FARMERS' PICNIC

The farmers' picnic, held at Hunter's park Saturday, was pronounced a decided success.

So well pleased were all over the day's delightful outing that it was proposed to organize and establish it as an annual event.

Our rural friends will anxiously prepare for this event next year, after bearing in mind the grand time they experienced this year.

Hunter's park seems to have been settled upon, or at least favorably talked of, as the place for holding the next year's picnic.

The final conference between Senator Penrose and the trades-unions that have protested against employing non-union workers on the Capitol at Harrisburg, has ended in a complete rupture and the American Federation and affiliated bodies have begun a hot campaign against "the party in power."

A LITTLE DIFFERENT NOW.

There is plenty of evidence that we are living in an age of style. Display is what is now most required, whether it be a private demonstration or a public function, a wedding or a funeral, the dedication of a church, or the commencement at an educational institution.

Our pledge of independence to Cuba made peace and harmony, but Secretary Taft warns the American people that a pledge of independence to the Philippines would be followed by tumult and war.

WORK ON MILL STREET.

All along the thoroughfare, from the Montour house to the D., L. & W. Ry. crossing, you will find things "up-side-down-side."

It appears privileges have been granted the street-paving contractor, by our borough officials, that would have received no recognition by any other city, and the same have been eagerly grasped and are being worked—we almost said to advantage.

Our merchants are entitled to better protection. Their trade is damaged and how soon will it again be satisfactorily adjusted is the question.

SO GAY!

No accusation is commoner among intimates than that of spreading gloom. Each member of a family privately feels how cheery he or she would be if only the others would make an effort to be cheerful too.

THEY DO IT ALL.

Well, Mr. Roosevelt has accepted the nomination for President on the Republican ticket. His letter of acceptance covered an entire page of a large newspaper, and the most striking thing about it is its utter lack of Rooseveltian rampognousness, a lack so marked and so remarkable that it leads some to speculate as to the real authorship of portions of the document, which are certainly not in the tone and style of the rampagnous Roosevelt, although they are the very portions where he might have been expected to prance and paw the air in his most picturesque style.

Consider the Panama paragraph, for example. There is nothing but a mild mannered defense of the prompt recognition of the republic of Panama as an act well within the rights of the executive, and fully warranted by both justice and expediency.

He cannot suppose that the situation was so dimly viewed at the time, or is now so nearly forgotten that people will be ready to believe that our armed menace of helpless little Columbia, forbidding her to suppress the revolt of her own state, was a polite and perfectly legitimate proceeding towards a friendly nation, with due regard to international law.

No, he could not suppose the people so forgetful of events so recent and perfectly clear, so thoroughly in Roosevelt's spirit; and his natural impulse must have been to rectify them gleefully and stand by them manfully, with a "There you have me. That's my policy. That's what I mean by treading softly and carrying a big stick! If you want a waning thing, go and take it. Any other course is troublesome."

The President has evidently suppressed his natural impulses, all through his letter, and particularly at the points where he would have pranced.

He is strongly impressed, without doubt, by the evidence of a revolt of public opinion against his strenuous and needless methods, as illustrated at Panama, and decides to remove the impression that he is inclined to violent methods, and may lead us into more Panama adventures.

THE "MADE-UP" WOMAN.

A very pretty subject for discussion has been opened up by the assertion of a lady novelist that the made-up woman invariably reigns supreme despite the rulings of moralists and the prevalent superstition that the sweet, gentle woman who is neat in her dress and nothing more is really man's ideal.

Certainly clothes alone will not give a plain or an unpleasant woman the advantage over one whose wardrobe is demode, if the latter have beauty and grace, for it is possible to recall many instances where the family governess or the vicar's daughter has scored over a veritable bevy of faultlessly dressed women. Still, on the whole perhaps it is safer for every woman to make the best effort she can to enhance such charms as she may possess and to simulate them as artistically as she can when nature has not been liberal.

Republicans in Indiana are lying in ambush for Bryan and declare that they will make it hot for him when he mounts the Hoosier stump. This temperature is to be caused, they think, by asking him questions about silver, and Parker and the Commoner. These expectations are evidently entertained only by yoels who have never seen Billy Bryan on his feet in the presence of an audience.

REMEMBER, WE ARE DEMOCRATIC.

The task of editing a newspaper is not what many persons believe it to be. You can't please everybody all the time. It matters not how truthful you may be in your articles there is room for complaint, it appears, for many. To the inconsistent and false the truth hurts the most. We try our best to please the greatest number of persons, and dwell with articles in such a manner as we believe will do the greatest good to the greatest number.

It must be remembered by our Republican friends that while we are not only a staunch Democrat ourselves, we are running a representative Democratic paper. We do not resort to "mud slinging" and refrain, to a great extent, from being personal, yet, in our carefulness to not misrepresent, we find it a most difficult job to even handle political matter judiciously, for we are in touch with some political friends of the opposite party that are entirely too sensitive. They must not be so hasty as to misjudge us, remembering that we are Democratic, both our self and newspaper.

Senator Fairbanks weeps great salt tears when speaking of the decadence of American shipping. But as this branch of industry, by the unanimous testimony of ship-owners, pays only about one per cent on the investment, the long-tongued statesman might well shed tears because we have so much.

CHEAP WORLD-POSTAGE BLOCKED.

The American proposition of a universal letter-postage rate of two cents will fail of adoption at the coming Postal Congress. The French delegates will oppose it, our cable dispatches say, because they think it would be absurd to send a letter from Paris to Chicago cheaper than to a Paris suburb.

Quite true; it would be absurd. But the way to prevent such an absurdity is not to block cheap foreign postage but to reduce the French domestic rate. Nothing keeps it at its present burdensome height except the curse of militarism and those empty dreams of "glory" which so heavily tax the resources which France needs for peaceful development.

If the United States prefers retaliation to reciprocity, Canada announces that it has learned the trick of building Chinese walls also. If we can penalize raw materials from Canada, Canada can penalize our manufactures. And verily our need is greater than hers.

"THE DEMOCRATIC HOPE"

Written for Public Ledger by HON. CARTER H. HARRISON, Mayor of Chicago.

While all prophecies are more or less in the nature of guesses, and any conjecture liable to go astray, the prospect for Democratic success in the coming election is good.

The personality of the candidates, a question which has always entered into every political campaign, has already been largely dealt upon by the press and by political speakers. A careful analysis of the characters of the two men will show them to be the most exact opposites of one another.

The opportunity offered the Democrats in this campaign, both as to candidate and principles, is excellent. The Democrats are united to-day as they have not been for many years. The selection of Mr. Taggart as Chairman of the Campaign Committee was a wise and judicious one.

There remarkable threat in the Republican platform, embodied in the plank proposing the disfranchisement of the Southern white, will not only solidify the entire South, including Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland, but it will have a wide-reaching effect, in my opinion, on voters at large.

The President's predecessor handled the intricate and perilous race question with wisdom and judgment. The present administration has gone about it with infantile recklessness of a child who plays with matches in close proximity to a barrel of gunpowder.

ALTON B. PARKER SAYS:

"I Read the NEW YORK WORLD Every Day."

THE WORLD Elected Cleveland.

"It may be said without reservation that if the Democratic party in my first campaign had lacked the forceful and potent advocacy of Democratic principles at that time by the NEW YORK WORLD the result might have been reversed."

Bryan on THE WORLD.

"THE WORLD never during the last twenty years considered itself a party paper. It promised to spread truly Democratic principles and truly Democratic ideas, and it has done so, and will do so, with entire independence of bosses, machines and platforms, following only the dictates of its conscience."

New York World

Send us $1 for THE WORLD and you will receive THE WORLD Every Weekday for FOUR MONTHS from the day your subscription is received, including every day of the Presidential Campaign, or take advantage of our club offer made below.

Both Sides of the Great Political Battle Fully and Fairly Given. FIRST NEWS! BEST NEWS!

THE WORLD IN THIS PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

"THE WORLD, as the 'Chief Champion in America of Democratic Ideas,' will be the most interesting newspaper in the country in this Presidential campaign.

It will tell everything that is done or said to the public by both Presidential candidates every day until after the election.

Its editorial page will—as it always has—support Democratic platforms and Democratic leaders when they are right. It will not support—and it never has supported—them when they desert true Democratic principles and put themselves in the wrong.

It is on these lines that the battle must be fought. The divergence is sharp and clear. On one side are corporate might, the spirit of adventure, millions and yet more millions for army and navy, and a dangerous foreign policy. On the other side are equal opportunity for all, the free development of the individual, a just observance of the rights of others, and honesty and moderation in the public expenditures.

We will send the Danville Intelligencer and the MORNING WORLD every weekday for four months for $1.00; Regular price, $2.35. This is a splendid clubbing offer. The New York World is America's greatest newspaper.

Sample copies of The World supplied free on application. Every subscription will be for the DAILY Morning World for FOUR months from the date it begins.

record are beyond reproach, with a platform which stands for the essential principles of Democracy, with a party united in every section of the country and in every particular, I believe that the prospect of a Democratic President in the White House is exceedingly bright.

Is the Republican Party "Clean?" Discussing an article from the pen of President Roosevelt's intimate friend William Allen White, in McClure's, on Roosevelt and the Postal Frauds, the N. Y. Times, in its issue of August 28th, quotes therefrom the statement that Congressmen and Senators went storming the White House in behalf of Machen and Green.

Commenting upon this particular statement of fact the Times very pointedly remarks: "We do not see where, except at the White House, it was learned that Congressmen and Senators came storming there in behalf of one hoodlum, or that the two Senators from New York and every prominent Republican in the State begged for mercy," and then "threatened President Roosevelt for allowing the indictment of another. We should like to know what Senator Platt, Senator Dewey, and Chairman Odell have to say to such a degrading accusation, made with the inevitable implication of authority from the President himself."

"If this is a correct picture of the demoralization of the Republicans in high places, would it not be well to change the party in power, and to place in the White House a President to whom the Senators and Congressmen of that party would not venture to address either supplications or threats in behalf of public thieves?"

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.
