THE FARMER'S LIFI

and the second se

The Farmer's life is the life for me---I own I love it dearly— And every season, full of glee, I'll take its labor cheer by; To plox or sow, to reap or mow, Or in the barn to thrash, sir, All one to me, I plainly see, "Twill bring me health and cash, sir.

The Lawyer leads a harassed life, Much like the hunted etter, And 'tween his own and others' strife, He's always in hot water-For for or friend, the cause defend, Wheever wrong may be, sir, In reason's spite maintain he's right, And daily earn his fee, sir.

The Doctor's styled a gentleman, But this I hold but humming, For, like a tavera waiting-man, To every call he's coming-Now here, now there, must be repair, Or starve, sir, by denying ; Like death itself, unhappy elf, He thrives by others' dying.

The Farmer's life then let me live, Obtaining, while I lead it, Enough for self, and some to give To such poor souls as need it. I'll drain and fence, nor grudge expense, And give my land good dressing ; I'll plow and sow, and drill in row, And hope for Heaven's blessing-

Rothschild "Short."

There is a good story told recently of man of his class in the world, which shows that it is not only "money which makes the same go," (or horse either, for that matter,) but " ready money," " unlimited credit" to the contrary notwithstanding. On a very wet and disagreeable day, the Baron took a Parisian omnibus, on his way to the Bourse, or Exchange ; near which the " Nabob of Finance" alighted, and was going away without paying. The driver stopped him, and demanded his fare. Rothschild felt in his pocket, but he had not a "red cent" of change. The driver was very wroth.

"Well, what did you get in for, if you coull not pay? You must have known ied and will be sold at very reduced prices. that you had no money."

"I am Baron Rothschild," exclaimed the great capitalist, "and there is my card."

The driver threw the card into the guttor.

" Never heard of you before," said the driver, "and don't want to hear of you again. But I want my fare, and must have it !"

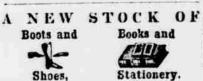

The great banker was in haste.

"I have only an order for a million,' he said, "give me change." And he proffered a "coupon" for fifty thousand francs.

The conductor stared, and the passen-

In a few days the costliness of our government will rival the corrupt dynastics of Europe. The simplicity and economy of our system rests with the people-they are the auchor of safety ; and it is in sumbent upon them to curb the taste for regal splendor which is gaining upon us.

In the House, the Homestead Bill has been rejected. It may come up in another form, though its fate is considered doubtful.

The Pacific Railroad has been under discussion also, Mr. Benton made a learned and able speech. Various propositions are L for Congress, but it is feared that rival misocates of the Northern and Southern route will destroy each other. Only thirty days of the session remain, and hence this like many others will be in jeopardy for want of time.

Graphic.

Mrs. Swisshelm, in the Pittsburg Gazette, thinks that the sterner sex had better devote their attention to their own ridiculens fashions in dress, rather than to find so much fault with the ladies.
