To Debtors of the Democrat.

We have upon our books numerous "accounts which will aggregate a large sum of which we stand greatly in need. Some of these accounts have been standing six years or more, and no attention has been given to bills repeatedly sent. These old accounts must be paid at once or we will be compelled to place them in the hands of a justice. We intend sending out bills to all indebted to the Democrat either for subscription, job work or advertising, and hope our debtors will favor us with a prompt response.

Our Financial Trouble - The Remedy

Congress has proved itself incapable or unwilling to adopt such financial measures as are needed to relieve the business of the country, and the sooner public sentiment is concentrated and brought to bear in favor of practical measures, the better. It is only by this means proper action can be secured. All agree that the high rate of interest paid by the government is a hindrance to every species of individual enterprise. Let this be the first point in which to demand reform. A large number of five-twenty the government. Let them be taken up as speedily as possible, and bonds at a lower rate of interest substituted. The difficulties of the present system are well set forth by the Doylestown Democrat as follows:

Is course of conversation, the other day. with a Conservative of Republican proclivities, he made this remark : "There must be something wrong when I cannot borrow five thousand dollars on my real estate worth forty thousand dollars." We agree with him, for indeed, there is something wrong. and the sooner people come to understand what that wrong is, the sooner it will be righted. This state of things really exist, and men everywhere, in all communities, begin to appreciate it. What used to be the easiest thing, when there was money to loan -borrow it on real estate security-is now about the hardest, and unless there be some change brought about it will become stil! more discult. Now what is the matter that this state of things should exist? The answer is easily made. The government with its paper goes into the money market and overbids the farmer and all other persons whose wish to borrow on real security. It not only pays greater interest, but has the happy faculty of exempting its own bonds from every description of taxation. The security it gives is of a lower grade than that of the landholder, nevertheless it can borrow as much money as it wants while those who wish to borrow on houses or landfind it almost impossible to do so. The government monopolize the money market and drives other borrowers out, because it gives a higher interest than individuals can afford to pay. This is a true statement of the case, and this is the reason why our friend, mentioned in the beginning of this article, could not borrow five thousand dollars on real estate worth forty thousand.

Our readers irrespective of party, will agree that this state of things should not exist in a free government where there is supposed to be equality of laws. The government and individuals should stand on the ie level in the money market, and the law should not give either party an advantage over the other. The government mopopoly over investments works another in jury, it makes a great deal of capital unproductive. We have now locked up in United States bonds twenty-five hundred millions of what is really dead capital It yields nothing to the holder except the annal interest, and the country becomes no richer on account of it. How much better would it be were this immense amount of capital used to open new farms, build towns. and erect manufacturing establishments.-While it lies idle it bears none of the bur dens of the country, and the holders of government securities are created a favored class. Notwithstanding all this our bonds sell at a lower figure in the money markets of Europe than those of any other country. Even those of Turkey and Morocco bring better prices, and while our 5-20's are worth but 74 cents on the dollar in London, the English Consols are worth 94 cents on the dollar. Whether this arises from fear of reputation, or other causes, we shall not discuss: but it shows that the government monopoly over the money lender, exemption from taxation, &c., which works an injury to real estate, have failed to make our securities as valuable as those of other countries.

Now this state of things ought to be remedied, and the sooner the better-and how it can best be done will be the great work for the incoming administration. We want to see the time come when the government, the man who wants to borrow money to help to pay for his farm, and the poor man who wishes to build a new house, will all enter the market on an equal footing, and can only offer, by law, the same rate of interest. -But before this can be brought about, there must be a new issue of government bonds which bear a less rate of interest than the present, and are not like them entirely exempt from taxation. No principle is better settled in this country than that every description of wealth and capital should bear a just proportion of the public burdens, and until it be carried out in practice there will not be justice to all classes.

Ir is announced from Washington that President Johnson has informed the congressional committee appointed to wait on him that he will not present his annual message until Wednesday, (to-day) in which case we will give it to our readers next week The cause of delay is said to be that the President is awaiting further advices from England, the benefit of which he desires to

The Strength of the Democratic

While Forney's Dress, and other boasting and untrutiful Recical newspapers are publishing obittlery notices of the Democratic party, the N. Y. Som very sugariously intimates to them that there is little ground for auch extravagant jubilation. It sums up the result of the late election as follows:

Though the Republicans obtained in the recent contest nearly three-fourths of the Pre-idential Electors, the Democrats are in a unjority of only about 270,000 in a popular vote of 6.000,000; i.e., only four and a half per cent. This statement exhibits in a striking light the important fact that the disperity between the two parties is far less than would seem to be indicated by the number of the electors chosen by each.

Despite their overthrow in the late campaign, the Democracy remain a very powerful party. No political organization in our history has passed through such sovere trials and been compelled to bear such odious burdens as has the Democratic party during the past fourteen years.

Nevertheless, in spite of these adverse circumstances, and of the dead weight they carried in the revolutionary policy of their candidate for Vice-President, the Democraey exhibited unexpected strength in the late contest, and now stand upon the edge of the battle field in powerful numbers, and under a remarkable state of disciplin.

A fair estimate of the number of white men disfranchised by tyrannical legislation shows that they amounted to nearly half a million. Had the people been premitted to vote according to the provisions of the Constitution, the popular majority for Seymour would have been as large as it now is for Grant. The election was controlled by des bonds are now redeemable at the option of potic acts of Congress, enforced by a stand ing army. In some States the right to vote was denied to all the inhabitants, in others to a considerable portion of them. The Demorracy were beaten by brute force alone.

> They know how they were treated, and are able to see how victors was wrested from their grasp. They naturally feel indignant, and their resoluteness of purpose is consequently entirely unshaken. The San very properly describes the present attitude of the Democratic party as "standing upon the edge of the battle field in powerful numbers, and under a remarkable state of discipline." There is no demoralization in our ranks, and our hosts will enter upon coming contests with the same indomitable energy which has always distinguished them Believing in the immutability of the great principles upon which the creed of the Democratic party is based, the leaders and the masses are alike confidant that they Simon's dodars, however, as Simon knows, must triumph as soon as a free expression of public opinion takes place in this country. Nothing can prevent the speedy overthrow of the corrupt and tyrannical party now in power, except such a change in the organic constitutions of our government as will deprive the people of control over it So soon as election become perfectly free again, the reign of Radicalism must end. and with the triumph of the Democracy the nation will enter upon a new career of prosperity and giory. - Lancoster Intelligencer.

THE STRIDES OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD. -The two great ranges-the Rocky Mountains and the Sierra Navadas-have been crossed by the great Nacional Railroad .-This stupendous work is being pushed rapidly onward along the intervening valleys. It was thought by many, that it would be stopped by the mountain barriers, but the result has convinced the world that no obstacles can impede the progress of the gigantic scheme; on the contrary, the energies of the company have been redoubled since they have arrived at this doint, and as they advance they increase in speed, until they are now laying six miles of track every tween Omaha and Sacramento are made by that the election of Grant meant universal the locomotive, and only about five hundred negro suffrage. All the Radical newspapers | each end of the rail when he rode, miles of road remain to be completed, half of which will be finished before next spring, if the coming winter should prove an open one. This marvelous progress affords evidence that the overland raihoad is no longer on Friday night last, resulting in the loss of a matter of hope and conjecture—it is almost between seventy and eighty lives, quite a an assured success.

Chief Justice Chase did two good things in opening his court at Richmond last week. He ignored, repudiated the senseless and barbarous iron-clad oath prescribed by the Congressional and Legislative Jacobins; and he denounced the monstrous frauds of loyal officials and loyal rings, who oppressthe people by increasing the burdens of taxation with their remorseless robberies." The illy people who believe or pretend to believe l hat poor men pay no taxes, were handsomely rebuked by the Chief Justice, when he said, "Frauds upon the revenue are next House will be contested, in spite of his and no one who cats, drinks or wears, or is sheltered under any roof, however humble, now escapes taxation. When it is remembered that out of the five hundred millions of dollars collected annually, over two hundred millions of it are stolen by Government officials, some idea can be formed of the oppressed by this thing at Washington call- of either a dying or dead party. ed the Government.

How ARE You, Bonds?-Those persons who voted for Grant because they are the holders of a few bonds and thought that the bonds would rise in value under the Radical administration, will be gratified to learn that they are worth just three cents less on the dollar since Grant's election than they were before. What stuff the Radicals did cram down your throats! If Grant continues the Radical Congressional policy, your bonds will soon be worth nothing at all, and the time for trading "greenbacks" and wood, cord for cord, will soon arrive.

NICE DISTINCTION.—The jury in the case of Gen. Cole, who was tried for the murder of Hiscock, have acquitted him. Before rendering the verdict the foreman stated to the judge that the jury believed Cole to be perfectly same a moment before he shot his victim, and a moment afterwards; but they were in doubt as to his sanity at the precise moment the shot was fired, and this doubt his honor said the defendant was entitled to the benefit of. This is a very line distinction, and, if generally adopted, will acquit [COMMUNICATED.]

ORANGEVILLE, Dec. 7th, 1868. W. II. JACOBY-Dear Sir: How is your mathematical friend "Observer" this cold morning? If during the pleasant, weather off the past mouth he was so childed, mathematically, as to be unable to come to the assistance of those whom he had floored.

he must certainly be frozen up by this time. How is the promised premium? Is it possible that those fingers so mathematical are also so benumbed that he dara not ven-ture his well-filled purse in the clutches of those members which shave refused to do his will? If so, and he wishes to wait the return of the "balmy days of spring" before he makes the award, let him, Mr. Editor, say so; and if he will furnish me his copy of the solution in question. I will agree to allow our friend 'Observer' to keep his wonderful prize, providing he will wait till summer, with its dews and showers, has come," before he again "opens fire" without ammunition.

BEFORE the election, the Radicals promised that in the event of their success at the polls, a new stream of prosperity would flow upon the country, and a good time generally would make the people happy. Well, the election came, the Democracy were defeated, Grant was chosen President, and how stands the record to-day? No sooner was the result ascertained than the money to starve. market stiffened, angry clouds darkened the financial horizon, a new national tax bill is announced, to grind down the people still harder. In this way the blessings of Radicalism brighten!

THERE seems to be a mutiny in Governor Geary's camp. Fitzgerald's City Rem. always intensely Radical, pays the following tribute to Hans:

Poor Geary is traveling and begging day and night to recure a re-nomination. He coaxes, implores, promises, threatens, whines and cries. Never before has such a spectacle been seen in this State. W. W. Ketchum and General Harry White are his competitors - both abler and better men, and neither of them liars."

That is pretty plain talk. Brother Radicals should not thus wash each other's dirty linen. Let us have neace!

Either one of them stands a better chance of being struck by lightning than to be called by the public to fill an official position. have a potent effect upon the Radical party.

PHILLIPS ON GRANT.-Wendell Phillips, the great light of Radicalism, has very little faith in General Grant, judging from his recent utterances. In a late speech to the Anti-Slavery Society, he said: "There are many who believe that the Republican party have caught the biggest Tartar this time that credulous mortals were ever doomed to carry, and that in less than one year the incoming President's foes will be they of the size of Massachusetts. his own household."
