A Settler.

They have in Atlanta, a notel keeper named Thomson, who is considered smart at a julic, but he sometimes meets his match, as the following proves.]

A travilar called very late for breakfast, and the neal gas harrially prepared. Thomson, feeling that the "feed" was not at act acknowledging even the presence of mine hort. This sulky demeaner rather his vest orm holes, expanded his chest by robbing the room of half its air, and said:

"Now, Mister, confound me if I hain't made all the apology necessary, and more, too, considering the breakfast, and who gets it; and now I tell you, I have seen dirtier, worse cooked, worse tasted, worse looking, and a deal of a sight smaller breakfasts than this is, several times."

The weary, hungry one, meekly laid down his tools, swallowed the bite in transitu, placed the palms of his hands together, and modestly looking up at the vexed and fuming landlord, asked, "Is-what-

"Yes, sir !" came with a vindictive prempiness.

"Well, then, I'll be Manuel, hass, if you hain't out-traceled me."

About Girls' Mames.

If you are a very procise man, and wish to be certain of what you get, never marry a girl named Ann ; for we have the authority of Lindley Murray and others, that "an is an indefinite article."

If you would like to have a wife who is "one among a thousand," you should marry an Emily or an Emma, for any printer can tell you that "cms" are always counted by the thoesand.

If you wish to have a bustling fly-about fort can produce wife, you should marry one named Jenny; for every colton spinner knows that "jen nies" are always on the go.

If you want to marry a Belle, it is not necessary that you should be a sexton, just because you have to "ring" her at the alter

If you wish to succeed in life as a portor, you should marry Caroline, and trent superimed. Let the afficted give it a trial-a single bottle will her kindly; for so long as you continue to do this you will be good to "carry."

The most incessant writer in the world is he who is always bound to Ad a line.
