Der The Radicals of this town, friends of Grant and Colfas, celebrated their late political success on Wednesday evening last with an Oyster supper at their club rooms. When this jolification was first announced, we feared it would have a tendancy to raise the price of bivalves in this place, but we have yet to learn that it had any effect on she market. At least LAWSON had quite as many and sold at the same prices.

WE notice through our religious exchanges that Sunday schools are becoming more important every day as auxiliaries to the work of the church. Hence it is incumbent upon all true Christians to use active efforts to improve them and increase their efficiency. Among the means of advancing these interests we observe the common one of Sabbath School Conventions. By such conventions the opinions, views and observations of a community are brought together, and ideas are interchanged, where-by all are benefitted more or less, and genally a new impetus given to the zeal of Sabbath school workers. Especially is this the case where a live and well-informed Sabbath school worker from abroad can be proportions of the country.
