

Bloomsburg, April 30, 1867.

FRESH ARRIVAL OF FAMILY GROCERIES, AT

JOHN K. GERTON'S STORE, BLOOMSBURG, PANNA.

The subscriber has just returned from the eastern cities with a large and choice stock of first-class

Groceries and Dry-Goods,

Sweet dreams be thine, to-night Old memories throng upon me-My heart will not be light. How much she's like hor mother ! She, too, has gone to sleep Beneath the church-yard willows,

My precious child, my darling, The world but little knows How sad my days, and lonely, My nights without repose ;

And I am left to ween.

harbor, for she came in without pilot or the next room. It could be likened to shortening sail. The quick eye and watch- nothing I had ever heard; it was low, but ful habits of seamen could not lightly pass | regular and metallic in its sound-so to exover such a circumstance, and the report of press it, such a sound, for instance, as a strange vessel coming spread through the might be made it cutting glass with a dialittle town, and many persons assembled. | mond. Suddenly I thought of the whet-The best telescopes were put in requisition, stone on the table, and at the same moment but none could make out who or what the became convinced the noise was that of a of all these defects in our individual memstranger was. As she drew neares to the kuife being sharpened. My bed was placed bers; we may deplore the want of unanimianxious group, her deck was discovered to in the diagonal corner of the room from the ty in our councils : nay, we may palliate our be crowded with male and female passen wicket, and I had been lying with my back | defections, by asserting that our Institutions grs. "Ah ! exclaimed one who had a certain to the latter. I turned in the bed as is but a human invention-that its members noielessly as possible, so as to face the wick- are now subjected to the common infirmities indefinable hope, as that hope sank within et, grasping my pistol. The lamp was burnhim, "an emigrant ship after all," and a ing dimly, and all was as still as death. deep sigh came from his bosom; fo he had As my eye fell upon the window, it ena near and dear friend on board the little countered first a hand placed upon the sill; Packet. "An emigrant ship I said another; then rose by degrees a head, with a pair of 'how can any captain of an emigrant ship glittering black eyes, great heavy whiskers, know so well his way into this harbor ?and a long, sharp knife between his teeth Besides, emigrant ships do not come to I think I possess the ordinary courage of a Liverpool." A pause ensued, during which man, but I must confess the blood in my one with a quick eye was gazing through veins seemed to curdle as I viewed the apthe best glass the town could afford; he paration. Quick as lightning, I sprang up was on one knee, resting his telescope, when n bed, and pointing my pistol, cried out. he suddenly sprang on his feet, and declared 'If you move a muscle from your position, that Captain Bass was among the passen you're a dead man." The eyes glared, the gers! "Nonsense!" was the incredulous head remaining, however, as described, the cry; "Captain Bass and the Liverpool man not uttering a syllable. I got out of Packet are at the bottom of the sea, and bed, and with pistol still presented and eyes | act up to the true character of an Odd Felwill there remain until the day of resurecfixed on his, I backed to the bell-rope and tion pulled it violently. In a few moments a Not daunted by their incredulity, he said, servant came up. I called to him to bring "give me the trumpet, 1 will speak the a police officer; there is something serious brig. In a few moments she will be near going on here. In a moment the passage enough. What brig is that?" The rewas filled with the inmates of the house. spones was given. "Are you Capt. Bass?" In a short time a "star" made his appear-'Yes," was the reply. A few words sufficed ance, and took the man into custody. The to reveal that the vessel had been blown off, unworthy acts of individual members, and sneer at the dissensions and differences which are occasionally exhibited in our councils. It is worse than folly to deny, that these charges have no foundation in truth-We can not disguise facts as they exist among us. We may lament the existence some of the States. But schemes, in which all the valuable prizes exist only on paper, and in which the drawings if they over do take place, take place by stealth, are clearly unalloyed swindlers, as many of our simpleminded citizens have discovered by experience.

EFFECTS OF TEA ON THE SYSTEM.-The Roston Jaum lengthy article on the proprieties of tea in describe King Theodore as a savage monster the course of which the writer says it is no who punishes offenders by burning them matter of wonder with him that the brainalive in their cabins, or driving his baggago workers, in all the years since tea was introwagons over their bodies till all so semblance duced, have regarded it with the highest of humanity is crushed out of them. defects, which are alike common to all hu- favor. It bas a power to subdue irritability, "Is this what the ladies wear around refresh the spirits and renew the energies, their waists?" asked a country youth of a such as is possessed by no other agent.warranted in making such a defense. And When the system is exhausted by labor or friend who was a clerk in a dry goods store in the city. "Of corset is," returned the study a cup of tea invigorates as no other counter jumper, with a mischievous wink. form of food or beverage can. He thinks body, and can adequately realize that CHARI- it promotive of longevity, and adds : "Tea "WHAT is that?" asked a Sunday School saves food by lessening the waste of the teacher pointing to the letter O. body, soothes the vascular system and af-Fellowship, we must place our hands upon fords stimulus to the brain. The young do "Dunno," said the urchin. "What do you say when you stub your not need it. and it is worthy of note that too ?'' they do not crave or like it. Children will "D-n it," was the precocious reply. frequently ask for coffee, but seldom for tea. To aged people whose powers of digestion MR. Tree if you are about to leave, I shall and whose bodily substance have begun to fail together, it is almost a necessity."

contingent and doubtful debts, is finally abruptly; "I thought you were the driver !"

A FATAL discase among the swine is reported in several parts of Ohio. In Hocking county some farmers are loosing from fifteen to twenty hogs a day. The disease is said to be an affection of the throat. It has also prevailed to some extent among the turkeys in that region.

LETTERS from the Abyssian captive

Constant of the second secon

CEDAR WARE AND

WILLOW WARE; n "which variety of goods he has several new sticles of modern invention, extensivelly use where shows, and which must come into use here the also has a fine supply of

French Moroccoes:

and also of Morocco Linings for shoemak work ; and a good assortment of Queensware.

JOHN R. GIRTON. JOHN R. GIRTON. 2 S. E. Corner of Main and Iron Streets. Bloomsburg. Nov. 20, 1867.

NEW BAKERY AND CONFEC-TIONERY

Bestellishmoent ON THIRD STREET, BBLOW MARKET, BLOOMSBURG, PA.

1. P. POX, Proprietor of this establishment, would reportfully infoun his old and new customers, that ar has everything fitted up at his, new stand to en-the him to furnish them with BREAD, CAKES, AND CONFECTIONERIES, as heretofore. Thereafter all persons, who have been furnish with Ale, Lager Beer, and Porter, by the whole, and or quarter harrel, will call upon WILLIAM 31LMORE, at his Batoon in 357 55

Shives' Block, Main Street,

who has been authorized by the undersigned to set a same. He will constantly have a supply on hard, both will be sold at the lownet market rates. Wr. F. has in connege. or with his flak, y and Con-ionery., fitted up or we were or the sale of all who may favor him with their custom for estro prepared to make for Gream in large quanti-ties for parties, public or social gatherings as the safe may be. Everything pertaining to his line et hashness will receive careful and drigent attention. If the is thankful to his customers for past fa-ore, and most cordinity solicits a continuance of the ann. F. P. 2005. Apeir3, 1867. J. F. FOX.

ICE CREAM,

NEW RESTAURANT,

In Shive's Building, on Main Street. WM. GILMORE.

latering the citizens of Bloomsburg and vicinity he has opened a New

RESTAURANT.

in flist place, where he invites hiv old friends and extents of totall and partake of his refreshments,.... It is his intention to keep the best

LAGER BEER AND ALE, constantly on hand ; Also, Portor, Carsaparilla, Min orab. Water, Fangy Lemonades, Raspberry and Lem on Byrups, can always be had at hig Restaurant, In the esting line he presents a not surpassed In this place ; vin Fickled Oyslers Clamb, surdines. Fish, Barbecued Chicken, Fickles Trips and Beef Tongue, &c., &c. He also his a guor article of Cigars and Chewing Tobacco for his customers. 27 five him a cal

SILL OF YARD

How books have grown distasteful. How laughter pains my car; How commonplace to me, love, The words, words, words I hear.

From those who do not know me, And, therefore cannot feel That deep, deep, deep loneliness, I seek not to reveal. But thou 'rt to me my world, love ; My heaven is in thy smile ; Now, go to sleep, my darling, And I will watch the while -- Southern Society.

THREELING ADVENTURE.

The town of Liverpool, in Nova Scotia, situated about sixty miles from Halifax, is a place of some magnitude for a colonial outport. It is, and always has been, remarkable for the neatness and comfort of its houses, for the activity and enterprise of its people, and for the wealth and well-being of all who choose to be industrous and inclined to lay up worldly goods. The intercourse with Halifax, the capital of the province. was, at the period of which we speak, chiefly kept up by a smart and dashing little craft, called the Liverpool Packet, commanded by Captain Bass, which plied weekly between the two places throughout the spring and summer months, laying up during the severity of the winter, when the communication with Halifax was, for the nost part, limited to a weekly post by land. About the year 1815 or 1816, as the seaon for navigation was drawing to a close, a great number of passengers wont to Halifax. as was the custom, to replenish their stores for winter, while many heads of families proceeded thither to purchase clothing. groceries, &c., for their private winter stock ; and as this was to be the last trip of the season, the little barque was crowded with some forty or fifty passengers, chiefly fathers and mothers of large families who were left at home.

The voyage to Halifax was prosperous. The voyagers made their purchases, and in due time the Liverpool Packet was ready to return. All the passengers embarked in good spirits, and the barque sailed cheerily down the harbor, and proceeded for her destination. A few hours after Ler departure there sprang up one of those terrific northwesters. so well known on the coast of Nova Scotia, and blowing with the utmost fury for several days, attended with intenso frost. It was clear that no vessel could keep the coast; she must either put herself before the wind and for many days went befor the wind with great rapidity. As the gale abated, Capt. Bass found he could better reach the West and so crowded a vessel. Using their provisions economically, and elacking their the brig, and came back safe with all his managed to avoid detection. I suppose the passengers. The joyful news flew through the town with the impetuosity of lightning, and ore the vessel could be brought to the wharf the entire population of the place had assubled to meet and embrace their friends. It would be in vain to attempt to describe such a scene-all were in mourning-yet all with a smile of joy beaming in their countenances. As the long lost friends and relatives leaped on shore, fathers, mothers and brothers were locked in each other's arms, and then the sniles became tears of joy.

But how was such a scene to end-how could it, or how ought it to end, with a moral and Christian, people? There is in the depth of the fountain of the human heart purest and most sacred emotions. There twenty or thirty degrees below zero. A ha gush of spantaneous gratitude; and the for use, landlord said he had arrived that evening without baggage. The next day a gentleman claimed the Indies than he could get back with so small supposed assassin as his brother, a maniac. whom he had been conducting to the insand asylum in Philadelphia, and who had escathirst with eider and the barrels of apples ped from him while in that city. He had that were on board, they reached Barbadoes. made his way to New York, and with the There the Captain sold his sloop, bought well-known cunning of a madman, had

"power of the eye"-for I kept mine fixed on his-had restrained him, otherwise he could easily have mastered me in a moment. Since then, whilst in a strange place, I have been careful to cramine and secure my chamber before retiring.

AFTER the terrible powder explosion in China in December, which blew half the town of Hankow to pieces, one of the most curious sights was the great number of bul locks standing around among the bedries where their stalls had been, alive and quiet, but denuded of all their hair, and in some cases literally skinned.

The following is recommended as a receipe for making Bologna sausage :- Take ecl an ever living spring, from which flows its skin and stuff it with ground cat; season it with Scotch shuff and parsimmon oil; lay | CHARITY is his regulator. arises the principle of religion, the sense of it on a hog pet to dry, and then hang it up and run out to sea, or all perish miserably accountability to God and love for all good-, by the tail in a grocery for three months for by reck and the rigor of an atmosphere ness. This impulsive feeling came forth in flics to give the trade mark, then it is ready sake. The broad platform of Odd Fellow. rier is the man. A stronger case for smok-

of humanity, and that Odd Fellowship, as an institution, is not justly, chargeable with man societies, either collectively or individually; and we shall, to a certain extent, be set when we return to the great fundamental principles, which should govern us as a TY and the cultivation of THE FRATERNIzing Spinit, are the governing laws of Odd our mouths, and remain dumb before the accusations to which we are justly exposed, for we must feel the consciousness that every individual member of the Order might low, as well in his private relations, as in his affiliated position with the Order. What would be the character of such a member acting upon the principles enjoined by Odd Fellows?

The leading traits of such a character may be better described by negatives than by affirmatives; for the vast extent of individual duties and responsibilities devolving upon a faithful and worthy member of our Order | tence of credits compels good customers to cannot be definitely laid down.

not a man who allows the natural selfishness | branch of busines, by the opportunity it affords for the unprincipled to prey upon the of his nature to predominate in every moveindustrous. It taxes labor to the amount ment he takes in the Order. He is not the of many millions annually, no man being carping, irritable opponent of any act of generosity and benevolence left discretionary able to sell as low for credit as for cash.-This additional tax, occasioned by bad debts.

is not governed by feelings of personal excitement toward his brother members ; for | paid by the consumer. such feelings are incompatible with our pretensions, and might be assuaged by a simple regard for our characters as Odd Fellows. He is not an ambitious and an intriguing aspirant for office and honors, for charity and brotherly regards are merged in these contests. He values and estimates these distinctions, but he will not be desirous of obtaining them by the loss of principle. If they are awarded to him, he will not assume The poor laborer's pipe is a potent equaliundue airs of superiority on account of his ter. To the enjoyment of pleasures purely elevation. for he has learned the true lesson of equality, conveyed in the sacred character of Brother. Nor will he be arbitrary gets as much of this kind of pleasure out of and deepotio in his acts, for the law of his pipe as a prince or a railroad king can places,

The true Odd Fellow is not the prescriber detain your trunk, exclaimed an incensed lady to her lodger, who was slightly in arrears. What for? asked Mr. Tree indignantly. THE credit system of busines has some For board replied the widow. few advantages, but none to compensate for

In describing a new organ, a country edithe mischief it entails. It is to the system of mercantile credits that we owe all the tor says, -""The swell dicd away in a delibankruptcies that occur-amounting to from cious suffocation, like one singing a sweet ninety to ninety-five per cent. of all persons song under the bed clothes.

A SPECIFIC against falling on ice may be found in the old penitential recipe : Sackcloth and ashes; sackcloth for the souls and ashes for the streets.

IF a man is without enemies I wouldn't give ten cents for his friends. The man who can please everybody hasn't got sense cnough to displease anybody.

Wg should round every day of stirring action with an evening of thought. We learn nothing from our experience unless we muse upon it.

A SHREWD landlord in Kugland hangs out a sign with the inscription, "Good beer sold here, but don't take my word for it.'

"I AM passionately fond of paintings," as a young man said when he kissed the rough check of his sweetheart.

An Irish sailor once visited a city where he said "they copper-bottomed the tops of their houses with sheet-lead."

WHEN is a young man's arm like the gospel? When it maketh glad the waist بلاتك فالاتفاد فالعداف A SwEET thing on ico -teaching a sixteen year old bundle of calico how to skate.

A WORK OF ART-A widow trying to cet a husband.

SHORE .- The short pipe of the hod-carrier is just as good to him as the regalias could be that cost $200 a thousand in Havana. and sixty cents each in New York. If you were to give him one of those regaliss he would prefer to cut it up and smoke it in his pipe, and then he would not find it as good as the tobacco he usually smokes.

luxurious there is a limit which is soon reached; and I maintain that a poor man extract from all the costly wines and viands of a table. If there is a man in the world and denouncer of his brother, for opinion's who ought to smoke, that ancient hod-car-I ship guarantees the largest liberty of indi- ing cannot be selected from ordinary life.

engaged in mercantile pursuits. The exispay for losses incurred by bad ones. It makes it possible for swindling to become a We say then that the true Odd Fellow is in the powers of the members. He is not delay in payment, and expense in collecting the petty leader of trifles in his lodge. He