BRVAN MEN'S VIEWS OF PARKER CHANGED

One Who Met Him at Esopus Testifies That He is "Just the Man the West Needs."

Omaha, Aug. 16.—Judge Parker's speech of acceptance and the accounts of him brought back by party leaders have altered the views of Western Democrats, who have heretofore been dissatisfied with his nomination.

Prominent Democrats in this State are now talking Parker as enthusiastically as they ever did Bryan.

G. J. Smythe, former Attorney-General of Nebraska, who is close to Bryan in the direction of party affairs at present, came back from Esopus today after attending the notification.

"Bryan men from the West, including myself, were delighted with Judge Parker's speech and the impression he made," Mr. Smythe said. "We have had our previous conceptions of the man changed completely. His speech is masterful. His bearing has the same dignity and polish and kindly expression of McKinley, but he is a man of greater force than the former President."

Had Westerners known the capabilities of Judge Parker there would have been no opposition to him, to my way of thinking.

MISS ROOSEVELT OFTEN WEARS A LIVE SNAKE

Sometimes Uses It as a Chain Around Her Neck—Society Not Taking Up the Fad.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Miss Alice Roosevelt often wears at times, as an ornament, a live snake. The reptile is about two feet long, as large around as a lead pencil, and is known as a green snake. The young woman's idea is, presumably that society will wake up the snake as a fad, but there does not seem to be a wild desire to follow the example of the President's daughter who also wears a chameleon attached to the front of her waist by a fine chain.

Miss Roosevelt discovered the snake hanging from a gas fixture in a box containing some toads, a turtle, and a snake and other reptiles, which reached the State Department of Zoology this morning.

The snake was a dead copperhead and its odor was very strong.

"If she had caught it without killing it she would have found out what it can do," said David K. McMillan, Professor Surface's assistant, as he laid aside the letter for answering and proceeded to pump the serpent full of formalin. The copperhead is one of the two reptiles in Pennsylvania which are poisonous. The other is the rattlesnake.

It is probable that the serpent in question was killed by Mrs. West or some member of her family, for several boxes of specimens have been received from that source. The snake had evidently been hit upon the head with a club.

In anticipation of this we have been purchasing large quantities of sheets and cases so that we could make it a more attractive inducement for these housekeepers to supply themselves this month instead of a little later, if we could save them some money.

So here's what we have to show for our extra efforts, waiting until morning for the past 6 or 8 months.

Corset Covers. 50c Muslin and Cambric Corset Covers, 25c.

This is a lot of 500 white corset covers that were offered to us by a manufacturer who sold us these goods at a loss in order to liquidate his mill running during a dull period.

While we felt as if 500 covers at this price would be a good thing.

DENTAL COURSE SHORTENED

University of Pennsylvania Makes It Three Years, Instead of Four.

The University of Pennsylvania has notified the undergraduates of the dental school that the course in dental surgery will be shortened to three years.

Pennsylvania endeavored to make the four years' course the standard of dental education. Counting on the informally offered support of the National Association of Dental Faculties, the project was put in operation last year.

At a meeting of the association in St. Louis last month, it withdrew support from the movement.

Without legislation, it is said, the uniform adoption of the longer course cannot
