Call for the National Democratic Convention.

The National Democratic Committee, by me of the authority enforced upon them by the last National Democratic Convention at a meting held this day at Wasthington, D. C., voted to hold the next Convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and Vice-President of the United States on the 4th day of July, 1868 at 12 o'clock M., in the City of New York.

The basis of representation, as fixed by the last National Democratic Convention. is double the number of Senators and Representatives in Congress of each State under the last apportinoment. Each State is invited to send delegates accordingly. AUGUST BELMONT, Chairman. FREDRICK O. PHINCE, Secretary. Washington, February 22, 1868.

Who Shall be President?

It is well known that we have not advocated for nomination to prominent civil offices any candidate whose merits were wholly or mainly of a military character. General Grant has, as we all know, a total lack of such historic political record as pertains to the names of most leading men who have assisted in making the civil history of their country famous. His reputation rests upon the results of his military career; and the same may be said of the Generals who, in this canvass, have been spoken of in connection with the Presidency. Hancock, as true a soldier as the best, is in so fortunate a situation that nothing can be said against him. Neither of these men have shown, (perhaps for the lack of opportunity,) great administrative genius, and no good reason can be given why thirty millions of people should choose either of them, or any | who voted 'not guilty') "can never act with one of their class, as their chief executive officer, to the exclusion of men of tried ability in the guidance and administration of civil affairs. The substantial glory which surrounds the name of Grant is unapproached and unap proachable; and the world may well enquire why, if you take for your President a man from the military, solely on account of his military record why not take your greatest general; and in the contingency of the New York Convention making such a nomination, the argument would certainly be against the Democratic party.

We say, give us generals for our battles, iation of marching to battle under the banner of one whose name, glorious though it be, is yet second on the roll of military fame.

UNDER the caption "Who will be chosen" the Buttler (Pa.) Democratic Herald has some sensible remarks as will be seen by the following extracts:

"The Democratic County Convention which assembled in this place last February to choose delegates to the Democratic State Convention, passed a resolution endorsing the financial policy of Mr. Pendleton, which the United States into greenbacks, thus saving annually a very large interest which has now to be paid in gold and silver. We agreed to the conclusion to which the Convention came on this subject, and we speak but the sentiments of the Democrocy of this region when we say, that they prefer Mr. l'endieton to any other person as yet spoken

"The Manhattan Democratic Club of New York City, has laterly been making some calculations, and we do not know but pulling some wires for other aspirants, in order to defeat Mr. Pendleton. This is all very well for a set of self-constituted political managers in New York, but they must remember and we say it in no spirit of unkindness, that the day when a few men can rule and control the Democratic party has gono-by,"

"The adoption of the two-third rule in our National Convention, was from the first, an infamous proceeding. It was done to concillate the South, and by men too who now are the biggist toads in the Radical puddle, and we say let it go with those who invented it. Mr. Pendleton, we honestly believe, will have a large majority in the National Convention, and should this belief prove true, it will be a dangerous experiment for that Convention to ignore the voice of the majority. The party is always safe in the love and confidence of its adherents, which sustains their expressed opin

"We say again, if Mr. Pendloton has clear and decided majority, he is entitled to the nomination, and if he is cheated out of it by any political manuvering, those engaged in it must take the responsibility.

Impeachment. Yesterday a vote was to be taken on the remaining impeachment articles, but we are not set informed whether or not this eyening's papers think differently. It is currently reported that two Republican Senators who voted for acquittal on the eleventh article would be absent, in which case Johnson would be found guilty. We may get the news in time for a part of our eddition.

THE UNION. - This well-known and popular house has lately undergone thorough repairs, besides has been enlarged and refitted from cellar to attic. It was opened on or about the 1st of April last by our genial friend, J. S. HALL. This house is centrally situated in the brisk and thriving borough of Ashland, Pa., and enjoys a liberal share of the transient custom as well as a large proportion of the local trade of that town. Mr. HALL has no superiors as a ho-But one visit to his house is all that is necessary to ensure you as a regular guest .-His bar is well stocked with choice liquors, and his table is furnished in such a manner that it's equal is not found this side of the large cities. POLITICAL EFFECT OF THE VERDICT .-The independent action of the seven Republican Senators who voted to acquit the Presdent, creates an irreconcilable division in the ranks of their party. Impeachment was prosecuted by the House as a political measure, and its success before the Senate was confidently anticipated, by virtue of the cohesive power of the partizan organization. Its failure inevitably makes a breach in the hitherto compact and solid Radical forces. This accounts for the frenzied maledictions which are heaped upon the heads of the Senators who have had the courage to do right in spite of the demands of party.— The leading Radical politicians secat, feel it and deplore it. After the result of Saturday, a prominent member of the Houseorriginally oppossed to Impeachment, but driven into it at last under the party lashwas frank enough to acknowledge that the defection of such men as FESSENDEN, and TRUMBULL, and HENDERSON, and GRIMES. upon a measure on which the party had staked, as it were, its very existence, inevitably and hopelessly divided it. "These men," said he (referring to the Senators us again. The Chicago Convention will read them out of the party, and denounce them as renegade as traitors. But each one of them has his attached friends who will stick to him the closer when they see him persecuted for opinion's sake. A house di vided against itself cannot stand, and from this hour I date the decadence of the Republican party." In these words the political effect of the failure of Impeachment is No. 162 Nassau street, New York. briefly but forcibly presented. Fraudulent naturalization papers, bribed voters, Ku-Kluxes everywhere, cheating all around the board, and these poor innocent, artless, unsophisticated Radicals standing by like so many meek lambs. We pity their sorrows, and can only offer them consolation out of that bottle which ex-Secretary Stanton and General Thomas, Secretary of War, so affectionately imbibed.

THE Republican press is sorely exercised over the conduct of certain Senators, in the high Court of Impeachment, on Saturday the 16th instant. Judging from the tone of the Radical press these Senators, who looks to the conversion of the 5-20 bonds of are now being applauded by all constitutional and law-abiding people of the whole country, had a queer way of showing their loyalty. Poor old Grimes, Trumbull & Co., will be obliged to incur a large amount of abuse from the Radicals. How suddenly these Senators became traitors in the estimation of some men! They are now fit companions of Jeff. Davis and other good Democrats.

THE famine and pestilence in Algeria bas destroyed one hundred thousand Arabs within the last six months. The sufferings of the people are as horrible as those of the inhabitants of the Italian cities in the middle ages, accounts of which have been handed down to us with strict attention to all the minutiee. The Arabs have been reduced to such straits that they greedily eat offal and the putrifying bodies of animals that have died of the plague, which afflicts both man and beast. Two French missionaries have arrived in New York for the purpose of obaining aid and relief from the citizens of the United States.

THE new fifteen cent notes have just been turned out by the printing division of the Treasury. The notes are of the same width but somewhat shorter than the twenty-five cent notes. On the right side of the face is a vignette of General Grant, and on the left a vignette of General Sharman. Between the vignettes are the words "Fifteen Cents," prominently displayed, and immediately beneath the figures "15". The back is similar in appearance to that of the twenty-five cent notes, with the denomination on

DR. WILLIAM F. LOGAN was re-elected Mayor of the city of Williamsport on Tuesday of last week by a majority of two hundred and fifty-seven over PETER HERDIC, the candidate of the Republican party.-This election is a valued compliment to Dr. Logan, especially when we considered the untiring exertions of the wily enemy to defeat him. His opponent was a man of great wealth and extended popularity.

BUTLER'S RECORD. - The New York Commercial Advertiser, a Republican paper publishes the following:

Some of the testimony taken by James T. Brady and General Baldy Smith, has just leaked out. It shows what has been so frequently alleged, that Gen. Butler and his brother chartered vessels for the purpose of sending merchandise and provisions to the Rebels; purchased cotton and sugar of the Rebels: run the blockade and purchased a vessel for $30,000, which they chartered to the Government for $350 per day, although the persons from whom they purchased offered to charter her for $50 per day. For these offences General Butler subjected himself to dismissal from the service and inprisonment. Instead, therefore, of repreenting, as a squatter, a Massachusetts District in Congress, Benjamin F. Butler should have found employment and lodgings in the Dry Tortugas.

FRIGHTFUL PROPHECIES concerning the end of all things Are made by religious enthusiasts; and on the other hand, philosophers insist that the centre of the earth is mass of fire-that the poles of the earth will one day be at the Equator, and that the sun is gradually fading!
