

AGRICULTURAL.

WHAT IS PROGRESSIVE AGRICULTURE?—The New York Observer answers this question in a few words, but very comprehensively, as follows:

"Under its influence spring up tasty and convenient dwellings, adorned with shrubs and flowers, and beautiful within with the smiles of happy wives, tidy children in the lap of thoughtful age—broad hearts and acts, as well as words of welcome. Progressive agriculture builds barns and puts gutters on them, builds stables for cattle and raises roots to feed them. It grafts wild apple trees by the meadow with pippins or greenings, it sets out new orchards and takes care of old ones. It drains low lands, cuts down bushes, buys a mower, houses toland wagons, keeps good fences and practices sowing. It makes hens lay, chickens live, and prevents swine from rooting up meadows.—Progressive agriculture keeps on hand plenty of dry fuel and brings in the oven-wind for the women. It plows deeply, sows plentifully, harrows evenly, and prays for the blessings of Heaven.

THE GARDENER'S PRIVILEGES.—The question was once asked by a very beautiful woman, "Why is the gardener the most extraordinary man in the world? The reply was as follows: "Because no man has more business on earth, and he always chooses good grounds for what he does. He commands his thyme; and he fingers penny-royal. He raises his celery every year, and it is a bad year indeed that does not bring him a plum. He meets with more bouquets than a minister of state. He makes more beds than the king of France, and has more genuine roses and lilies than are to be found in a country wake. He makes raking his business more than his diversion, but it is an advantage to his health and fortune, which few others find; his wife, moreover has enough of heartsense, and never wishes for weeds. Disorders fatal to others never hurt him; he walks and bustles and thrives most in consumption. He can boast of more bleeding hearts than you can, and has more laurels than the Duke of Wellington. But his greatest pride, and great envy of his compeers, is that he can have jeu when he pleases."

A NOVEL WAY TO REVIVIFY GRASS LAND.—I shall take an old piece of herd grass—that at the present time yields less than half a ton per acre, and at the end of five years, without breaking up or fresh seeding. I will raise a crop of two tons per acre.—Then I will go to work to bring it back to its Eden state, though not quite; but so it will pay for mowing. This is done by permitting the crop to stand until the seed just vegetates before cutting; as by mowing the crop, as many do, when but half ripe, the roots bleed to death. This is why the second crop starts so slowly. Is this not a fact, farmers? If not, let me know, for I am one of those who seek for more light in the noble science of agriculture. I would recommend top-dressing as one grand aid in the plan of restoration. The scrapings of the yard—that as a general thing are full of sorrel and prairie grass seeds, hence unless plowed in, make one extra hoeing necessary—can be spread as top-dressing, with good results.—J. L. Hersey.

Cows.—Cows in milk require an abundance of water. As it is desirable that they should drink but sparingly at a time in cold weather, they should be watered often.—Three times a day, morning, noon and night—is not too often. Never water immediately before milking, as it will sensibly diminish the milk. In severely cold weather, it will pay well to take the cold chill from the water. A kettleful of boiling water will warm drink for eight cows, and increase their milk, at least four quarts. Remember, regularity is as important here as in feeding.

CORN COBS AS FOOD FOR CATTLE.—Although the cobs of well ripened corn contain too much callosus or woody insoluble matter, to be nutritious, even when ground—yet there is this season, thousands of bushels of cobs from soft, unripe corn, that bovines will eat even in preference to good hay.—Let those who doubt it try the experiment. These cobs are not only soft and easily masticated, but they contain much of the nutriment which should have gone to perfect and ripen the soft corn.

THE PROFIT IN EARLY PLANTING.—How many farmers lose the best part of the season in the spring, waiting for the surface soil to dry? Our seasons are so short and capricious, that unless we lengthen them out by early planting on drained soil, a maximum crop of corn, no matter how well manured, can hardly be had one season out of three.—The last was one of the worst corn seasons that we have had in many years, only about half a crop of sound corn was gathered in Western New York. Yet, all well tended garden corn ripened, and the Ohio dent was nearly a maximum crop on well-drained, early planted fields.

TO PROTECT SHEEP FROM DOGS.—If sheep are kept in the same lot with cows or fat cattle, no dog will disturb them. As soon as the dogs approach the sheep, they run to the cattle who drive off the dogs. A farmer for thirty years, in Shelby county, by adopting this plan, never lost a sheep by dogs, although in the same night the same dogs killed sheep in the farms north and south of him.—Rural Gentleman.

ADVANTAGE OF SHELTERING SHEEP.—From the experiments of an English farmer, it has been demonstrated that sheltered sheep eat one-third less of linseed cake, and two pounds of turnips less per day. And yet, notwithstanding this, the increase of those housed, as compared with those that are not, was as fourteen to nine. An equal, if not a greater advantage, is derived by sheltering cattle.

DAY HAY FOR COWS IN SUMMER.—Cows sometimes get a surfeit of grass, especially in wet, warm weather, when the grass is succulent and rich. This feed distends the bowels uncomfortably. An armful of dry hay once a day will serve to absorb some of this moisture, and benefit the cow in several respects.

MANHOOD! How Lost, How Restored. Just Published, a new edition of the radical cure (without medicine) of Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Sexual Losses, Impaired Memory, Insanity, Impotence, Sterility, Marriage, etc.; also Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fifteen induced by self-indulgence or Sexual excesses. Price, in a second volume, only 6 cents. The celebrated author in this admirable essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful experience, that the most inveterate cases of self-indulgence may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine, or the application of the knife, pointing out a mode of cure, simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself. For particulars, send for a copy of this treatise, which will be sent free of charge, to any address post-paid, on receipt of ten cents, or two post paid stamps. Address the publishers, J. C. KLINE & CO., 127 Broadway, New York, Post Office No. 4, 456, Dec. 19, 1866.
