OUR BEAUTIFUL' STORES.

The merchants in this city have never before made as elaborate preparations for the holiday sea son as they have this year. The stores are literally packed with suitable goods for holiday pres-ents whether the trend of the searcher for such wears is in the direction of utility or ornament. In fact it may be doubted if any of the stores in much larger cities are more completely equipped for the holiday trade than any one of a dozen in this city and that being the case it would be worse than folly for any Danville purchaser to go elsewhere for presents.

There could be nothing more beautiful than the store windows at this season of the year. Window decoration has developed into a fine art of the highest standard. In the blending of colors, the arrangement of exhibits and in all things which deserve attention in the exhibition of art treas ures the modern window decorat or is a master. Even if you don't the winows must be a delight to all and a valuable educational agent, especially to the young. No parents are just to themselves and their children if they do not always the control of the during this season take the entire families to see the stores.

There are various ways of manifesting civic pride. Zeal and effort in behalf of good government is probably the most conspicuous but we doubt if it is as effective as the patronage of home stores in the purchase of supplies Paved streets, public parks and delightful driveways have their part in the progress of a city, but they will go a short way if the merchants are behind the age. Enterprise, energy and good taste in the business life of the community is the surest passport to prosperity and Danville is in the front rank in those things.

T. R. in annual message said (A sweet domestic homily) "I think the man should earn the bread and feed and clothe the family. The mother, she should cook and sew Nor join the rude world's battling—Especially she shouldn't go Where loom and wheel are rattling. She should preserve an aspect grand which babes should learn to venerate; She shouldn't be a factory hand as I have said, at any rate." But if the father was a shirk, or drunk, and prone to stray from or drunk, and prone to stray from them Say, Teddy, wouldn't you have her work to keep the wolf away from them? Work? Would it Lighten her distress if she perchance had none of it? Or does your Excellency guess She labors for the fun of it?

The President knocked over a straight man in his message when he said it would be a "wicked thing for civiliz-ed powers to completely disarm." Has anybody proposed complete disarmament? And, anyhow, it is the weak and barbarous notions that have made war on the powerful nations during the last ten years?

Upon the desk of the late Senator Hoar at the opening of Congress was a bunch of white chrysanthemums as butter of write chrysantennums sent from Ohio by grandchildren of Tom Corwin, who dared the popular wrath in denouncing our war on Mexico as Mr. Hoar did in condemning our war on the Philippines.

Revivals Were Successful.

The revival meetings at St. Paul's M. E. church have closed. They had been in progress for several weeks under the leadership of the pastor, the Rev. S. B. Evans, and were one of the most successful held at that church in many years.

The attendance nightly was large, not only on the part of the membership, but on the part of members of other congregations and the public at large. While the pastor labored hard large. While the pastor labored hard in bringing about the result which followed, he had the earnest support and assistance of his people. Pulpit and pew worked together as a unit, and reaped a rich harvest in return for the efforts put forth. Much enthusiasm was aroused.

A spiritual awakening occurred, resulting in a revival that has not only benefited the church in which the series of meetings were held, but the cutire community. Penitents, having entire community. Fentients, having been convinced by the strong and earnest words of the pastor that they should change their manner of living, flocked to the altar and later professed conversion. During the course of the revival, thirty new members were add-

SCHUYLER.

Mr. EDITOR:—We are having a tase of winter just at present. On Saturday morning when the peaceful wickless of this community awoke and looked out of their windows, they saw the "beautiful" falling in flakes as fine as "boughten thread" which continued till toward evening, when the clouds broke away, the sun shone and the winds blew. The temperature began falling until Sunday morning, when the thermometer reached 10° below. Three and one half inches fell, but for sleighing purposes was no good. The dry dust raised with the sandy snow which will make excellent mud if we get warm good of conversation now, when several of a the house has water yet. It is becoming a serious matter to find a supply for stock and domestic purposes. Several wells in this neighborhood are entirely dry, some that have not been so for years. A number of farmers have been hauling water, with tanks and filled cisterns. Should present conditions continue there may be serious consequencer, as all the attreams are very low and continued cold weather will soon freeze them so did-then what? Growing grain suffered from the effects of the long if drought. It is now covered which may help it. There may be a "break up" during the holidays such as often occur at that period, which will improve matters and relieve the situation.

Last Thursday evening, Warrior SCHUYLER. county, a distance of 13 miles. Now multiply by 6 working days and the result is 78 miles in a week, which multiplied by 52 weeks, and we find 4,056 miles in a year. In seven years Mr. Vastine has traveled a disyears Mr. Vasane has traveled a interaction of 28,392 miles, or twice as far as Capt. Clark sailed the battle ship "Oregon" from Callao, Perue, dombling Cape Horn, and ariving at Santiago in time to engage in the destruction of Admiral Schevera's Spanish fleet. And again, did you ever struction of Admiral Schevera's Spanish fleet. And again, did you ever stop to think what the brilliant (?) Spanish said before Uncle Sam gave them that fatal knock-out blow? It was something like this: "The Yankees can't fight! They are hogs—too much engaged in making money!" Well, they went far short of the mark, for it took Admiral Schley but a few moments to knock the boasted, cruel Spaniards, hors du combat, teaching them a lesson they will not soon forget, to keep hands off the gallant tars on this side the great Atlantic.

Last Thursday evening, Warrior Run Lodge No. 645 I. O. O. F. held its 36 anniversary. There was a good attendance. Revs. Chas. Carll, F. O. Stem, and J. H. C. Manifold took part. The latter gentleman addressed the young men, showing them why they should be members of the organization, and setting forth the objects, purposes and principles of the order. Mr. A. F. Heller, a member of the Lodge, also delivered a fine address. This brother came from Sunbury expressly to speak and did not disappoint his hearers. Miss Cleora Froxell and Miss Leila Boyer recited appropriate pieces. Retreshments were then served and all used that period to have a good time and for general conversation. After which the orchestra treated the audience to music. The Lodge returns thanks to those who so kindly assisted in making the occasion so successful. The ice bridge between this city and the Pennsylvania railroad pumping station, above Riverside, is quite solid enough to bear the weight of a horse and wagon. Men, women and children cross and re-cross at all hours of the day, making the bridge a convenience even an improvement on the slow-going ferry boat. The rabbit hunting season closed on Thursday last for this section of the State. Among the Danville folks most successful was Harry Ritter, the principal compositor on the Intelligencer, who bagged 27 cotton tails, 14 grey squirrels and 6 quail. New Idea Woman's Magazine for

There are a great many good suggestions on what to wear in the New Idea and Woman's Magazine for January. For women, an article on 'Negligees' shows three graceful styles in wrappers and street graceful styles in wrappers and street graceful styles in wrappers and street graceful styles in wrappers and a fur sack such as are being worn across the water, and a bulletin from Paris describes a number of Parisin not well as the water, and a bulletin from Paris describes a number of Parisin not well as the water, and a bulletin from the reviacious way, while any woman the work of the water, and a bulletin from the capacity of an employee will feel a magazine. Mrs. Constance Fuller McInter discusses "The Bachelor Maid" in her vivacious way, while any woman the capacity of an employee will feel a responsive echo in reading Esperance Goodlove's "The Etiquetto of the Business Woman." "The Steerage" describes a weather-beaten barn, and Dr. Arthur W. Yale contributes a chat on "The Trained Nurse in Fact and Fiction." "A Question of Heirlooms" throws a new light on the subject of antique furniture. "Perdita" tells of adapting her versatile housekeeping to conditions in Paris, and three are three stories for grown-ups and three for little people.

Price of Turkeys

The near approach of Christmas has rought turkeys into prominence again and there is a great deal of curiosity

It is said that many turkeys are being shipped to this state from the West and that they will be sold to dealers for 13 cents per pound. Retailed in market the price will be a trifle above that figure, but it is not thought probable that turkeys Christmas will be as high in price as on Thanksgiving.
