HEIGHT OF FOLLY .- Next Tuesday is election day in Philadelphia-a city now ruled most miserably. A set of veritable Border Ruffians could hardly be worse than the rum-drinking, fighting, Irish and other pot-house politicians who compose the police establishment of Philadelphia; while her money tax has greatly increased under bogus Democratic rule. Those opposed to this state of things, we are glad to see, have united on one ticket in some of the Wards ; while in others, and for City officers, Republicans and Americans have separate tickets, and seem obstinately bent on adhering to them with certain defeat awaiting a divided force. Should they unite to defeat the common enemy-as true Americans and genuine Republicans sho'd -it would not only in-ure municipal reforms, but would also send a thrill of joy

One of the greatest curses of civilized societies and goverments, is, too much law. that journal is Governor GORMAN, of Min-Their archives are a lumber of statute books, the enactments of which often confound each other, and the interpretation of which keeps in existence a profession whose whole policy is to keep up the complication of laws so that it will put common scase at defiance. The latest legislature, whether of a nation or of a corporation, thinks itself wiser than all all its predecessors, and, perforce of its mission, revises all their labors. Often enacting new statutes without ascertaining whether or not they annul or conflict with those already existing, they make government, legislation, and law, a puzzle, a farce, and too often a down right curse. Democracy should study simplicity and directness, of all things, and a republic should have no laws that are not reasonable and elearly intelligible to common sense. How true the saying, "That nation

[The Chicago Tribune has the following statement. We presume the informant of quit rents on a lot owned by him, in Launesota.]

"We are told by a Democrat of unquestioned faithfulness to his party, himself a Governor, that in a late conversation with Gov. GEARY, he learned that that gentleman is preparing from his Diary, faithfully kept during his administration. a summary of events in Kansas, as they came under his own personal or official observation. We are told by the same authority, that in that book, when it is given to the country, the allegations of the Republican journals in relation to the fiendish atrocities practiced upon the Free State men by the Border Ruffian invaders will not only be confirmed, but fully proved. It will be stated that, during a trip on a much frequented road, soon after his arrival in the Territory, he saw twenty-six murdered Free State men. Some of these had been shot or brained, and thrown out by the road side to rot under the burning sun. their victims. One was pinoned to a tree by a bowie- knife driven through his heart into the solid wood at his back ; on his breast was fastened a written warning to all other "Abolitionists." Some were buried just beneath the prairie sod, their hands and arms left sticking out of the shallow holes into which they had been thrown. Upon others, the nameless mutilations of private parts which characterize the ferocious joy of the Indian, in the moment of victory, had been committed. In all cases, brutality seemed to have exhausted itself in insulting what, among all civilized men, whether friend or foe, are looked upon with respect-the bodies of the dead

"What efforts may be made to suppress revelations like these, which will not only convict the Missourians, and the allies of all that has been charged upon them, but wall also confirm the reported battle by North of complicity, or criminal silence, in regard to these atrocities, we can not tell. But if the Governor's present determination is adhered to, his will be the
