remocratic State Convention

HARBIABURG, Pa., January 8, 1868. The Democratic State Committee of Penn-rylrania have fixed WEDNESDAY, THE FOURTH DAY OF MARCH, 1868, at 12 o'clock M., as the time, and the Hall of the House of Representatives, at Harristurg, as the place, for holding the annual Convention of the party. It is ordered that this Convention be comrosed of one member for each Senator and Kepresentative, who shall be elected in the have inaugurated. usual manner and they will meet at the time and place aforesaid, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the offices of Auditor General and Surveyor General, and of selecting Delegates to the National Convention for the nomination of candidates for President and Vice President.

The members and committees of the organization and all conservative citizens who can units with us in the support of constirational principles are requested to proceed to the election of the delegatos in their roepective districts.

By order of the Democratic State Com-ittee. WILLIAM A. WALLACE, O. O. DEISZ, Sec'y. Chairman

Where Does the Democratic Party Stand 1

It stands firmly by, and true to its well-Inown fundamental principle, to wit : "the greatest good to the greatest number."--Whenever an opposing principle is allowed to prevail, the righte, not only of the minority but of the majority are infringed upon. In this country it has been asserted by statesmen whose equals have rarely been found in the world, that the majority should Fovern. This is essentially the rule of moderr times and of nicdern civilization ; and we hold that it is very improdent, to say the least, in any would-be statesman to attemp. to invalidate this rule, directly or indirectly.

We have been led to these remarks not only by the well-known as ion of the radical Congress, but by the conduct of certain Senators and representatives claiming to be various kinds. Over three millions of them Democrats. There is an offensive disposition manifested by some professed friends of the great Democratic Party to tinker with the Constitution, an instrument framed Ly A sudden demand for breadstuffs, before the the wise and good men who founded our covernment. The attempts of Thaddens Stevens and the politicians of New England may, to some extent. be overlooked : inas much as the arowed design of that faction is to override and operate outsida of the Conritation But that Democrats especially in the opened, should bein in the "bus no Low, incorporating themselves with the tack of Radical hounds, and attempt to ride down domand relief. They ask that the necessithe Constitution of our Country, is incomprebensible.

As we have always said, let the Demoeratic Party be true to her principles as developed in the Constitution of the United humble life, if the nation at large would States. Nothing more is necessary. Then the efforts of Radicals, of Conservatives, of traiters, will be-naught ; and the country Noue.
