An Extraction.

Nahum Slippertoe is a native of that intensely fertile and populous county of Elk—said Elk county being, as is well known to geographers and geologists, a part and parcel of this State. Nahum came to this city, last week, to see a portion if not the whole of that mysterious and gigantic metropolitan quadruped known as the elephant. He was afflicted with a "raging tooth," one of those molars which have a habit of aching exactly at the wrong time. Nahum resolved to have it "yerked" at the shortest possible notice, and went forth in search of a dentist. In passing up Third street, Nahum's eye caught sight of a sign bearing the inscription:

"Great Stump Extractor."

Nahum said to himself, "Jest the dodge, here's a feller takes em out bodily." Into the office bolted the suffering member from Elk county. The office was like all other offices, containing chairs, two or three tables, and a long queer looking apparatus with a chain attached.

Nahum glanced curiously at the machine, nodded to the gentleman in attendance, and seated himself.

"Mornin' sir," said Nahum.

"Good morning," replied the gentleman, eyeing his visitor.

"I, ah, that is, you're the stump man, are you?"

"Yes, sir; have you a job for us? how many stumps, and what kind, sir?"

"Well, yes," said Nahum, "fact is, I only wanted one old snag jerked out—take 'em out I s'pose by the roots, don't you?"

"Certainly, clear and clean."

"Jes so: well, this one of mine's bin a troublin' me mor'en a week. I s'pose you don't spill much blood a jerkin 'em, do you?"

"Blood! of course not; what do you mean?"

"Nothin; leastways, nothin' particular. What's the charge?"

"We charge according to the distance we travel, the size of the stump, and the soil it's in."

"Well, what do you jerk 'em with—common drawers?"

"No, that machine there."

"Thunder and lightning! d'ye s'pose I'm going to let you put that blasted thing into my mouth? Jes look into my 'tater trap, and take a squint at the stump; don't want no yoke of oxen to yank that, nohow."

Gentlemanly owner of the stump extractor now discovered that Nahum had made a decided mistake—stumps of trees, and stumps of teeth, were two entirely different commodities. Nahum went forth to cogitate upon the mutability of stumps in general, and the extraction of his own in particular.—Philad. Transcript.

Nobody.—The tallest trees are most fiercely assailed by the winds. The more shining mark is oftenest hit by the arrow. The best man is the greatest object of hate by Satan and his emissaries. One should fear when only the evil speak well of him. Some writer, we know not whom, has versified a similar sentiment as follows:

If nobody's noticed you, you must be small,
If nobody's slighted you, you must be tall;
If nobody's bowed to you, you must be low,
If nobody's kissed you, you're ugly we know;
If nobody's extolled you, you're good for nil,
If nobody's flattered you, flatter yourself;
If nobody's educated you, you are a knave,
If nobody's hated you, you are a slave;
If nobody's called you a "fool" to your face,
Somebody's wished for your luck in his place;
If nobody's called you a "rascal behind your back,"
Somebody thinks you of sparkless mould;
If nobody knows of your faults but a friend,
Nobody'll miss them at the world's end;
If nobody clings to your purse like a fawn,
Nobody'll run like a hound when it's gone;
If nobody's eaten his bread from your store,
Nobody'll call you a "miserly hog;"
If nobody's slandered you—here is our pen—
Sign yourself Nobody, quick as you can.

Wake Money.—A good looking Irishman stopping at a hotel to warm himself, inquired of the landlord "what is the news." The landlord, disposed to run upon him, replied, "they say the devil is dead." "An sure," says Pat, "that's news indade." Shortly after, he went to the bar, laid down some coppers and resumed his seat. The landlord, always ready for a customer, asked him what he would take. "Nothing at all at all," said Pat. "Why then did you put this money here?" "An sure, sir, it's the custom in me own country, when a chap loses his daddy, to give him a few coppers to help him pay for the wake."

A Russian Idea of a Christian.—A Russian recently murdered a lady for the sake of the sable lining of her cloak. The deed was committed during Lent. The murdered lady had a little basket with her, which contained a pie. Having been asked by the commissary why he had not eaten the pie, "How could I think of eating the pie!" replied the assassin, "it may contain meat, and"—devoutly crossing himself—"I am, thank God, a good Christian!"

"Boys," said a pedagogue the other day, "what is the meaning of all that racket in the school?" "It is Bill Sikes, sir, who is all the time imitating a locomotive." "Come up here, William, if you have turned into a locomotive, it is high time you were switched off."

The Usual Result.—An Irishman in the witness box, was asked what they had at the first place they stopped? "Four glasses of ale." "What next?" "Two glasses of whiskey." "What next?" "One glass of brandy." "What next?" "A fight."

Dentistry Free.—A down-east editor advises his readers, if they wish to get teeth inserted gratis, to go and steal fruit where his watch dog is on guard.

A Call to Farmers.

Farmers, drop your tools—pause a little—read this, and reflect!!

"FARMERS' PROMOTION BOOK,"

A NEW and scientific manuring system, for the cultivation and increase of all kinds of grain, grasses, fodder and pasture, upon all kinds of soil, proved by actual experiments and based upon evident truths, designed to improve agriculture in all its branches; represented by upwards of one hundred and fifty engravings of the most valuable grasses and plants connected with the system, by DR. C. G REINHOLD, of Boalsburg, Centre Co., Penna.

RECOMMENDATION.

In this treatise it will be seen that the object has been to give the farmer that kind of information which enables him to make practical application to fertilize his land and increase his grain, fodder and pasturage. The doctrines, as taught by this manuring, and fodder, and pasture cultivation system, are rational, clear and evident, and suggest an improvement in the mode of agriculture hitherto unknown to our farmers, and which, if adopted, and carefully practiced can not fail to advance the interests of the farming community. Such a work has been much wanted, as it fills a void which has long been felt, but which there has hitherto been no attempt to supply. And as farmers of Centre and Huntingdon counties we recommend the work to every farmer, as they will reap the greatest possible benefit from it.

DENTAL CARD.

THE new method of inserting artificial Teeth, Gum, &c., known as

Allen's Continuous Gum Work, is, without exception, the best improvement ever made in the art of Dentistry. This work, when properly constructed, is the most beautiful the cleanest, combines the greatest strength with durability, and adds more to a clear and distinct articulation, than any other kind of work ever brought before the public. And not only this. By a beautiful discovery in combination with this style of work, we can give the face its natural expression, without, in the least, interfering with the ease fulness of the teeth in masticating.

I would take this method of informing those interested that I have purchased the Patent Right for this valuable improvement, of the inventor, John Allen, (now of New York,) for this and several adjoining counties, and that I am now manufacturing an article of Teeth and Gums that will compare favorably with anything in that line that has ever been made in this or any other country. I ask all, and respectfully those that need work of this description to call, and examine for themselves.

M'REA'S CELEBRATED

LIQUID GLUE!

THE GREAT ADHESIVE. Most useful article ever invented; no house should be without it; ready for use at all times; will stick anywhere and hold on for ever. ALWAYS READY FOR APPLICATION; adhesive on Paper, Cloth, Leather, Furniture, Porcelain, Glass, Marble, China. For manufacturing Fancy Articles, Toys, etc., it has no equal, for it will unite anything, broken in a thousand pieces, and the mend will be stronger than any other cement. Ladies, keep a bottle by you, and you will find it useful in many ways. Gentlemen, you will find it invaluable to you in your office, counting room, or in your travels. Every family should have a bottle of this justly celebrated LIQUID GLUE. It has been sold, and the great convenience which it has proved in every case, has consequently secured for it a demand which the manufacturer has found it, at times, difficult to meet; which can be fully attested by all who have used it. It is unlike any thing else now in use, and is the only article that will unite leather and rubber. Take no other. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A BOTTLE.

Manufactured and Sold Wholesale and Retail by

HOVER'S LIQUID HAIR DYE.

THE testimony of Prof. Booth and Dr. Brisbin having previously been published, the following is now added:

From Prof. M'CLOSKEY, formerly Professor of Theory and Practice of Medicine in the Female Medical College of Pennsylvania, and late Professor of Surgery in the American College of Medicine.

Mr. Joseph E. Hover—Agreeably to your request I have given your Liquid Hair Dye a fair trial, and am pleased to say that it is one of the most elegant and effectious preparations I have ever used. In several instances proved serviceable in the case of consumptive ladies, in restoring the hair to its natural color. I have no hesitation in recommending it to those in search of such an article.

Very respectfully, J. F. X. M'CLOSKEY, M. D.

HERRING'S SAFE.

THE ACKNOWLEDGED

CHAMPION!

THE RECENT TRIALS at Reading have conferred the current of public opinion, and endorsed the wonderful claims that we have set forth for Herring's in the most emphatic manner. Extract from the Committee's Report on the Trial of Iron Safes at Reading:

"On the 26th of February all the members of the Committee met in accordance with the above notice, and proceeded to the Store and were particularly careful to see that the doors were properly locked. The fire was kindled in the Safe of Messrs. Evans & Watson, and was first opened. The Safe being on fire inside, and the contents partially consumed, while the contents in the Safe of Messrs. Farrels & Herring were in good condition, and cool to the touch."

Reading, March 3, 1857.

(Signed) H. F. FULTZ, }
P. N. COLEMAN, } Committee.
A. H. PEACOCK, }

And endorsed by over 50 of the best men of Reading.

The above Safes can be inspected at 34 Walnut street, where the public are solicited to call and see the great superiority of the "Herring's Patent Champion" over the defeated and spurious "Inside Iron Door Salamander."

BAILEY & HERRING,

34 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

Only makers in this State of Herring's Patent Champion Safes.

The attempt made by other parties to bolster up the reputation of a Safe which has failed so signally to avoid detection in Philadelphia, (by having the name of the said Safe spelled H. A. Lantz, maybe a trifle different from those they sell,) to "burn up" one of Herring's, (half or all) has met with its true reward. Herring's Safe could not be found, young or old, already that the entire stable Safe now made by "Herring's," of which over 1,000 are now in actual use, and more than 200 have been tried by fire without a single loss.

Truth is Mighty, and Must Prevail.

Report of the Committee appointed to superintend the Burning of the Iron Safes, at Reading, February 27, 1857.

Reading, March 4.

The undersigned, members of the Committee, do respectfully report, that we saw the two Safes originally agreed upon by Farrels & Herring and Evans & Watson, placed side by side in a furnace, viz: The Safe in use by the Paymaster of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, in his office at Reading, manufactured by Farrels & Herring, and the Safe in use by H. A. Lantz, in his store, manufactured by Evans & Watson, and put in books and papers precisely alike.

The fire was started at 8 o'clock, A. M., and kept up until the combined green hickory, dry oak and half a bushel of coal were entirely consumed, the whole under the superintendence of the subscribers, members of the Committee. The Safes were then cooled off with water, after which they were opened, and the books and papers taken out by the Committee and taken to H. A. Lantz's store for public examination, after they were first examined and marked by the Committee. The books and papers taken from the Safe manufactured by Evans & Watson were but slightly affected by the intense heat, while those taken from the Safe manufactured by Farrels & Herring were, in our judgment, damaged fully fifteen per cent. more than those taken from Evans & Watson's Safe.

We believe the above to have been a fair and impartial trial of the respective qualities of both Safes.

JACOB B. BUSHER,
DANIEL S. HUNTER.

Having been absent during the burning, we fully coincide with the above statement of the condition of the papers and books taken out of the respective Safes.

G. A. NICOLLS,
H. B. MUHLENBERG,
JAMES MILHOLLAND.

Evans & Watson have now on hand 300,000 pounds of the above SAFES, which they offer for sale on better terms than any other manufacturer in the United States
