bestow the jewels of the heart where their value can never be appreciated, and our last pulse may beat as we kneel in absorbing and silent adoration before the symbol of a god. If such must be, we may well claim, at least, a generous sympathy, for that form once had brain, and heart, and life, and power. In the days of Jefferson, it was wise and creative; in the days of Madison, brave and benevolent; and in the days of Jackson, commanding and resistless. Then, it was the awe inspiring guardian of Liberty—American Democracy—inviting championship, and holding in his hands the olive branch of peace and the thunderbolt of war.

But, sir, we will not die, but live. We have Aristotle's hope, the dreams of waking men, and their appalling interpretations shall be written out in letters of fire upon walls of adamant. It shall be read of all men, from the Aroostook to the Golden Gate. You have it—truth in a whisper shall confound the lie from a trumpet; and a naked child shall tread upon the armored giant leading the hosts marshalled against the advancing civilization and righteous government of man.

Look not back; we have learned the past; but onward, onward, with steady eye and unwavering step. The goal is before you! You will remember that when Orpheus lost Eurydice, he followed her even into the abode of Hades, where by the power of his lyre he won her back, but it was enjoined upon him that he should not look upon her until he had arrived in the upper air. At the very moment they were passing the fatal bounds, it is said his love overcame him, and looking around to know that she was following him, she was caught back into the infernal regions. The story embodies a pregnant moral. If you would regain the loved and the lost, then forward! forward!!

I am done. If I have been dull, you will pardon me. If I have inspired a single patriotic thought or feeling, I have my reward.

The President, Mr. K'KINNEY, on assuming the Chair, remarked that he was proud to be called upon to act as Chairman of a Convention composed of such "rebels" as they were, but that he would assist in re-organizing the Democratic party and erect some such platform as was erected at Cincinnati, and after its erection Mr. Buchanan might, after due repentance, return and re join the true Democratic party.

Col. FORNEY moved that a committee, to consist of twenty-five, be appointed to prepare resolutions and an address expressive of the sense of the Convention; which was agreed to.

While the President was preparing the list, a western delegate suggested that the Convention itself name the committee; which was adopted; whereupon

The following gentlemen were appointed the committee:

John W. Forney, Philadelphia; E. L. Willard, Luzerne; Samuel S. Young, Berks; John C. Knox, Philadelphia; Thos. P. Campbell, Huntingdon; J. W. G. Weirman, Dauphin; S. C. Wingard, Allegheny; Samuel E. Keller, Lancaster; John H. Negley, Butler; Geo. J. Higgins, Schuylkill; A. C. Noyes, Clinton; J. W. Douglas, Erie; J. D. Breitenbaugh, Montgomery; D. Kistler, Jr., Westmoreland; R. J. Nicholson, Jefferson; W. W. Redick, Fayette; S. Ringwalt, Chester; John W. Brown, Dauphin; James Gilliland, Centre; Bailey Thomas, Philadelphia; John Flanagan, Cambria; George Wisenberger, Philadelphia; William S. Hurlock, Berks; Charles Barnet, Allegheny; L. S. Cantwell, Armstrong.

The Convention then adjourned until 2 o'clock, P. M.

Afternoon Session.—The committee not appearing, Messrs. Lehman and Wm. Dunn of Philad., being called upon addressed the Convention in an animated manner and were loudly applauded.

Col. Forney, from the committee, presented a long Address, and also a series of resolutions signed by every member of the committee. After being read, they were adopted with but one dissenting vote—Mr. Ker of Pittsburg.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, 1. That, regarding this Convention as to all intents and purposes a Convention representing the patriotic sentiment of the Democratic party, and avowing ourselves members of that party upon those well known principles which have constituted its creed since the beginning of the Government, we are here to-day to resist every attempt to weaken or to overthrow that creed, and to unite for the purpose of restoring, in all their vigor and purity, the great truths which have heretofore made the Democracy a conquering organization, and contributed to the enduring welfare of the States of the Union.

2. That this Convention most solemly declares its warm attachment to the Union of the States, to maintain which it pledges all its powers, and that for this end it is our duty, and the duty of the Democratic party everywhere, to watch over and oppose every infraction of those principles which constitute the only basis of that Union, because a faithful observance of them can only secure its existence and the public happiness.

3. That holding the General Administration responsible for certain grave departures from public duty and Democratic principles, we are bound to regard the Administration as having forfeited the confidence of the people, and to denounce it as unworthy of the support of the Democratic party.

4. That when the Democratic party in 1856 was solemnly committed in National, State, and county conventions to the fundamental principle that the people of the Territories, like those of the States, were to be left perfectly free to decide for themselves whether slavery should or should not exist within their limits, subject only to the Constitution of the United States, we entered into a solemn covenant, which, notwithstanding the conduct of faithless public servants, we hold ourselves bound to maintain at all hazards, and to carry out in letter and spirit.

5 That the attempt of the General Administration to disregard this covenant, and in its stead to evoke a despotic test to compel obedience to doctrines subversive of republican liberty, was not the work of the representatives of the Democratic party, but of men who had resolved upon the destruction of that organization for their own ambitious purposes; and that this repudiation of right and enforcement of wrong was duly followed by a remorseless war of Federal power upon State sovereignty, and by an arrogant proscription of all Democratic organizations and Democratic champions who would not follow the shameless example.

6. That we deliberately and heartily reassert and reinforce the great principle of popular sovereignty and non-intervention, as well in the Territories as in the States, non-intervention by Congress with slavery in the Territories, and non-intervention by the Federal Executive with the franchises of the people of the States; and just even so do we adhere to the Democratic party of this country upon any other platform should be relegated to a preparation for lasting disgrace in the first place, and for lasting and deserving defeat in the second.

7. That this principle of popular sovereignty and non-intervention, lying, as it does, at the basis of all our free institutions, enunciated and accepted, North and South, by legislatures and courts, by Congresses and candidates, submitted in 1850 for an absolute Congressional rule, and re-asserted in 1854 after the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, is the only principle that will for ever remove the question of slavery from the halls of the National Legislature, and prevent the triumph of the enemies of the American Union.

8. That we regard with undissembled indignation and alarm the attempt of the Federal Administration, backed by independents in the North and the dominions of the South, to commit the Democratic organization to the scandalous doctrine that, in defiance of the pledges of the Democratic party in 1856, and in disregard of the legislation of 1850 and 1854, the people of the Territories shall have no control over the question of slavery, but that slavery must be protected against the popular will, not merely by the courts, but by Congress, and, per consequence, by the army and the navy; and that, regarding the resolutions of the Convention which assembled at Harrisburg, on the 16th of March, as having accepted this monstrous heresy, we hereby repudiate the Platform and Candidates of that Convention.

9. That long and consistently as we have advocated the rights of the South in the Union, and solicitous as we are to preserve amicable relations with the people of that portion of the Union, candor compels us to say that we can never cooperate upon the declaration of a purpose to ignore and insult the popular voice in the Territories after all the obligations of the past; and that we appeal to our fellow-countrymen, in that quarter of the Union, not to lend their countenance to a policy, the effect of which is to consolidate fanaticism here, and to place them inextricably in the wrong.

10. That we are irreconcilably opposed to any and every attempt to disturb that adjustment, or to re-open the slave agitation—either by reopening the African slave trade, or by the adoption of a slave code for the Territories by the action of Congress, when the people fail to do it for themselves, or in any other form whatsoever.

11. That the welfare of the country imperatively demands a jealous resistance by the people of the corrupting influences of Federal power, whenever they are unwarrantably exercised; that we are keenly alive to the existence of the dangers which all the great statesmen of the Democratic party have predicted from the prostitution of the vast patronage of the General Government to the accomplishment of partizan purposes; that under the present National Administration, the worst fears of the patriotic statesmen of the earliest days of the Republic, on this subject, have been realized; and that the events of the last two years have sadly illustrated the truth of the remark of James Buchanan in 1827, in his speech against the prostitution of Federal patronage to political ends by the Administration of John Q. Adams, that "the nature of man is the same under republics and under monarchies. The history of the human race proves that liberty can never long be preserved without popular jealousy. It is the condition of its enjoyment. Our rulers must be narrowly watched."

12. That we are alike opposed to Northern and Southern dissunionists, regarding them as natural allies one to the other, each appealing to the passions and prejudices of its own section against the peace and harmony of the Union, and demanding Congressional intervention for its own section alone, contrary to the right of the people of the Territories to govern themselves.

13. In the language of Stephen A. Douglas, "It matters not what way the Supreme Court may hereafter decide as to the abstract question whether slavery may or may not go into a Territory under the Constitution; the people have the lawful means to introduce it or exclude it, as they please, for the reason that Slavery can not exist a day or an hour anywhere unless it is supported by local police regulations. These police regulations can only be established by local legislation; and if the people are opposed to slavery, they will elect representatives to that body who will, by unfriendly legislation, effectually prevent the introduction of it into their midst; if, on the contrary, they are for it, their legislation will favor its extension. Hence, no matter what the decision of the Supreme Court may be on that abstract question, still the right of the people to make a slave Territory or a free Territory is perfect and complete under the Nebraska bill."

14 That representing, as we believe, a large majority of the Democratic party of this State, we do hereby most solemnly protest against the betrayal, abridgment or mutilation of this great principle of the "majority ruling," applicable alike to the Territories the same as to the States;" and we therefore reject, as an innovation and unsound, the resolution of the late Convention that abridges and limits the right of the people of a Territory to act in reference to the institution of slavery to the one particular time when they come to organize their State governments;" that we continue to hold to the full-est application of the principle to the Territories, and can not but express our alarm and astonishment at its threatened entire destruction, as disclosed by leading Southern Senators in the recent debate in the Senate of the United States.

15. That we are utterly opposed to the acquisition of Cuba, unless it can be obtained by such fair and honorable means as will be consistent with the dignity and fame of the Republic.

16. That, adhering to the theory of a frugal and economical administration of the General Government as taught by the fathers of the Democratic party, yet, the necessary expenditures of that Government imperatively demand a revision of the present revenue laws; and that in such revision we are in favor of such a distinct recognition of our manufacturing, agricultural and mechanical interests as will rescue the Government from a resort to direct taxation and permanently protect the labor and industry of the country.

17. That the administration of Wm. F. Packer, Governer of Pennsylvania, meets with our entire and cordial approval, characterized, as it has been, by an honest and careful guardianship of the interests of the people of our Commonwealth; and that we commend him, not only for his opposition to corrupt legislation, but also because he was amongst the first to endorse the great principle of popular sovreignty, which lies at the very heart of our free institutions, and because he has been most fearless in maintaining it; and that the attempt of the Federal administration to defame the private and public character of Gov. Packer meets with our most unqualified and indignant condemnation.

18. That this Convention entertain the highest admiration for the Hon. Stephen A. Douglas, the heroic statesman and Senator of Illinois; that his great ability, his bold, manly and decided character, his steadfast allegience to the principles and pledges of the party, particularly in reference to the government of the Territories, all demand for him the thanks and continued confidence of the whole Democracy and of all true men.

19. That we earnestly invoke the cooperation of Democrats of all the States of the Union in the great organized movement inaugurated at the State capital of Pennsylvania this day.

20. That we recommend the appointment by the President of this Convention of a Democratic State Committee, to consist of fifty-six members; and that the question of nominating a Democratic State Ticket, and the call of another Democratic State Convention at the earliest possible day, be referred to that Committee; and that a meeting of said Central Committee may be called by the chairman or any five members thereof.

Judge Knox, upon invitation, stated that he approved the Report of the Committee most fully—especially that portion repudiating the 16th of March nominations. That Convention having endorsed the administration of James Buchanan, its nominees must look to the supporters of James Buchanan only for their votes. He defended the course of Gov. Packer in regard to the Sunbury & Erie Railroad.

Mr. Campbell followed, repudiating the Buchanan platform and candidates.

Mr. Reddick of Fayette county moved that Gov. Packer be invited to address the convention, and a committee waited upon him for that purpose. The committee reported that the Governor desired them to express to the Convention his regret in not being physically able to respond to their invitation.

Mr. Cantwell, of Armstrong, stated that he had once voted for the "bogus" nominee for Surveyor General, but now could not vote for any on the platform of the "bogus" convention. Senator Bigler, he said, had disgraced Pennsylvania. In 1856, at Blairsville, he had greeted Bigler as the leader of the Democratic party; but he would not now beat the drum in playing "rogue's march" after him.

Dr. Neblinger, of Philad., Mr. Wright, of Allegheny, and Mr. Northrup followed in support of the resolutions and address, and in condemnation of the National Administration and its supporters.

On motion of Mr. Neagly of Butler county, a resolution was passed complimentary to Col. Forney of the Philada. Press. On motion of Mr. Waltman, the Harrisburg State Sentinel, by C. D. Hineline, Esq., was recommended as a staunch Democratic paper. After other business of that nature, the Convention adjourned sine die.

Geo. W. Bowman, once Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, and for a long time the editor of the Bedford Gazette, now Superintendent of Public Printing at Washington, has bought the Washington Union, the Administration organ. Bowman must have dipped pretty deeply into the public funds to enable him to buy that office. Buchanan and his Cabinet are the real editors of that paper, and Government funds keep it in existence.
