By order of the Democratic State Committee.

Chairman. O. O. Detse, Sec'y.

IMPEACHMENT -- Monday and Tuesday evening's daily papers report a movement going on at Washington with startling rapidity to impeach the President. The Radieals forming that notorious and infamous stormy session on the subject of impeachment, and it was determined to commence the high-handed work without delay. A to investigate the conduct of the President. Beck, (Dem.) of Kentucky. Old Thad, for the best." Stevens is said to have deshared vehement! in favor of reporting a resolution of improvely ment at once. It is now simply a question of a few days, or at least such are the indications. The party lash has been applied, and all the weak-kneed follows will be compelled to toe the mark. The plan is to mak BEN. WADE President, and it now look very much as if their plan will be carried out. President Johnson has no time to lose, if he would preserve his authority a Chief Executive officer of the nation, during the remainder of his constitutional terms of office, for there can be no doubt that the revolutionists of the Capitol are contempla ting his speedy removal from the Presidential chair. It may be that the President has indulæed these revolutionists too long. and by so doing they have gotten the advantage of him. It glways occurred to us that President Johnson should have made up a Cabinet of his own selection, thus surrounding himself with men in whom he could place confidence. The influence that one. Are the people realy for it? on Saturday next the Democratic electors of Columbia County will meet, at their respective election districts, for the purpose of choosing, by ballet, two Delegates to meet in Convention on the following Monday at the Court House, in this place. Conferees of the other Counties and select one Representative and one Senatorial Delegate, to represent us in the coming State Convention, which will convene on the 4th of March next. These are the iniciatory steps towards the formation of a Democratie State ticket, viz : A candidate for Auditor General and a candidate for Surveyor General. Our success depends greatly upon the selection of the right kind of men to fill these positions. We want, at this time especially, no old party backs or policy mongrels placed upon our tickets, but men of nerve, courage and right principles, to assist us in fighting the battles in defence of the Constitution and the laws as framed and handed down to us by the fathers of our country. And to bring about this object. the first good work in that direction must be performed at home. Let us go to work, and work diligently. See that we have the right kind of men selected as Delegates to our County Conventions. This is a matter that is too often neglected. As we said before, it is the initiatory steps, upon which our auccess mainly depends. A big battle is before us—the enemy are already murshaling their hosts-let us be ready in due season to meet them, and the victory is sure to be on the side of the RIGHT. Grant Gets Drunk!

General Grant is going under. His bad faith toward the President in the Stauton his friends; and his refusal to talk about anything but horses when addressed on a political subject, has resulted in filling the minds of candid men of all parties with distrust us to his integrity. Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who was one of the prime movers in the New York nomination, has recanted, and written a letter to Mr. A. T. Stewand assigns as a reason his infidelity toward the President in the Stanton affair. Mr. Wendell Phillips, the "pioneer in the Radical party," is also after General Grant with a rather long and sharp stick, and, whilst not quite satisfied with his soundness on the negro question, says: "Rumors reach us the trustworthy sources, that Gen. Grant has of that city within a few weeks."-Ex-
