This remedy has won for itself such notories from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its necfulness, and so numerous the eases of its cures, that aimest every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from aburding and even desperate diseases of the lines by its use. When once tried its superiority ever every other medicine of its kind is ten apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public has longer testate what antidoxe to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmaner segment which are medicant to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the langs, but for the mider varieties of Coulos, Coulons, Hoalsenness, &c.; and for Cuttheirns it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be channed.
