Laughable Scene.

A very laughable scene took place in one of the London theatres soon after the great battle of Waterloo. A dramatic representation of that world-renowned engagement was in the course of representation; a great number of sailors had been hired by the manager to represent the French and English forces, but they utterly refused to be Frenchmen; they wouldn't put on the enemy's jackets at any price; so that the manager had to procure landsmen to represent Napoleon's army. In one part of the plat the English forces were to run from the French, but instead of this they stood their ground, and actually pitched all the French army into the orchestra, among the fiddlers!

The recusants were brought up before a magistrate, when one of them made this amusing defence:

"You see, Bill Sykes, and I, and Joe Brown, and six more, was the British army and opposite us was some six or eight land lubbers, a-hacting the Mouseers. The skipper of the show-folks told us after we'd squibbed off our muskets over the Mouseers' heads, to turn away from the French. In course, this here was hard work for Jack tars as had served their country for twenty year, to be told to run away from half a dozen land lubbers, pretending to be French.

"Well, it warn't no use o' kickin' up a row then, (this was a rehearal,) but at night Bill Sykes and I argued the matter over a pot o' 'af an'-af' and we concluded not to disgrace our flag, but up for the honor of Old England!

"Well, when the scrimmage began, the land-lubbers called out 'Retreat! retreat! why don't you retreat!"

"See you shot first!" says I.

"They come at us, and Bill Sykes, in slewing round to gurd his starn, slipped on a piece of orange-peel, missed stays, and came down on his beam-ends. One of the imitation Parleyvoos made a grab to captivate Bill, when, in course, I covered my friend, and accomodated the sham Mounseer with a hl'ist as didn't agree with him. He was one o' them mutton-fed chaps as can't stand much, for he landed among the fiddlers and squealed blue murder!

"Well, after a row begins, you never know nothin' till its over. Bill Sykes and I cleared out the French army in less than no time, and then 'we tipped the player folks a broadside, and took their powder-magazine prisoner. The cabin passengers (the pit!) and Bill and I got surrounded; but if I'd had a bagnet at the end o' my musket, I'd ha' cleared the decks like wiskin'!"

FASHIONABLE MUSIC.—What's that?—It's music. Well that's artificial, too—it's delightful—they say it's done by rule. Just look at that air gal at the piany! Gals a-washing! First comes a little German thunder—good arth and seas, what a crash!—It seems as if she'd bang the instrument all to slivers! I rather guess she's vext at somebody, and is pegging into the piany jist out o' spite. Now comes singin'; see what faces she makes—how she streches her mouth open like a barn door, and turns up the white of her eyes like a duck in thunder. She's in musical cestacy, is that gal; she feels good all over: her soul is going out along with that music. O, it's divine, and she's an angel, aint she? Yes, I guess she is—and, when I'm an angel, I'll fall in love with her; but as I am a man, at least what's left of me, I'd jist as soon fall in love with one that's a lecte, jis a leetle more of a woman, and a leetle, less of an angel. But hallo! what under the sun is she about? Why, her voice is goin' down her own throat, to gain strength, and here it comes out as deep-toned as a man's, while that dandy feller along side of her is singin' what they call falsetter. They've actually changed voices! That gal sings like a man and that screamer like a woman. This is science; this is taste; this is fashion; but hang me if it's natur'.—Sun Stick.

AN UNFORTUNATE ROOSTER.—There are objections to Shanghais, no doubt, but we had never thought of this. It is curious, but is true. The way of it was this: Mr. S——, an old resident of Stillwater, on the upper Hudson, introduced among his family of hens a few Shanghias including a rooster, of formidable dimensions, who had "run to legs" a good deal. His crow was particular, and easily distinguished from that of the other cocks. One morning he had waited to hear a repetition of the usual summons, after being aroused by the "shrill clarion" once sounded, but he heard it not again. The other roosters were doing their best, but the preeminent chanticleer was still. Mr S—— went out to see what had caused the silence. He found the rooster lying on his back, with both legs out of joint. After an examination, he set both legs; the cock walked off, and gave vent to his satisfaction in a lusty crow. In the very act he dropped as if he had been shot. He had crowed his legs out again! He was kept three or four days, and then killed. "It was too much trouble," said Mr S—— "to set him up every time he crowed!"

A Western writer thinks that if the proper way of spelling tho is though, and ate eight, and bo beau, the proper way of spelling potatoes is poughteighteaux. The new spelling for softly is psoughtleigh.

"Margary, what did you do with the tallow Mr. Jones greased his boots with this morning?"

"Please marm, I baked the griddle cakes with it." Rather nice arrangement.

Punch says the inventor of steam engines was a man of great engine uity.

SOLE Manufacturer of the Improved Spiral Spring Mattresses, No. 92 Walnut St., Philadelphia.

FIVE SILVER MEDALS awarded, viz.
Two by the American Institute, New York, 1853
One at the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, 1853
One at the Metropolitan Institute, Albany, 1854
One at the Mechanics' Institute, Philadelphia, 1854

The peculiar improvement in the construction of this Mattress is, that all the elbowy and heavy wooden frame work is entirely dispensed with, and its place supplied by a lighter and much more durable frame, the springs are all connected by harness leather hinges, securely riveted, rendering it impossible for a single spring to fall down or get out of place, and making a Bed so elastic that any part may be raised or bent up, and is thus admirably fitted to the wants of the sick or asthmatic who may require a sitting posture, having the luxurious softness of the best Feather Bed with the lightness and facility of handling of the common Hair Mattress.

These improved Spring Beds are invariably made of the best materials, and will last many years without repairs.

Persons having Hair Matresses, can have them altered into Spring Beds.

These Beds are well adapted for Hotels, Berths of Ships, Steamboats and Hospitals.

Great Fire at Chestnut & Fifth Sts.,

Friday morning, Dec. 15th, 1854—EVANS & WATSON'S SALAMANDER SAFES TRIUMPHANT, as they always are when put to the test!

"PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15, 1854.

Messrs. Evans & Watson, No. 26 South Fourth St.

Gentlemen—We take much pleasure in recommending your Salamander Safes to Merchants and others in want of a secure means of preserving their books, papers &c. from fire, as the one we purchased from you about seven months since has preserved our books, papers and cash in as good a condition as they were when put into it, before the great fire of this morning, which destroyed the entire block of buildings corner of Chestnut and Fifth streets. The above safe was in use in our office, on the second floor of our building, from which place it fell into the cellar, and remained there until the fire was out. The Safe was then removed and opened in the presence of at least 1000 persons, who witnessed the good condition of its contents. Will you please have the Safe and Locks repaired, as we intend to put it in use again, having perfect confidence in its fire-proof qualities.

Yours, respectfully,
LACEY & PHILLIPS."

Evans & Watson take pleasure in referring to the following, among the many hundreds who have their Safes in use: U. S. Mint, Philada.; Farmers' & Mechanics' Bank, Philada.; Samuel Allen, Esq., High Sheriff, Philada.; John N. HEARING'S

Patent Champion Fire-Proof SAFES, with Hall's Patent Powder-Proof Locks, which were awarded separate Medals at the World's Fair, London, 1851, and also at the World's Fair, New York, 1853 and 1854. The subscribers are the sole manufacturers and proprietors in this state of the above unequalled Safes and Locks. The reputation of the genuine "Herring's Safe" is world-wide, and for the last thirteen years the accountable community have witnessed and borne testimony to their SUPERB FIRE PROOF qualities. More than 12,000 of these Safes have been actually sold, and over two hundred have passed triumphantly through accidental fires. The public are assured that all Safes manufactured by the subscribers are not only guaranteed to be fully equal, but in many respects even superior to those which have been so severely tried by fire. Few will forget their services in the burning of the "Tribune establishment," New York, and at the Great Fire in Strawberry street, at the large fire last July, opposite the Girard House; and still more recently in the Fire at Fifth and Chesnut Sts., in this city, in which these Safes came forth the acknowledged CHAMPION, when many other securities failed. The New York Tribune.

DAILY $6, Semi-weekly $3 Weekly, $2
ALWAYS IN ADVANCE.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has now a circulation—125,000—larger than was ever before accorded to any general newspaper whatever. This circulation has been gradually and laboriously attained by concentrating upon THE TRIBUNE the best efforts of many editors and writers employed, and by a greater liberality of outlay in each department than was probably ever before risked on any journal. It has been established, not by sailing smoothly in the current of Opinion before the wind and tide, but by breasting the waves of prejudice, fanaticism, and bigotry, and by an earnest, fearless devotion to Truth and Progress as always all just men understand it, all temporary defeats, all momentary clamors or popularity and success.

The selling phrases by which THE TRIBUNE is denoted may be briefly set forth as follows: 1. Whatever is, in whatever connection, or Circumstance even—not for one day, but for all days—is better than it will or will not find another Race in abject bondage—but for every Race and Nation, and every adult rational human being. This Freedom is figuratively absolute in the broad domain of Opinion, and involves the equal and impartial right to Political Franchises. 2. Whatever are the necessary rights of the individual, are equally rights of the Nation, and should be maintained inviolate in the sphere of their exercise, which is determined naturally, therefore by population. So the certain and necessary functions of the Government of a Nation, are equally functions of the Government of a State, and should be maintained inviolate in the sphere of their exercise, which is determined naturally, therefore by territory. 3. Whatever is necessary to the full development of the resources and energies of the community, to accomplish works of general and permanent utility, which individual means are inadequate, or which, though eminently conducive to the public good, do not promise to reimburse by their profit to the undertaker the outlay required, is properly the province of Government. 4. Internal Improvements, as the Common Schools, a true and honest National Policy, securing the naturalization of a new or valuable order productive of the soil as more important than the acquisition of a fresh province or climate, and equally within the legitimate sphere of National concern and action. 5. Progress as a vital condition of true progress, to be cherished by the most cautious, assured one ready to profit as readily as we are quick to require notice for every wrong, and never to be superseded as a champion of Liberty and Labor, such are the chief landmarks by which THE TRIBUNE seeks its course.

THE TRIBUNE contains reliable reports of the Markets.
