Hogs DRUNK .- The Noblesville Patriot gives an amusing account of the destruction of $500 worth of liquors by the temperance people. Some seventy barrels and kegs were consumed. The Dayton Ale would not burn, of course, and the Putriot says :

The next morning, droves of hogs licked the foam of beer, drank the half frozen spirits, and soon Mr. Porker began to hang his head and lop his ears, swinging head towards tail and tail towards head, showing the whites of his eyes, and opening his

AN IRISH YANKEE .- A few days ago, during a criminal trial at Worcester, Mass. a brother of the defendant was called as a witness. He testified that he wrote a certain letter to his brother, but very soon swore that he could not write at all.

Upon being questioned in regard to his having written the letter, he said the letter was written under his directions, "by another man." Question, by District Attorney-"who was the man?" Witness -"It was my aunt!"-This reply, of course, produced a general laugh in Court, and witness was informed that he might take his seat.

The editor, it seems, has been Lard, and Whale Oil, Tar, Window called again to the capitol, and through his substitute announces as follows, on March 22 : "Our editor has gone to Madison, and in order to make a sure thing of it, and prevent the appearance of any more Whig editorials, has taken his wife with him."
