Fair Play and no Gouging!

At the same time, in answer to the several petitions produced on that side, I showed one subscribed by the women of several persons of quality, humbly setting forth that since the introduction of this mole, their respective ladies had (instead of bestowing on them their cast gowns) cut them into shreds, and mixed them with the cordage and buckram, to complete the stiffening of their under-petticoats. For which, and sundry other reasons, I pronounced the petticoat a forfeiture: but to show that I did not make that judgement for the sake of filthy lucre, I ordered it to be folded up, and sent it as a present to a widow gentlewoman, who has five daughters, desiring she would make each of them a petticoat out of it, and send me back the remainder, which I design to cut into stomachers, caps, facings of my waistcoat-s'eeves, and other garnitures suitable to my age and quality.

I would not be understood that (while I discard this monstrous invention) I am an enemy to the proper ornaments of the fair sex. On the contrary, as the hand of nature has poured on them such a profusion of charms and graces, and sent them into the world more amiable and finished than the rest of her works; so I would have them bestow upon themselves all the additional beauties that art can supply them with, provided it does not interfere with, disguise, or pervert those of nature.

I consider woman as a beautiful romantic animal, that may be adorned with furs and feathers, pearls and diamonds, ores and silks. The lynx shall cast its skin at her feet to make her a tippet; the peacock, parrot, and swan, shall pay contributions to her muff; the sea shall be searched for shells, and the rocks for gems; and every part of nature furnish out its share towards the embellishment of a creatfully solicit a trial of them by those ture that is the most consummate wanting anything in the way of work of it. All this I shall indulge them in; but as for the petticoat I have been speaking of, I neither can nor will allow it.

BOTH SIDES.

- A man in his carriage was riding along, A guily dressed wife by his side: In satius and laces she looked like a queen, And he like a king in his pride.
- A wood sawyer shool on the street as they pared, The carriage and couple he spel,

  And said, as he worked with his saw on a log, "I wish I was rich and could ride."
- The man in the carrier remarked to his wife, I'd give all my wealth for the strength and the health Of the man who saweth the wood."
- A pretty young mold, with a bundle of work, Whose face as the morning was fair, Went tripping along with a smile of delight, White humming a love-breathing air.
- The looked on the carriage; the lady she saw, Arrayed in apparel so fine, And case in a whisper, "I wish from my heart These entire and inces were mine."
- The lady looked out on the maid with her work, So fair in her calico dress, And said, "I'd relimpaish possession and wealth, Her beauty and youth to possess."

Thus it is in the world, whatever our lot,

- Our minds and our time we employ In longing and sighing for what we have not, Ungrateful for what we enjoy. We welcome the pleasures for which we have sighed,
- The heart has a void in it still, Growing deeper and wider the longer we live, That nothing but Heaven can fill.
- Keeping a Secret.

A Call to Farmers.

A NEW and scientific manuring system, for the cultivation and increase of all kinds of grain, grasses, fodder and pasture, upon all kinds of soil, proved by actual experiments and based upon evident truths, designed to improve agriculture in all its branches represented by upwards of one hundred and

In this treatise it will be seen that the object has been to give the farmer that kind of information which enables him to make practical application to Scrilline his land and increase his grain, folder and pasturerage. The doctrines a taught by this manuring and folder, and pasture cultivation system, are rational, clear and evident, and suggest an improvement in the mode of agriculture hitherto unknown to our farmers, and which if adopted, and carefully practiced can not fail to advance the interests of the farming community. Such a work has been much vanted, as it fills a void which has long been felt, but which there has hitherto been no attempt to supply. And as farmers of Centre and Huntingdon counters warecommend the work to every farmer, as they will reap the greatest possible benefit from it.

THE new method of inserting artifi-L cial Teeth, Gum, &c., known as The machines went to work in the forenoon and worked untill noon, when the Manny men slipped off, brought another Manny's Reaper With Wood's great(!) improvement, worked with durability, and adds more to a clear and distinct articulation, than any other kind distinct articulation. The machines went to work in the forenoon is, without exception, the best improvement eyer made in the art of Deutistry. This work, when properly constructed, is the most beautiful the cleanest, combines the greatest strength with durability, and adds more to a clear and distinct articulation, than any other kind distinct articulation. with durability, and adds more to a clear and distinct articulation, than any other kind of work ever brought before the public. And not only this. By a beautiful discovery in combination with this style of work, we ran give the feer its untural expression, without in the least, interfering with the usefulness of the test in masticulation.

I would take this method of informing those interested that I have purchased the Paient hight for this valuable improvement, of the inventor. Joint Allen, (now of New York.) for this and several adjoining sounders, and that I am now manufacturing an article of Tests and Guns that will compare favorably with anything in that line that has ever been made in this or any other country. I ask all, and especially those that feed tests if they have engaged them or not, to call, and expanies for themselves.
