation to the whaling service. Dr. Anthon, M.D., of the Cabin Boy, will be the only one who has witnessed it in all its bloody details and horrors. The work is written in chaste and pure language, and will be a welcome and instructive addition to the family library.

The work will form a beautiful octavo volume of 100 pages, handsomely illustrated with fine engravings, and elegantly bound in cloth. Price only 50 cts. Published in paper, 25 cents, at which rate copies will be sent to the publishers to any part of the country free of postage.
