New Suddern Song.

[Capitally done is the following melody in the Kuckerbseker. If any one object to it on account of the "color" of the language, he certainly can not fail to laugh at the imagery. Dark, dark de night, and wus de moon,

No star but oue am peeping; De hoot-owl sings de same ole tune, As troo de woods I'm creeping. "Boo hoo! hoo-hoo!"—who care for dat, You good for nottin feddered cat! Dis nigger keep on singing;
He sing, and on de banjo play,
To charm de goblum ghosts away,
While skunk he sweets am flinging.

Troo de woods-push along, "Neber fear de boog a-boo;" Troo de woods—dat's de song, Gallus son of Ginger Blue!

De whip-um-will, squat on de stone, Trows music from his fiddle; De dancing frogs all swah a down Outside and up de middle; What dat! what dat, dis nigger's eyes Desplore, wid mighty big surprise, U,son de gum tree swinging? "I am massa possum at he ease, Rocked in de cradle of de breeze,

And list'ning to de singing. Troo de woods-push along, Neber mind de possum too; Troo de woods—dat's de song, Fearless son of Ginger Blue!

Cold, cold de dew am falling;

I fear dis darkey see a sight, Dat set he wool a crawling; Who dar'! who dar'!-a goblum cuss'd! 'Peak! or dis minstrum's banjo bust! Peak! and dyse f unrabb'l! 'Peak, goblum, 'peak! but wher'r'r or no, Dis ministrum drap his ole ban jo, And try a little trabbl!

Troo de woods-cut along-Furder back, you boog-a-boo! Troo de woods-drap de song-Numble child of Ginger Blue!

The Casar of the Present Day. THE SLORE OF CIVILIZATION.

Cæsar has been characterized by Shakspeare as "the foremost man of all this world." We judge of men by a different standard now, for we have a man much greater Cæsar. The triumphs and glories of all the Cæsars were as nothing compared with the triumphs of Professor Holloway. When the great Cæsar, was dispatched to Gam, by the Roman Senate, "

Secretary of the Commonwealth. the first communication they received from him was the epigrammatic announcement, "I came, I saw, I conquered." When Holloway, under the influence of a noble philanthropy, and guided by a sound philosophy, entered no his mission of happiness to man, his success-es might well have been recorded in the words, "I came, I saw, I saved." Cæsar, during his campaign in Germany, determined to rise up with his army against the State; his first step was to pass the Eubicon. A chaos of bloodshed, wickedness, and anarchy, ensued, which the world has seldom seen since then Holloway, disgusted and shocked with the futility of the means commonly employed to counteract disease and preserve health his energies to work to devise a new and universal curative; his first step was to consult Nature Nature responded, and his medicines, scattered over the face of this broad and beauteous earth, shed their blessings on suf-fering myriads, and brought health to countless homes from which otherwise peace and happiness would have for ever fled. When Casar entered Rome in triumph, the envious Marcellus exclaimed :

What tributaries follow him to Rome To grare in captive bonds his charlet wheels?" We all know how the imperial despot's wretched prisoners were made a prominent feature of the savage ovations by which his victories were celebrated. Mark how the times have changed. Our Casar rejoices in no tributaries purchased with tears and blood. Holloway's laurels have not been bought by human slaughter and desolated homes. His triumphs have been triumphs over disease and death; and his most valuable reward has been the prayers and blessings of thousands of grateful hearts with whom his name an fame have become "household words."

It cures Nervous and Debilitated Sufferers, and removes all the XYMPTOMS, among which may be found Indisposition to exertion, foss of power, loss of memory, difficulty of breathing, general weakness, horror of discases, weak nerves trembling, dreadful horror of death, night sweats, cold feet, wakefulness, dimness of victon, languor, universal lassitude of the muss cular system, often enormous appetite with dyspetite symptoms, bot hands, flushing of the body, dryness of the skin, pallid countenance and eruptions on the face, pain in the bock, heaviness of the type ids, frequently black spots flying before the eyes with temporary suffusion and loss of sight, want of attention, great mobility, and restlessness, with horror of secrety. Nothing is more desirable to such persons than solitude, and nothing they more dread for fear of themselves; no repess of manner, no carnostness, no speculation, but a hurried transition from one question to mother. These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follows Loss or Pewer, Fartive, and Entireric Pits—in one of which the patient may expire. Who can say that these excess are not frequently followed by those direful disease—banity and Consumption? The records of the Instance Ayimus, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample testimony to the truth of these assertions. In Lunaic Argiums the mest melanchaly exhibition appears. Truth is Mighty, and Must Pravail. Report of the Committee appointed to super-intend the Burning of the Iron Safes, at Reading, February 27, 1857.

Reading, February 27, 1857.

Randon, March 4.

The undersigned, members of the committee, do respectfully report, that we saw the two Safes originally agreed upon by Farrels & Herring and Evans & Watson, placed side by side in a furnace, viz: The Safe in use by the Paymaster of the Philadelphia and Rending Railroad Company, in his office at Reading, manufactured by Farrels & Herring, and the Safe in use by II. A. Lanta, in his store, manufactured by Evans & Watson, and put in books and papers precisely alike. books and papers precisely allow.

The fire was started at $1\sqrt{0} \text{clock}, A. M. and kept up until four cords of green blokery, two cords dry osk and half chestnat top weed were entirely consumed, the whole under the superintendence of the subscribers, whole under the superintendence of the subscribers, and the subscribers are superintendence of the subscribers, and the subscribers, and the subscribers are superintendence of the subscribers, and the subscribers are subscribers, and the subscribers are subscribers, and the subscribers are subscribers. whole under the superintendence of the subscribers, members of the Committee. The Safes were then couled of with water, after which they were opened, and the books and papers taken out by the Committee and taken to II. A. Lantz's store for public examination, after they were first examined and marked by the Committee. The books and papers taken from the Safe manufactured by Kwan & Walson were but slightly affected by the intense head, while those taken from the Safe manufactured by Farrels & Herring were, in our judgment, damaged fully fifteen per cent. more than those taken from Evans & Watson's Safe.

We believe the above to have been a fair and impartial trial of the respective qualities of both Safes.
