PUPIL __****** I will recount why this fellow was called Never Mind. Before he is hitched to the wagon, I must acquaint you with another bad trick he has, though luckily he has not had frequent opportunity to practice it. When harnessed, if not allowed to start right off, he will rush back at a tremendous gait, and it is astonishing how fast he can perform this crawfish movement. If the wagon or sulkey bits anything, he is sure to break it or the harness. When I had him at home, the inside of the track was planted with corn. At the time I speak of it was just high enough to commence tasseling-say six or seven feet. In making his retrograde rush, he backed the sulkey into the corn. The slightest resistance led him to break it, and back he threw his whole weight in the breeching. Hearing nothing but the crushing of the corn, and not the crash he expected, he kept backing at a "right lively gait," and never stopped till the entire field was traversed, nearly three hundred yards. As the sulkey struck the back stretch, and there was no longer any resistance from the standing corn, he was fairly nonplussed; and stopping a moment, as if cogitating on the probable reason why the sulkey was not broken, he awung round and jugged off as if nothing unusual had taken place. "We had no more trouble with him the rest of the season. I do not think he will make the attempt now; as by never punishing him, or trying to force him forward, always hitching him where he could have leeway, and trying to attract his attention till everything is ready for him to go, he has nearly forgotten it In connection with this, and brought to my remembrance by recounting Never Mind's memorable backing out scrape, I will relate a circumstance something analogous. A neighbor of mine had a bay mare that would match one of mine. Both were good steppers, and I finally succeeded in trading for her. On the completion of the deal, he told me that the mare had only one failing which was that she would not stand when person was getting into the wagon. I told him that was annoying, but I had cured several of the same habit. The next day I harnessed her to a road sulkey and drove eight miles and back. The trip was made satisfactorily. The day following a friend was to accompany me a few miles to see a race. We put the mare to a top buggy by the side of a steady old trotter; I threw the top back, the mare standing very quietly, though as soon as I took up the reins she wanted to start. I said whoa, very gently, and accompanied the command with a slight pull. Down she dropped, as though she had been struck on the head with an axe, lying quietly and apparently comfortably to herself. I could not help laughing, provoking as the situation was. My friend did not see the reason for being amused, telling me he would give her a good thrashing instead of laughing at her. I told him I was not laughing at the mare, but at my own ig-The man I got her of told me literally what she would do, and I had not sense enough to understand him. I supposed she would rear and fret when restrained from starting; it never coming into my head that she would drop down and lie perfectly

We unhitched her from the wagon, and from the sullen way she laid, it was apparent she expected a beating, and was going to endure it like a stoic. She never offered to rise while we were divesting her of the harness, and I made up my mind what to do before the last strap was unbuckled. Old Quaker, her companion, looked on surprised. We had broken many a colt by his side, yet this was something new to him, as his looks plainly showed. We strapped both the mare's fore-legs up, fastening the pasture to the arm, brought both hind legs up against her belly, securing them there so they could not be moved in the least; put a strong bridle on, the bit having long check pieces, drawing her head up on one side, where that was also fastened. A bundle of straw was put under her head, so that it would ) support without pulling on the rein. When all was completed she could not move an inch, though she never made the attempt. We put another horse in by the side of Quaker, leaving strict orders for no one to go near her, and went on our way to the quarter race. Four hours clapsed before we returned. The straps were removed, and she was bid to arise. She did not need a second invitation, looking very foolish when she regained her legs. This was the most cruel operation I ever subjected a horse to; but in her fix it was effectual. I kept her some time, and she never showed any desire to repeat the trick. She afterwards went to New Orleans, trotting in forty, acquiring a good deal of celebrity as a safe and reliable road mare. PRECEPTOR. -That was rather severe, yet not so bad as beating her as severely as some would have done. I should have misunderstood her case, too, and would have been description. Horses frequently throw themselves; this mare, as I understand the case was not so violent, and the solidity she displayed showed a stubborness that would have been hard to conquer in any other way. ENGRAVINGS.

There is a certain portion of the war that will never go into the regular histories, nor be embodied in romance or poetry, which is a very real part of it, and will, if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better dea of the apirit of the conflict than any many dry reports or careful gossip, the fun, the pathos of the war. This illustrates the characters of the lenders, the humor of the soldiers, the devotion of women, the bravery of men the plack of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service.

The Valiant and Brave Hearted, the Picturesque and dramatic and Witty and Marvelous, the Tender and Pathetic, and the Whole Pasiorama of the War are here thrillingly portraged in a masterly mauner, at once historical and romantic endering it the most ample, incipac, by lished and dashe book that the war has a ded forth.

This is a new stand lately fitted up for the accoming dation of the traveling public generally, situated of Main Street, a few doors above the Court House, on what is known as the "Robbison property." It is centrally located in it s town, a most pleasent place for, nexts to step, besides being in that part of town where the majority of the business is being done. The proprietor feels confident that he is prepared to give general satisfaction to his givests, and would solicit a fair portion of the public patronage.

CATHARTIC PILLS

CATHARTIC PILLS

OPERATE by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and atimulate it into healthy action. They remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, and, by restoring their irregular action to health, correct, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first causes of disease. An extensive trial of their virtues, by Professors, Physicians, and Patients, has shown cures of dangerous diseases almost beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Their certificates are published in my American Almanac, which the Agenta below named are pleased to furnish free to all inquiring.

Annexed we give Directions for their use in the complaints which they have been found to cure.

For Costivaness.—Take one or two Pills, or such quantity as to gently move the bowels. Costiveness is frequently the aggravating, cause of PILES, and the cure of one complaint is the cure of both. No person can feel well while under a cestive hebit of body. Hence it should be, as is can be, promptly relieved.

For Dyspersia, which is sometimes the cause of Costiveness, and always uncomfortable, take mild doses—from one to four—to stimulate the stomach and liver into healthy sotion. They will do it, and the hearthurn, bodyburn, and soulburn of dyspepais will rapidly disappear. When it has gone, don't forget what cured you.

For a Four Bronach, or Morbid Inaction of the Bouels, which produces general depression of the spirits and bad health, take from four to eight Fills at first, and smaller doses afterwards, until activity and strength is restored to the system.

spirits and bad health, take from four to eight Pille at first, and smaller does afterwards, until activity and strength is restored to the system.

For Nervousness, Sick Headache, Navara, Pain in the Stomach, Back, or Side, take from four to eight pills on going to bed. If they do not operate sufficiently, take more the next day until they do. These complaints will be swept out from the system. Don't wear these and their kindred disorders because your stomach is four.

For Scropula, Eursprelas, and all Disease of the Skin, take the Pills freely and frequently, to keep the bowels open. The cruptions will generally soon begin to diminish and disappear. Many dreadful ulcers and sores have been healed up by the purging and purifying effect of these Pills, and some disgusting discuses which seemed to saturate the whole system have completely yielded to their influence, leaving the sufferer in perfect health. Patients! your duty to society forbids that you should parade yourself around the world covered with pimples, blotches, ulcers, sores, and all or any of the unclean diseases of the skin, because your system wants cleausing.

To Publy the Blood, they are the best medicine ever discovered. They should be taken freely and frequently, and the impurities which sow the seeds of incurable diseases will be swept out of the system like chaff before the wind. By this property they do as much good in preventing sickness as by the remarkable cures which they are making every where.

Liven Complaint, Jaundicz, and all Biligue

where.

LIVER COMPLAINT, JAUNDICE, and all Bilions Affections arise from some derangement—either torpidity, congestion, or obstructions of the Liver.
Torpidity and congestion vitiate the bile and render it unfit for digestion. This is disastrous to the health, and the constitution is frequently underhealth, and the constitution is frequently under-mined by no other cause. Indigestion is the symp-tom. Obstruction of the duct which empties the bile into the stomach causes the bile to overflow into the blood. This produces Jaundice, with a long and dangerous train of evils. Costiveness, as alternately costiveness and diarrhos, prevalls. Feverish symptoms, languor, low spirits, weariness; restlessuess, and melancholy, with sometimes in-ability to sleep, and sometimes great drowsiness; sometimes there is severe pain in the side; the skin and the white of the eyes become a greenish yellow; the stomach acid; the bowels sore to the touch; the whole system irritable, with a tendency to fever, which may turn to bilious fever, bilious colic, bilious diarrhosa, dysentery, &c. A medium dose of three which may turn to bilious fever, bilious colic, bilious diarrhœa, dysentery, &c. A medium dose of three or four Pills taken at night, followed by two or three in the morning, and repeated a few days, will remove the cause of all these troubles. It is wicked to suffer such pains when you can cure them for 25 cents.

Rheumatism, Gour, and all infammatory Fovers are rapidly cured by the purifying effects of these Pills upon the blood and the stimulus which they afford to the vital principle of Life. For these and all kindred complaints they should be saken in mild doses, to move the bowels gently, but freely.

As a Dinnar Pill, this is both agreeable and useful. No Pill can be made more pleasant to take,

It is generally conceded that "the best is always the cheapest;" and that being the case great pleasure is taken in introducing to the public which is rapidly becoming popular and with this Machine the hard work of washing is missented the confortable and pleasant task. The clothes are placed in hot suds, and shut in. White thus immersed and the steam confined, the Machine is aparated as seen above. Thus the work is speedily, clearly and easily done, and that too without tearing and wearing out the clothes, which to a great extent is the cause under the old fashioned subbing process.
