

AGRICULTURAL.

Straw and Root Cutters.

If you once make a careful trial of cutting the fodder for a stock of cattle horses included, you will realize how much corn fodder, straw and hay of an indifferent quality you will be able to work up, and at the same time become convinced that your stock has grown fatter, or made more fat and flesh, than under the old practice of feeding out entirely long hay.

We fed six or seven cows and five horses last winter on corn fodder, English hay, meadow hay and barley straw. It was all cut and thoroughly mixed, and sprinkled with cold water, and a little salt as the mixing proceeded, then throwing into a heap. At the end of two days, one end of the heap was broken down and meal mixed with it. That for the horses being equal to about three quarts of corn meal per day; and that for the cows, equal to one quart of corn meal per day. All the stock did well, and it seemed to use at a considerable less cost than in the old way of feeding. The experiment was not an exact one, but confirmed several others of a similar nature, made some years before.

The season for feeding stock in the barn is at hand, and we know of no one item of economy with the farmer more important than the use of the hay cutter.

If roots are used instead of grain, they flavor the mass of dry fodder, so that cattle eat the whole eagerly. We know one farmer to feed 30 or 40 cows through an entire winter on wheat straw, cut, and flat turnips, also cut. The cows were in sufficient flesh, and were producing a fair average of milk.

VALUABLE RECIPES.—The following have been used in many families of this place, for the purpose of coloring cotton goods; carpet rugs, &c.; and have been found both cheap and serviceable. The colors are bright and un fading.

BLUE.—Dissolve 4 oz. of copra in two buckets of water; boil the goods to be colored in two hours, put 2 ozs. prussiate of potash, dissolved in two buckets of water, lift the cloth in this fifteen minutes; then lift out the yarn, muslin or other articles, and pour in an ounce of vitrol; stir it well, then throw in the material and let it soak a few minutes. After this rinse thoroughly.

YELLOW.—Put 8 ozs. sugar of lead into two buckets of water; 4 ozs. of bicarbonate of potash in one bucket of water; heat as warm as you can bear to handle the material in wringing. Put into the lead solution first then into the other, four times from one to the other alternately, wringing them each time.

Dip the above in line-water to make a bright orange color.

BLACK.—Put 1 oz. extract of logwood into 1 bucket of cold water; stir it until hot; put 1/2 oz. of blue vitrol into a bucket of cold water; heat it. Put goods in the vitrol and heat five minutes after which put them into the logwood dye half an hour—airing it several times. Then dip in salt water scalding hot. Rinse in cold water.

BUTTER-MAKING IN THE WINTER.—For some unknown reason, cream skimmed in cold weather does not come so quickly as that from the same cow in warm weather. Perhaps the little sacks of butter in the cream are thicker and tougher. There are two methods of obviating this: One is to set the milk on the stove, or some warm place, when strained, and let it remain until quite warm—some say until a bubble or two rises, or until cream begins to rise. Another mode is to add a teaspoonful of salt to a quart of cream when skimmed. Cream thus prepared generally comes in a few minutes when churned. It is thought the salt acts upon the butter-globules and makes them tender, so that they will break more easily when churned.—Boston Cultivator.

STOCK FEEDING—RAW AND COOKED FOOD.—The question as to which is the most profitable for feeding stock, raw or cooked food, still engages the attention of the agricultural press. The majority are in favor of the cooking process. A Kentucky farmer fed raw corn for a time to his hogs—weighing them at the time of commencing the experiment, and again when a change was made to cooked food. The result was 53 to 73—a large balance in favor of cooked food after deducting the expense of preparing the latter. Even one-half of the above difference would justify the feeding of the cooked material in preference to that in a raw state.

STUFFING FOR TURKEYS.—Chop finely one quarter of a pound of suet, and mix double the quantity of bread crumbs, a large spoonful of chopped parsley, nearly a spoonful of thyme and majorum mixed, one eighth of nutmeg, some grated lemon peel, salt and pepper, and bind the whole with two eggs. A teaspoonful of finely shredded shallot or onion may be added at pleasure.—Elc.

We have no doubt the "stuffing" is good and just the thing, but what does the stuffing amount to without the "turkey?"

Farmers, look well after your hen manure. Place boards about two feet below the roosting place, upon which may fall all the manure. Then, once or twice a week, have it well scraped, and put in barrels.—You can then have in the course of a year, the very best manure you could possibly use for corn and other crops.

How to Fatten Geese.—An Irish agricultural paper says the best way to fatten geese is to put three or four in a darkened room; and give each bird one pound of oats daily, thrown in a pan of water. In fourteen days they will be found almost too fat. Never shut up less than two together, as they pine if left alone.

S. E. Cole, Steuben County, N. Y. says he never failed to cure poll evil by first "washing the sore clean with warm soapsuds, and then sprinkling on a teaspoonful of salutaris once a day until cure is effected which will be speedy.
