RECAPITULATION.

Table with 2 columns: Dem, Whigs. Rows: Senate, House, Dem. maj. on joint ballot.

How to Preserve Health.

Medicine will never remedy bad habits. It is utterly futile to think of living in gluttony, intemperance, and every excess, and keeping the body in health by medicine. Indulgence of the appetite, and indiscriminate dosing and drugging, have ruined the health and destroyed the lives of more persons than famine, sword and pestilence. If you will take our advice, you will become regular in your habits, eat and drink only what becomes things, sleep on a mattress, and retire and rise very regularly. Make a free use of water to purify the skin, and when you take counsel of the best physicians you know, and follow nature.

Melancholy--A gentleman who, a few weeks ago, visited Grayson, a small town some ten miles south-west of S. L. us, found there no less than twenty five infant boys and girls whose parents had died of cholera. They were all gathered into the dwelling of a benevolent gentleman, named Steppington, by whom they were graciously cared for.

Foreign News.

The intelligence by the Europa, is one week later. The English papers are full of rumors, in relation to the difficulty between Russia and Turkey. The reply of Nicholas had not reached Constantinople, but was expected by the 12th of October. A large fleet of steamers was collecting in the harbor of the Golden Horn. Twelve ships of the line fully equipped, were at anchor in the neighborhood of Black Sea. A Turkish army of a hundred thousand men had been gathered around the Capital, and drills and reviews were in constant progress. A letter states that before entering the territory of the Sultan, Kossuth and his companions were assured of a welcome, with the liberty of proceeding to any part of the world. A number of refugees had been put on board American vessels and a French steamer, destined, it is said, for Greece.

The report from Widden is, that Ben and some of the other refugees had embraced Islamism, while Kossuth and the other leaders avowed that no inducement could make them apostatize. Some of the Pa-chalies on the borders of Turkey, had manifested a disposition to take advantage of the trouble with Russia, and revolt. The English Government had sent a note to its Ambassador at St. Petersburg, couched in kindly but firm language, announcing a determination to sustain the Porte. Lord Palmerston had sent like instructions to the British Minister at Constantinople, and placed the Mediterranean fleet at his disposal. France, it is said, is acting with England in this matter.

The Pope will probably remain at Naples during a portion of the winter. Garibaldi has been offered a post in the Montevideo Navy, which he will probably accept. A formidable conspiracy was lately discovered at Padua. The reported assassination of George is contradicted. The surrender of Cambrin is confirmed. The Cholera was abating in England. The London Money Market is still easy. The Cotton markets excited with an advance of prices. More firmness in the Grain markets.

New York, Oct. 28, 1849. Yesterday afternoon the Mayor, on behalf of the Common Council, presented to the tenth regiment of the first division of the New York State militia, a new and beautiful stand of colors, which cost about $400, one of which bore the arms of the city, and the other those of the State.

The Mayor sent in to the Common Council last evening a communication from Mr. Vattemare, offering another donation from the city of Paris of several valuable works on science, commerce and the arts. The communication was appropriately referred.

The entire force of the fire department at present is eighteen hundred men, who have charge of 29 engines, 42 horse carts, and 7 hook and ladder trucks.

Messrs. Brady, Silsby and Lane, designated for the American Missionary Association's mission at Bangkok, in the kingdom of Siam, sailed to-day, with their wives and children, in the brig Ernani.

Over a hundred Irish immigrants left this port yesterday for their native land. They did not meet with the success they had expected here, and after six months sojourn bade adieu to the Republic and went back to Royalty.

Rev. Mr. Dore, of Ireland, sailed for home yesterday, to return soon with a large number of his countrymen for whom he has purchased twenty thousand acres of land in Cattaraugus county in this State. Two dollars per acre was paid for the tract, which will be immediately occupied.

Montreal, Oct. 29. Quite a serious disturbance took place at the Assize Meeting held in Quebec on Saturday. The meeting was called at the Parliament Buildings. When it became evident that the Anti-Annexionists would attend the meeting, the aid of the Mayor was invoked, but he refused to attend.

The meeting subsequently adjourned to the St. George's Hotel, when the assailants made an attack, but were driven off. In the midst of the excitement some persons went to the house of Mr. Cauchon, M. P. for Montmorency, and an Anti-Annexionist, and after breaking the windows, returned.

Departure of Missionaries.

Yesterday, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the missionaries of the American Missionary Association, destined for Bangkok, in the kingdom of Siam--Messrs Bradley, Silsby and Lane--sailed with their wives and children in the brig Ernani, from the foot of Warren street. Before their departure, their friends, and the friends of missions, joined them in farewell religious exercises on the quarter deck. There was a large number of ladies present, and some clergymen, besides a crowd collected around the vessel on the wharf. The services were opened with a hymn, in which the idea of bidding farewell to native land and home, in far heathen lands to dwell, was most pathetically expressed. Rev. Dr. Lansing, of Brooklyn, then briefly addressed the audience. He said the field was described in scripture to be the world, and the missionaries of the Christian church were the laborers. The question was in what part of the field the Lord of the harvest would be best served, no matter what were the difficulties in the way; and he was truly happy to address them on the present occasion, when he saw men ready to lay themselves on the altar of God, without reference to the hardness of the task. He feared they had fallen on times when this spirit was rare, and there was but little disposition among clergy or laity to devote themselves to the conversion of the heathen. But every Christian, having consecrated soul and body to God, ought to have no hesitation about the sacrifice of lesser things than these. A lady had said to him a few minutes ago, that those who were embarking on so distant a voyage in that small vessel, the dangers were very great, and that they were going to a strange land. His reply was, that everywhere was God's home, and that the Christian was, therefore, always at home; being merely changed by distance and climate, from one department of it to another; and his Almighty arm was as able to undergird that little bark as it was an iron vessel ten times the size. He would therefore say to those brothers and sisters who were taking their lives in their hands and giving themselves up to God, "Let not your hearts be troubled; in my Father's house are many mansions; and if I go away," said Christ, "I will come to you again." Jesus would come for them all in a little while, and the first time they would have an idea of what reality was, would be when they came to eternity, for all was visionary here below. It was faith only that enabled them to take hold of that reality which they would fully enjoy hereafter. He would, therefore, say, in parting, to those brothers and sisters, "have faith--have faith!" Rev. Henry Cheever then prayed for the success of mission--that many souls might be saved from destruction by it, and that the sailors on board the vessel might be the first fruits of the labors of their brethren. Another hymn, suitable for the occasion, concluded the service, when the Rev. Mr. Leavitt, editor of the Independent, pronounced the benediction. The missionaries and their wives then took a final leave of their friends, and the scene was affecting. Religious enthusiasm, however, appeared to nerve them to every sacrifice. A considerable number of persons watched the sailing of the brig, as she has the reputation of being the fastest sailer in the world, and is a beautiful craft. She won, sometime ago, a high prize in the Mediterranean; and she would have gone on the Cuban expedition, had not a premature explosion taken place. She has now gone on a very different mission--N. Y. Paper.

Ennascipation in Kentucky.--The Louisville Examiner has an article in relation to the strength of ennascipation in Kentucky. A careful examination of the returns of the late election in that State, shows that in twenty-four counties, ennascipation candidates for the convention were run, and they received in the aggregate 10,192 votes, averaging 347 to the county, after excluding Louisville. Upon this date, there are now in Kentucky over 35,000 ennascipationists. The Examiner closes its article by saying that "in view of such evidences of the strength of ennascipation sentiments in the State, the Convention will hardly venture to extend the tenure of Slavery."

They talk of consolidating the city and county of Philadelphia. Sectional jealousies lead to a lukewarm performance of duty on the part of the police authorities. Several serious riots have taken place, and the offenders have not been brought to justice, because the city police and district police are engaged in discussing a question of jurisdiction. They want somebody to say--"I'll take the responsibility."

Father Matthew finished his labors at New Haven on Friday, and after performance of the Mass, delivered an address, directed particularly to Irishmen, which was marked by the customary sound sense and hearty truthfulness of the Temperance Apostle. He next visited Worcester and Hartford.

Jacob S. Gallisier was appointed Third Auditor of the Treasury, in place of Peter Haguer, removed.

THE CHRONICLE.

Lewisburg, Pa. Wednesday Afternoon, Oct. 31.

*Another Town Property for sale--A Poetical Mercantile advertisement--and Dr. Swayne's celebrated Medicines, are duly set before the public in this paper.

New counterfeit $5s on the Harrisburg Bank have appeared in Philad. They are badly executed, marked letter "A," dated March 1, 1849.

The Delaware City Bank has been run, but sustains itself thus far.

The Phila. Agent of the Susq. Co. Bank refused, Saturday last, to redeem its notes. We will take Susq. money on new subscriptions for one week to come, anyhow.

Battalion-day at New Berlin, Friday last, was rather a pleasant show, considering that Militia Trainings are no longer required. Nearly 200 members of various Uniformed Companies paraded, and were drilled by Brig. Insp. Simonton, Colonels Middlewarth and Emmet, Maj. Middlewarth, and others. The new "Guards" of Lewisburg, attracted much attention, and with the Lewisburg Infantry and the New Berlin Company were decidedly on the No 1 list, in every respect desirable. Gingerbread suffered as usual--some become disgracefully, brutally lubricated--and in most respects it was as much of a "battalion" as if the "butwark" itself had turned out and the Organ's cry had been there with his "sixpence" to treat--And by the way, (speaking of "treating") we had almost forgotten the modern Samaritan's last four column reply, but will endeavor to do it justice next week, in shorter metre.

The Democratic party has no abler or more energetic advocate and defender, than the Journal whose Terms we copy here. As a Literary, Business and News organ also, The Pennsylvania stands in the first rank of American papers. From its party it certainly earns a "progressive" patronage.

V. Bradford County.

During the rearrangement of the Judicial Districts of the State, last winter, I recollect one of "the City papers"--the papers to furnish news to "the country,"--gravely stated that the Judicial District over which Hon. Horace Williston presides, was "the lightest" in the State. While passing thro' a part of this trifling little territory, I am tempted to take some notice of it. It is composed, in brief, of four counties--Bradford, Tioga, Potter, and McKean--counties which embrace a section of country about two hundred miles in length by thirty in breadth, and filled by a population as litigious as any other in the State. Not that they are quarrelsome, but, as the country is comparatively new, land titles are unsettled, the population (a heterogeneous mass, but principally Yankees, have not as well learned to give "credit to whom credit" belongs as in more established communities, and the prevailing and precarious business of lumbering renders monetary affairs subject to many fluctuations. Most, if not all these counties, therefore, in addition to their regular Quarter Sessions business, have many and curious suits appealed from the Justice's decision; and in Bradford, the County Courts are usually two to three weeks in session, exclusive of extras. Now compare this large District with that of the single, settled, wellordered District composed of the city and county of Lancaster--or Berks--or York and Adams--or Union and Mifflin, and you will see that the lightest Judicial District in the State.

Bradford is destined to be one of the most important counties in Pennsylvania, if its fast progress, its size and location, and the energy of its inhabitants are fair criteria to judge by. Its position is peculiarly commanding. It contains an area 1170 square miles. There are three counties in the State, only, which contain more territory; those have but a few square miles over, and are much more mountainous. Lying on both sides the North Branch, with its numerous tributaries, the Wyalusing, Wyalusing, Wappaseening, Durell, Towanda, South, Bentley's, Sugar, and other smaller creeks, it is exceedingly well watered. The surface of the county is rolling, there being no mountains worth naming, (but some remarkable tall hills) and nearly the whole area is fit for pasture or tillage. The soil is said to be mostly of sandstone origin, with occasional slate and shale tracts, and small quantities of limestone. Good crops can be raised with proper cultivation. As lumbering decreases, Agriculture advances. Bituminous coal, iron ore, and fire-brick clay, are found among its valuable minerals.

In population, Bradford has increased very rapidly, as will be seen by reference to facts. It was organized, with a sparse population, in 1810, not forty years ago. Its population numbered--

Table with 2 columns: Year, Population. Rows: 1820 (20,000), 1830 (22,750), 1840 (24,646).

Showing an average increase of about ONE THOUSAND PER YEAR for thirty years past. Bradford polled nearly 7000 votes, last fall, and this season was the first county to pay her quota of State Tax.

The completion of the North Branch Canal through the centre, the Wyalusing & Wappaseening Plank Road in the east, and Williamsport & Elmira Rail Road in the west of Bradford, will give it additional start in the race of improvement. In times past, efforts for a division of the county, have been made without effect.

The county seat is central, upon the river, and the erection of a $20,000 Court House will probably fix the county business at Towanda for many years. This Court House appears rather more imposing than any in Northern or Central Pennsylvania. It is of brick, the first story comprising the Jail, the second the County Offices, and the third the Court-Room, a lofty apartment, with a gallery opposite the Judges' bench. It was not quite finished when we passed through, and its general effect and utility had not been tested.

C. L. WARD Esq., has recently erected a large Public House on the site of the old "Eagle," which in its appearance, and from the taste, the ability, and the enterprise of its Proprietor, I venture to predict will be the first tavern stand in Northern Penna. It is called the "Ward House," and kept by P. C. Ward & Baldwin. There are other elegant brick edifices just erected--and altogether, Towanda is worthy of its station as the general influence of Bradford.

The largest Son of Temperance in the World, is Robert Hales the American Giant, now exhibiting at Barnum's Museum, Phila. He was initiated into Chrystal Fountain Division, Phila., about two weeks ago. He's some.

On Monday last Penn. State 5's rose to $88; in consequence, it is said, owing to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund having lately made further purchases. Glad to hear such good news.

Judge Hart, of Cincinnati, lately caused the "criminal box" to be taken out of the Court, on the ground that no man need be disgraced before his fellow citizens by crime. Truly a wise decision.

The National Intelligencer of Friday learns officially that Walter Forward Esq., of Pennsylvania, has been appointed Solicitor of the Treasury in the place of R. H. Gillet, Esq.

DIED.

In Belleville, Mifflin county, on Sunday, October 14th, Mrs. AGNES BELL, in the 73d year of her age. She was born February 4, 1778, at or near Derrstown, (now Lewisburg), Union county, where her father had been one of the first settlers. She made a profession of religion in early life, and was for at least fifty years a communicant in the Presbyterian church. Of her eleven children ten survive, of whom seven were gathered around her dying bed. Mrs. Bell was a kind mother, an obliging neighbor, and a cheerful christian.--Lewisburg Gazette.

In Pittsburg, 25th inst. Rev. JOHN BLACK, D. D., in his 82d year. He was the father of the gallant Col. Saml W. Black, and his memory will be revered by thousands.

In Belleville, on the 19th inst., Mrs. ELIZABETH MESSER, wife of Wm. L. Messer, Sheriff of Centre Co., aged 26 years. At York, Pa., on the 19th inst., Rev. Dr. CATBERT, aged 90 years and 11 months.

Dr. Swayne's Celebrated Family Medicines.

CURE FOLLOWS CURE! More Proof of the Efficacy of DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF Wild Cherry.

The Original and Genuine Preparation! Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hoarseness, Liver Complaint, Spitting Blood, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain in the Side and Breast, palpitation of the Heart, Influenza, Croup, broken Constitution, sore Throat, Nervous Debility and all diseases of the Throat, Breast, and Lungs.

Dr. Swayne's compound Syrup of Wild Cherry. Reliable Testimony. John Milton Earle, editor of the Worcester Spy, Mass., was attacked with a severe inflammation of the lungs, accompanied with a distressing cough; after using various other remedies with little or no benefit, he used one bottle of Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, he was restored to perfect health.

Wm. Montelius, a respectable merchant of St. Clair, Schuylkill county, writes, Jan. 30, 1849: "Enclosed I send you a certificate of Wm. Beaumont, a citizen of our town. His case of Consumption is well known here and of long standing; he attributes his cure entirely to your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry."

Be not deceived by the many spurious and worthless preparations of Wild Cherry, which are sold in notice by ignorant pretenders, but see that the signature of Dr. Swayne is upon each bottle, which is the only guarantee against imposition. Remember--the genuine preparation of Wild Cherry is prepared only by Dr. Swayne, N. W. corner of Eighth and Race streets, Philad'a.

Swayne's celebrated Vermifuge. A Safe and Effective Remedy for Worms, Dyspepsia, Cholera Morbus, sickly or dyspeptic Children or Adults, and the most useful Family Medicine ever offered to the public.

This remedy is one that has proved successful for a long time, and is universally acknowledged by all who have tried it to be far superior (being so very pleasant to the taste, at the same time effectual) to any other medicine ever employed in diseases for which it is recommended. It not only destroys worms, but it invigorates the whole system. It is harmless in its effects, and the health of the patient is always improved by its use, even when no worms are discovered.

Beware of Mistakes. Remember--Dr. Swayne's Vermifuge is now put up in square bottles (having recently been changed) covered by a beautiful wrapper, steel engraving, with the portrait of Dr. Swayne thereon engraved. Bear this in mind, and be not deceived.

DR. SWAYNE'S SUGAR COATED BARRA-PARILLA AND EXTRACT OF TAR PILLS. The virtues of these pills can be appreciated only by those who have used them. They are adapted to assist nature in carrying off morbid matter, obstructions, impurity of the blood, &c. They are a gentle and efficacious purgative, correct all the functions of the liver, and are also effective in dropsical affections they are very valuable and should be in every family. They have an outside coating of pure White Sugar, whereby everything disagreeable to taste or smell is entirely removed without in the least affecting the excellent quality of the medicine. Remember--they are now put up in boxes turned out of the mill, covered with a red label bearing the signature of Dr. Swayne; none other is genuine.

The above valuable Medicines are prepared only by Dr. SWAYNE, N. W. corner of Eighth and Race streets, Philadelphia.

DR. MLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

This great remedy for disease of the Liver, is of much earlier date than its introduction to the public. Its discoverer, one of the first physicians in this country, used it for years in his practice, before he ever announced it to the world. The existence of so many quick remedies, heralded as possessing the most marvelous qualities for healing all diseases, disgusted an accomplished and well educated physician, who naturally felt some dread of being confounded with the crowd of pretenders to the medical art, whose quatrums were padded on every newspaper as sovereign remedies for all the ills that flesh is heir to. The representations of those to whom his pills had given relief, however, and the urgent solicitations by physicians with whom he had associated in his practice, and who had witnessed the wonderful cures effected by his remedy, at length induced him to make it public.
