A Story of Sunsise.

DY MRS. JULIET R. L. CAMPBELL Where the old Cathedral towers With its dimly lighted dome, Undernea hits morning shadow Nestles my beloved home; When the Summer morn is breaking-Glorious with its golden beams— Through my open latticed window, Matin music wildly streams.

Not the peal of deep-toned organ Smites the air with surging sound-Not the voice of singing maiden, Sighing softer music round-Long ere these have hailed the morning, Is the mystic anthem heard, Wildly, fervently outpouring From the bosom of a bird !

Every morn he takes his station On the Cross which crowns the spire, And, with heaven-born inspiration, Vents in voice his bosom's fire ;-Every morn, when light and shadow, Struggling, blend their gold and grey, From the Cross—mid-way to Heaven— Streams his holy melody!

Like the summons from the turrets Of an Eastern mosque it seems:
"Come to prayer—to prayer, 3e Paithful!"
Echoes through my morning dreams. Heedful of the invitation Of the pious messenger,

Lo! I join in meck devotion With the lonely worshiper! And a gushing, glad thanksgiving From my inmost heart doth thrill, Up—high up—to God in Heaven! Mingling with the music's trill. Then the boy who rests beside me Softly opes his starry eyes; Tosses back his streaming ringlets-

Gazes 'round in sweet surprise! He, though sleeping, felt the radiance Struggling through the curtained gloom-Heard the glad harmonious hymning Break the stiliness of my room. These, deliciously commingled With the rapture of his dreams, And the Heaven of which I've told him,

Gardian seraphs !- viewless spirits! Brooding o'er the enchanted arr: Pause, with folded wings, to listen To the lispings of ars prayer! Up to the "Recording-Angel," When their work on earth is done, They will bear the guileless accents Of my infant's Orison ! Porreville-June, 1848.

OF Drugs, Medicines, Books, Notions, I am well eatisfied that the Magnetic Lightning Rod manufactured by Mr. Thomas Armitage, of Phinodelphia is the best that has ever been made. I have spent several years in the study of the laws of electricity and magnetism, and have no healitation in against that these Rods are constructed upon the only principle of safety. The electric shock is received and dispersed by the magnet at the top of the rod, and it would be impossible, securiting to the laws of attraction and repulsion, for a building to be injured by a stroke of lightning when protested by one o these rods. I have been acquainted with Mr. Armitage for several years, and before he emmonreed the manufacture of these rods I examined the principle on which the are constructed, and fell convinced that their adopting would be attended with employee success. The increasing demand for these rods, and the expense access. The increasing demand for these rods, and the expense access. The increasing demand for these rods, and the expense access.
