

Danville Intelligencer

Established in 1828.

Summer. Summer's first day was hot. Summer shows a tendency to warm up at last.

Two papers for the price of one. The Intelligencer and The American Farmer go together for $1.00.

A short campaign is being urged by people throughout the country. It is claimed that the long political agitation unsettles business.

There promises to be a large attendance at the Destruction of Pompeii, at Shamokin, next Saturday, from this place.

The Liberty Bell is in danger of being its head turned by too much attention and flattery. It is already a little cracked.

Mrs. I. A. Shamokin and son, Pannel McJoy, of Harrisburg, were late visitors to our city, guests at Lutz's on Bloom street.

As we have said before, the time to advertise is now. Don't wait for some body else to get the cream of the business, get your share. The man who hesitates loses business.

Bloomington has passed a law prohibiting peddling about the streets and which has just been inaugurated.

The Eagles are arranging to flock to Edgewood Park, Shamokin, in a grand picnic, on September 1st, to which those noble birds within a radius of 150 miles will be invited to spread their wings.

Russian explanations of disastrous defeats are more humorous than a comic opera. Their efforts to show that a series of retreats is a scheme to draw the Japanese northward are not even ingenious.

The St. Louis Exposition Company has made the first payment on the money borrowed from the Government, which is an innovation.

The New York Coroner says that the life preservers on board the excursion steamer General Slocum were life destroyers.

The grown up fellows are discovering cherries do not taste as sweet to them as they did when they were boys.

Executions by electricity in Columbus are almost as horrible as butcheries. The State needs a new method of execution or an executioner who knows how to execute.

Baseball is a great game. It is almost a safe prediction that as long as our glorious union shall endure it will continue to be the national game.

Preparations are being made for a big day at Washingtonville on July 4th.

The P. O. S. of A. of Bloomington will run an excursion to Scranton on July 4th. Fare from Bloomington $1.25.

Columbia County teachers are planning an excursion to the St. Louis Exposition in August.

It is announced now that the railroads that have been reducing their working forces are beginning to feel the need of restoring them.

Commenting on the fact that the treatment of 128 cases of smallpox cost Shamokin $8,000, the Shamokin Herald says that it has cost that town $21,000 to treat about 100 cases, and the end is not yet in sight.

Mr. Elmer E. Decker, one of Liverpool's most progressive merchants, is enjoying a vacation, part of which he is spending with us, partaking of all that which is beautiful to the eye. Next week he expects to extend his visit to parts in the coal region, making Shamokin his headquarters.

At this time the Grimsom Rambler roars at the height of their glory. They are to be seen in profusion in many front yards. Some porches are covered with them and in several cases division fences are things of great beauty by reason of the adornment brought about by the presence of this wonderful trailing rose.

The Wilkesbarre Press Club will throw open its doors from June 27 to July 2, day and night, for the visiting newspaper men who expect to attend "The Fall of Pompeii" in that city. They will come from Scranton, Carbondale, Pittston, Binghamton, Honesdale, Berwick, Catawissa, Danville, Hazleton, Bloomington, White Haven, Mauch Chunk and other towns.

Miss Carrie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Jones, of this city, became the bride of Mr. William Hamilton, chief waiter of one of the popular hotels of Johnstown on Wednesday, the 15th inst., at 5 o'clock p. m., at the home of Mr. Emory Stokes, Greensburg. Augustus Jones, a brother of the bride attended the wedding.

Curious Flood Incident. Many incidents have been related of curious happenings in which the spring flood was an active factor, but that told by O. S. Korstetter, of Nanticoke, is one of the most remarkable of them all. Last fall when he completed his work on the flats a plow was by oversight left in one of the fields and was submerged when the water covered that portion of his farm. When the water receded the plow was minus one handle and the cross piece. This summer a brother, Edwin Korstetter, who had been employed on the Nanticoke farm, went to another farm owned by O. S. Korstetter and situated near the river at Georgetown, seventy-three miles from the first farm. There in a culvert leading to the river he found the missing plow handle and cross piece.

Death of J. S. Blue. J. S. Blue, a well known resident of Bloomington, died at the home of his uncle, Isiah Blue, in Frosty Valley, at twelve o'clock Monday night. Death was caused by Bright's disease, from which he has been suffering for nearly a year.

Decceased was fifty-three years old and is survived by two sons, Edward and Horace, of Bloomington, and one daughter, Mrs. William J. Hehl, of Berwick.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Among the passengers on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross, which arrived last Tuesday, were Messrs. J. L. Fernandes Braga, president of the Board of Trustees of the Rio de Janeiro Y. M. C. A., and his son, Luiz Fernandes Braga, an active worker in that organization. Mr. Braga is proprietor of an important hat manufactory in Rio, and goes to the World's Fair to compare the product of his industry, on exhibition at the Brazilian pavilion, with that turned out by factories here, hoping thus to add to the perfection of his own output. He is known in Rio as "O Biblia" (The Bibleman).

Mr. Braga is an advocate of the Y. M. C. A., and has always been a generous contributor to its support, especially for the construction of its building. On the pier to meet Mr. Braga and family were Messrs. Myron A. Clark, recently returned on furlough from Rio, where he has been the general secretary of the Association for thirteen years, and John H. Warner, the fourth secretary to be sent to South America by the North American Associations, who sails on the 5th of next month. Mr. Warner is a graduate of the Ohio State University, and for the past year has been secretary of the Association there. He goes to Rio to take the place for one year of Mr. Clark, and on the latter's return he will locate in Pernambuco, Brazil, to direct the new Association there.

Mr. Clark went to Rio de Janeiro thirteen years ago, when there were no Associations on this continent south of the Equator. He formed the first Association in Rio in 1878, with 71 members, which now has 413 members, 90 per cent. of whom are natives of the country. The Association occupies a building worth $50,000, largely provided by gifts from the merchants of Rio de Janeiro, supplemented by those of North Americans who have business interests in Brazil.

Be Happy. It's just as easy to be uniformly happy as otherwise. Happiness is the highest development of contentment, and its palpable evidence, and contentment is no nearer akin to selfishness than there is no reason why everybody should not be happy.

Try it. Think how many good reasons you have for being happy—reasons that do not involve anything extraordinary. Begin by thinking how much better than your neighbors you are and how infinitely superior to the fellows that backbite you. Think how much you would be admired if all people knew you as well as you know yourself and how surely and swiftly you would succeed in your chosen profession if your self-confessed abilities were generally known. All of this is good reason for happiness although such is the perverseness of human nature that it frequently creates pessimism.

Think how much worse everything might be. You aren't rich but you have enough you are not well but you are still alive. Maybe you can't go to the fair, but it won't cost you more than usual to stay home. You cannot have everything you want but you want everything you have. That note falling due tomorrow is a disturber but suppose it were two notes!

Besides happiness is more enjoyable than its antithesis and when the choice of feelings or emotions is yours why not choose the best? Happiness makes the soul glad and the face shine. It wins friends while gloom repels them. Be happy. But— Don't get gay.

Backsliding Girls' Initiation. The Milton Standard of Monday said: "A crowd of Milton people picnicking at Wolfes Grove were subjected to a shock on Saturday night, not soon forgotten. The shock was caused by the initiation ceremonies inflicted upon a group of Backsliding girls by the members of a ladies' society of that institution. As college barbarism is not appreciated by the average lay mind, the abuse of the young ladies aroused an intense sympathy which nearly led to interference. The young ladies, blind-folded were driven into the woods where briars, thorns and underbrush abounded. They were struck with paddles until from sheer pain and exhaustion they sunk to the ground, after which they were rolled down a hill in constant danger of landing against a tree. There were only a few of the indignities which those initiated had to endure, and frequently the cries of the young ladies were pitiable. The whole affair simply shows to what extremes persons are willing to go to be 'in it.'"

Joint Meeting of Commissioners. A joint meeting of the Montour and Northumberland County Commissioners was held in this city on Saturday, Messrs. Conner, Randaubush and Beck of Northumberland County were present along with the full board of Montour—Copper, Cook and Leighow. The business before the two boards related solely to joint county bridges. One of the propositions was a new bridge over Beaver Run in Limestone township, which was ordered built. At the bridge over the Chillisquaque in Liberty township new abutments are needed, which were ordered rebuilt.

The two remaining spans of the river bridge were considered at some length, but no definite action was taken. The probability seems to be that the remaining spans will fall into the hands of the contractor who builds the bridge.

Lectures on Air Brakes. The air brake rooms at Sunbury have again been fitted up and are under the direction of an inspector who gives daily lectures on the air brakes. All trainmen are expected to attend one of these lectures while engineers and firemen are obliged to take examinations and must show improvements over the examinations they previously passed. Mondays and Thursdays have been set aside for these two classes of employees.

AT 136 YEARS OF AGE JOHN BRADLEY DIES.
