GUFFEY RECEIVES GRATEFUL THANKS OF PARKER BACKERS

Action of Pennsylvania Caucus Wins High Consideration for the Colonel, Who Controlled It' St. Louis, July 5, 1904.

Sr. Louis, July 5, 1904.

T was as "the man who has made the nomination of Parker sure" that Colonel James M. Guffey was picked out today by the predominating element in the convention crowd.

The Parkerites sailed on him, the Bryanites and Tammany men scowled. The Colonel, while modest in demeanor, was not insensible to the political importance which has become attached to him.

Calls have been paid him at his rooms by the nanagers of the Parker candidacy, and their thanks and congratulations politely tendered. The first of these visitors was August Belmont, who came in under escort of ex-Congressman James Kerr, of Clearfield, after midnight this morning before the Colonel had gone to bed.

Brought Down at One Shot.

They exchanged compliments, and then Kerr told Belmont about the conference the leading Parker men in the Pennsylvania delegation had with the Colonel just before the State's caucus. It was at that meeting that Guffey announced to them his rejection of Bryan's Pattison proposition and his intention to support Parker.

"We are seven crows on a fence," said Kerr, "and Colonel Guffey brought us all down with one shot."

brought us all down with one shot."

'That's so," exclaimed the Colonel, slapping his knee energetically, and they were hit so hard that none of them could say a word for five minutes."

David B. Hill, William F. Sheehan and other New Yorkers dropped in to see the Colonel today. They took off their hats to him as the State leader who did the business.

This happiness more than compensated for the worry which the Colonel gave the men in Parker headquarters yesterday. They had dwelt in fear until last evening that he would get away from them. At 4 o'clock they had about given him un as zone.

In the second control of the Parker managers rounded up Guffey three times between the date of the Pennsylvania State Convention and the gathering here, but he withdrew from their list of sure things after each occasion on which his delegation of sixty-eight had been counted.

Indianapolis Domesticity. Indianapoils Domesticity.

The distinguishing quality of Indianapolis is its simple domesticity, writes Meredith Nicholson, in the June Atlantic. The people are home-loving and home-keeping. Flagman Dead From Injuries.

John Young, flagman on freight 788 on the D. L. & W. R. R., the train upon which flagman Rouninger met his least only a few weeks ago, sustained injuries at Berwick at an early hour Friday morning, from which he died the Moses Taylor hospital shortly t the Moses Taylor hospital shortly ofter moon Monday.

By a peculiar decree of fate Young received the injuries which caused his death in West Berwick not far from where Renninger met his death and it where Kenninger met his death and it was while engaged in the same occupation and on the same train that the fatal injuries were received.

Young's injuries, it is thought, were caused by his falling from the cabin, triking his head and shoulders. The train at the time was not in motion and the train had been shifting cars in the yards of the A. C. and F. Co. At first it was not thought that his wounds were serious and he was taken to the Moses Taylor hospital at Scranto the Moses Layor nospital at Scran-ton, where his condition, instead of becoming better, grew worse, and he died Monday, with his wife by his bedside. The deceased was a highly respected citizen of Northumberland, nd has been in the service of the company for almost thirty years, hav-ing previously been employed as flag-man on the passenger train.
