Bloomsburg fair week.

Hunting season opens Saturday.

The leaves are covering the ground plentifully now.

Chicken thieves are at work on East Mahoning street.

It is these are the melancholy days, let joy be unconfined.

Peaches are becoming smaller and will soon disappear.

One set of boilers at the Water Works is being repaired.

The Martin grocery has a fine new delivery wagon on the streets.

Rain interfered with all work on the new bridge piers yesterday.

Making cider and boiling apple butter is quite a business at present.

The weather man promises something good for the immediate future.

Take notice that the Indian summer is putting on its red and yellow paint.

Harry E. Johns has accepted a position with the Danville and Bloomsburg Trolley Company as engineer at the power house at Grovatoia.

Nearly one hundred applications for divorce on the grounds of alleged desertion and intolerable treatment, are now in the hands of Pottsville lawyers.

Charles M. Lester, of Point township Northumberland county, is not only a successful all around farmer, but he is noted as an apple producer. The yield from his apple orchard this year is 4000 bushels.

Judge Bittenger, of York, Wednesday rendered the following decision: A man's home for voting purposes is where his wife lives and where he sleeps, no matter where he pays his taxes, where he works or where he eats.

The Brooklyn base ball team will come to Shubury next Monday, Oct. 17, to play a game with a picked nine of professional ball players. The Brooklyn team is one of the National league. It will be a big game and a fine show for the base ball sport.

Ex-president Grover Cleveland will address meeting of Business Men's Parker and Davis Association which will be held in Carnegie Hall, New York, on the night of October 21. This will probably be his only appearance during the campaign.

Say all they can the Republican campaign orators cannot destroy the popular conviction that ex-Senator Davis said in his letter of acceptance, "the extravagance in the conduct of the government is greater now than at any time in the history of the country."

Joseph Smith, a Poland, found Thursday morning that killing game out of season is not in the least a paying practice and his newly acquired knowledge he owes to the watchfulness of the game wardens. Smith was arrested in the woods back of Sugar Notch by the game wardens and was taken before Squire Masterson for a hearing. The charge against him was that he had killed one robin and the Squire, after hearing the evidence, fixed the fine at $10 and costs.

Agent Wilson, of the Municipal League, went into court Monday afternoon and asked that the licenses of twenty-one hotel keepers of Scranton and the immediate vicinity be revoked because of Sunday liquor sales. Two men on the list were among those who put up $140 of the $5000 raised to prosecute all who sold liquor illegally in the county. They are Martin Flaherty and James J. Gallagher. Some of the men proceeded against figure prominently in the politics of the county and they will make a strong fight to prove that a mistake has been made.

A very bad accident occurred at the Milton fair Thursday which will illustrate the danger that people are exposed to and the care that is necessary in crowds of that kind where foot people, horses and vehicles are moving around together. The unfortunate lady was Mrs. Cyrus Taylor, of McWansville. She was run down and driven over by a gentleman from Turbotville who was driving in a buggy. The shaft struck her in the mouth and tore her face open, exposing the jaw on the right side. The injured woman was promptly removed to the office of Dr. Davis, who with Dr. Emerick directed the injury, which required twenty-seven stitches.

West Conshohocken Town Council

has adopted an ordinance fixing the rate of speed of automobiles in the borough at eight miles an hour, and providing a penalty of from $10 to $50 fine for its violation.

Truth is the grand motor-power which, like a giant engine, has rolled the car of civilization out from the maze of antiquity, where it now waits to be freighted with the precious fruits of living genius.

The residence of Mrs. John C. Hager, of Lancaster, was robbed of jewelry worth more than $1000 last August, and now, through the arrest of three men at Easton, nearly all has been recovered in New York.

Thomas Hart, a teamster, of 107 Tasker street, Philadelphia, died at the Chester Hospital Sunday morning from the effects of injuries received when struck by a trolley car on the Southwestern line Saturday night.

The Sultan of Johore has been creating a sensation in London, riding in a motor car gilded with gorgeous crests and coats of arms. He has a wonderful set of teeth—all his own—each of the front ones having a diamond set in it, encircled with gold.

The Czars own one hundred palaces and chateaux scattered all over Russia. It takes about 25,000 men servants to care for them, and their salaries amount to $4,000,000 a year. In the stables are more than 5,000 horses. Sixty-two of those royal residences the Czars has never seen.

John Neugi shot and killed Francisco Ambrosky in a drunken row following a christening at Pimbleton Sunday. He also shot a friend of the murdered man who was coming to the rescue. Francisco's brother, Dominick, attacked Neugi with a club, beating him severely. Neugi is now in jail.

To avoid the annual destruction to bridges by freshets, the officials of Shuburkill County, with the township and municipal authorities, will have iron and steel fenders built about the piers to prevent ice gorges. This action will save much damage to collieries property from floods due to back water.

While workmen were opening a coal mine on a farm in Amwell Township, Pa., Monday, they opened up a vein of mineral which, when tested, proved to be gold. The mine was closed and preparations are being made for prospecting extensively. The find has created excitement among local owners.

While playing on a vacant lot known as "The Swamp," in York, Pa., on Monday, boys found the skull of a man. After taking out the skull the boys dug down and pulled out several bones. It is supposed that at some time a murder was committed in that section of the town and the victim was buried by the slayers. There never was a burying ground in that section.

While Deputy Sheriff Mervine and District Attorney Gearhart were transacting business in the office of Prothonotary Shafer, at Stroudsburg on Monday, William Ransburger, alias Double Dealer, a prisoner confined in the county jail, was seen by the officials running out the front door of the jail and escaped. Ransburger was scrubbing the floor by order of the Deputy Sheriff. Two charges are pending against him.

John Seigle Sunday entered the office of the paymaster at the Laurel line tunnel, Scranton, pointed a revolver at his head and demanded all the money that he had in his possession. The paymaster did not move, and Seigle laid his revolver down to pick up some money nearby. As quick as a flash the revolver was hurled one way and Seigle another by the paymaster, after which the police were summoned and the man arrested and jailed.

Wednesday, Oct. 26, '04, Peter Cy and Richard B. Moser, executors of the estate of Frederic Moser, deceased late of Valley twp. this county, will sell the real estate and personal property of the said decedent at 10 o'clock a. m. The farm contains 80 acres, has a good hotel stand and dwelling and outbuildings erected thereon. A horse, 2 cows, 2 heifers, 2 sows, 6 shots, farm implements and household goods. McClellan Diehl, Auctioneer.

Burglars early Monday morning attempted to rob the residence of Mrs. Patrick Dunn, of Pottsville, doubtless knowing that she had $400 in the house, which she recently received from a relief association. Mrs. Dunn, who is a cripple, sleeps downstairs, and about 2 o'clock she heard the robbers boring holes in the kitchen door. First securing the money from his hiding place in an old lounge, she crept upstairs, and raising a window, alarmed the neighbors. The robbers were frightened off.

Twenty Italians employed at the Pimbleton stone quarries, fifteen miles west of Huntingdon, engaged in a general riot Sunday afternoon over a dispute as to the distribution of whisky. Two of the combatants were shot and killed, while another, who is now in jail and who fired the first fatal shot, cannot live over night, on account of a fractured skull and internal injuries. Another of the combatants, who is alleged, fired the second fatal shot, is now in jail, and several others, who were arrested late in the afternoon, were taken to jail.

Walter Lambouski, of New Philadelphia, a small town near Pottsville, while playing football Sunday afternoon had his skull fractured by a player of great weight stepping on his head while he lay sprawling on the ground. At the same time his brother William, two miles away, was tempted by the Indian summer weather to go in swimming. While taking a dive he struck his head against a rock, fracturing his skull almost in the same place as his brother. Both boys are in a serious condition.

ARE DEER PLENTIFUL?

Some Old Hunters Ridicule the Idea that They are Numerous.

Here and there an old hunter who keeps in touch with the game situation ridicules the idea that deer are unusually plentiful this year. One of these, in the columns of an exchange expresses himself as follows:

"It is surprising to hear the stories in circulation about game being plentiful. One says he saw deer cross the road here or there, another that they are destroying his buckwheat, and another who drove them out of his barn, and so on. No doubt if it was known some of these men talk such stuff and fire shots at deer to scare them away, are only baiting them to stay around so that they can get the first shot after the season is in. We know deer are scarce. There are many hunters that hunt the whole season and do not even get a shot at or see a deer, so all such stories of deer or other game being plentiful are without much foundation in fact.

AN OLD HUNTER."

LO! THE FAD OF THE PURITAN MAD

Despite the Tradition of Her Race She Now Rots Cigarettes for Her Amusements.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 12.—Yes, the very latest and effete society fads has struck Worcester. It is called the proper thing now for a young woman of a certain set, when her masculine friends call on her, to roll them cigarettes during the evening, as many as they care to smoke.

Some of the young women have already laid in a stock of monogram cigarette papers. The popular shade just at present is a delicately tinged yellow paper. No special brand of smoking tobacco has yet been decreed.

With deft fingers a young woman may now roll a cigarette on her knee, send it with or without a kiss and prefer it, bending low, to her lover. He will take the yellow-tinted dream-maker between his lips, and extend his chin for her to light it for him. In the warm glow of the flaring match their two responsive hearts will beat as one. Thus has descended the demure and puritanical maiden of New England.

STATES OLDEST DEMOCRAT

John Emminger Again Chosen Sergeant-at-Arms of Club.

Harrisburg, Oct. 9.—John Emminger, 92 years old, probably the oldest Democrat in this State, was elected sergeant-at-arms of the reorganized Central Democratic Club last night. Emminger is a member of the election board in the precinct in which he resides. Other officers elected are H. E. Hershey, president; Mayor Ely, vice president; Penn L. Throne, secretary, and Maurice Emminger, treasurer. The club will take an active part in the fight for reform in this city and county.

Apple Tree 87 Years Old.

Of the several hundred residents in Conyngham, Luzerne county, there are but three people living who were born in the place. Hon. George W. Apple Tree, 74 years; his sister, Mrs. Mary Bowman, 84 years; Mrs. Daniel Weaver, nee Minnick. The oldest house in town is the one occupied by Mrs. Bowman, which Mr. Drum places at about ninety years, and he has the records to show that the large apple tree in front of the house was planted there 87 years ago. He remembered distinctly, when a small boy, of his parents speaking of the tree, it having been planted the day his oldest sister was born by some neighbors who called at the home and said: "We will plant this apple tree for the new tot." As far back as he can remember the tree bore apples and this year it was laden with fruit.

MOORESBURG ITEMS.

Miss Nellie Stahl returned home Monday, after a pleasant visit with friends at White Deer, Pa.

Miss Estella Britzenhoff, of White Deer, Pa., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chas. Stahl.

Miss Jean Curry spent Sunday at Pottsville with her sister, Mrs. Chas. McMalan.

Mrs. John Bondeman, after a lingering illness of several months, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hefflinger, at Milton. The funeral was held Monday at Milton, interment being made at Northumberland.

There will be preaching services at the Presbyterian church of this place on Sunday, Oct. 16th, at 3 P. M.

The Cider Press here is kept busy two days a week, apples being plentiful.

Mrs. E. Gregory has returned to her home at Lansdale, Pa., after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vincent.

Lost Eye in Odd Way.

Stockton, Cal., October 9.—Charles Dietz was brought to this city today to have an eye removed as the result of a remarkable accident. Dietz set a candle against a wooden wall and then fell asleep. In the meantime the wall burned through and some of the burning wood fell into a box of pistol cartridges on the other side. One was exploded and the ball came through the wall, entering the sleeper's eye and coming out at the neck. He put out the fire, walked to San Andreas and was then brought to this city.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD NEWS

Bishop Nicholson Favors Unique Theory of Its Derivation.

"News? I haven't any news," said Bishop Isaac Lea Nicholson with the characteristic smile which almost took the sting of disappointment from his remarks to the eager representative of the hungry press, says the Chicago Record. "I am one of the men who do not make news. At least, I do not want to make any, and I sometimes think it would be a good thing if there were none in any of our churches.

"By the way, do you know the real origin of the word 'news'? I learned two stories about the derivation of the word while I was attending college and I have often wondered which one was really correct. Of course, I heard the usual explanation that it was derived from the Latin 'novus,' which means new, and I really suppose this is true.

"The bishop who was my instructor in philology always insisted, however, in the theory that some enterprising genius had just taken the initial letters of the cardinal points of the compass and had thrown them together to form the word with which we are all so familiar. I am sometimes inclined to believe he was right, for the north, east, south and west are all represented by the four letters, and the newsgatherers are certainly sent to all points of the compass in the discharge of their daily duties."

The November "Smart Set."

There are thirty-eight signed contributions in the November Smart Set, and no magazine can offer a greater variety of stories and poems; certainly no standard is higher. The novelette which opens the issue is called "The Surrender," and is written by J. H. Tweels, Jr. It is a powerful study of divorce, presented with great insight and feeling. The scenes, many of which are dramatic in the extreme, are laid in Paris, and the author reveals an intimate knowledge of the French capital.

A timely essay by the distinguished dramatist, Clyde Fitch, entitled "The Play and the Public," will be widely read and discussed. Mr. Fitch writes from the inside, and everything he says on a dramatic subject is spoken almost ex cathedra.

In the long list of short stories it is difficult to choose any particular one which could be called "the best," for all are superlatively good. Gouverneur Morris' "The Honey-moon" will certainly stick in the memory of numerous readers. It is wonderfully photographic and strikingly original. In a different vein is George Horton's "The Office-Hunters," an amusing picture of political and social life in Washington. "Harmony Jack," by Grace MacGowan Cooke, is a breezy Western tale with plenty of the wholesome atmosphere of the plains. Viola Roseboro's "The Actress that Remembered" is a story of play folk, artistic and with an underlying note of pathos. "A Rose in Ice" is the story of a many newspaper reporter and a society girl, written in Herbert D. Ware's direct style. James Hancok's "The Evening" occupies only a little space, but it is as careful as one of Manassas's masterpieces. In addition to these tales there are others by such writers as Edna Kenton, Charles Battell Loomis, Virginia Woodward Colcord, Robert E. MacFarlane, Channing Pollock, W. J. Henderson and Arthur Drum. Twenty years; his sister, Mrs. Mary Bowman, 84 years; Mrs. Daniel Weaver, nee Minnick. The oldest house in town is the one occupied by Mrs. Bowman, which Mr. Drum places at about ninety years, and he has the records to show that the large apple tree in front of the house was planted there 87 years ago.
