CABLE DROPS IN THE RIVER

The river cable belonging to the United Telephone and Telegraph Company, met with an accident yesterday by which it was torn from its support and rent into several different pieces, destroying direct communication with Sunbury and Shamokin and cutting off the patrons of the system living in South Danville and Riverside.

The long cable was stretched across the river nearly a year ago. Supported at each shore on long poles planted high on the river bank the cable when new was very high above the water. To install it was quite a feat. It will be recalled that in stretching the cable it was necessary to send a man across the river with no other support than the thin messenger wire. He attracted an immense crowd as he seemed to hang in mid air some fifty feet above the water.

High as the cable was at first before many weeks it began to sag and continued to drop lower and lower until Monday when it was only a few feet above the water. As the river rose the cable touched the current and yesterday morning for a long distance it was completely under water.

In this position it was in great danger. A mass of ice or heavy piece of driftwood striking it would have broken it or wrenched it from its fastening and carried it down stream. To prevent such a contingency a crew of linemen were called out and an attempt was made to tighten the cable. Heavy rope and tackle were attached at the Danville end and while the crew applied their united strength to the rope something gave way on the opposite shore and the cable fell slack into the river.

An investigation showed that the second pole on the South side about one hundred feet back from the one bearing the main support gave way owing to the soft nature of the ground and was pulled by the weight of the assemblage of wires down to the river bank where, held by the wires that were still attached, it hung suspended from the top of the high pole that carried the cable.

The tag of war lay in the effort to raise the cable from the river. In accomplishing this the river bridge stood in good stead. The sidewalk as far as finished afforded a fine resting place for the linemen. Ropes were attached to the cable and by means of rope and tackle it was drawn up onto the bridge. The work required the greatest care and attention. Nearly all the wire was saved, although it was broken or cut into many different sections.

Among the wires that were destroyed will be made to re-establish the cable in its old position on the poles. Owing to the near completion of the bridge application will doubtless be made for permission to string the wires on that structure as was done when the old bridge stood.

Among the wires that were destroyed were all those leading to Riverside, the direct line to Sunbury and the direct line to Shamokin. While it is impossible to communicate with anyone in South Danville or Riverside it is still possible to talk to Sunbury and Shamokin by using the wire that extends around by Milton.

CONTRACTORS ON THE GROUNDS

Four car loads of material have arrived at South Danville for the flooring in the river bridge and work on that branch of the operation will no doubt begin in a few days.

The United States Wood Preserving Company has the contract for putting down the flooring or pavement, which is something entirely new in these parts. The flooring will consist of a substructure of concrete and another course of paving blocks. Caldwell, Barry & Leonard, who built the piers and abutments of the bridge, have the contract for putting down the concrete; John Ed. Foley of New York, will lay the paving blocks. Both Mr. Foley and representatives of the firm of Caldwell, Barry & Leonard, were in this city yesterday.

During an interview Mr. Foley stated that the contractors ready to begin work on the flooring. Four car loads of material, he said, had arrived and were at South Danville. Unfortunately, however, the bridge was not in such shape as to enable them to proceed at once. The bridge contractors have not yet completed the iron work, but he seemed to regard the unfinished condition of the Southern approach to the bridge as a worse obstacle. In Mr. Foley's opinion it would require but three or four days more to finish riveting down the abutment plates, while in view of the blocked condition and filling up required at the Southern abutment he would venture no opinion as to when things would be in such shape as to enable teams to pass in order that floor material could be delivered on the bridge. Mr. Foley returned to New York yesterday afternoon.

The County Commissioners state that they will see to it as far as they are able that work is pushed along on the Southern abutment as rapidly as possible. Contractor Ellis Bank is ready to begin work filling up the abutment, but owing to the accumulation of bridge material lying all about the approach it is impossible for him to get into the bridge with his teams. As soon as it suits the convenience of the bridge people to open a way he will begin work on filling up the abutment. As has been ordered and these will be delivered by the Pennsylvania Railroad at South Danville at any day. The Commissioners think that the abutment will be filled up so that teams can pass by the time that the bridge is ready for the flooring. If not, they claim, it will be an easy matter to construct a gangway at the abutment for temporary use.

Double Wedding Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Voris, of this city, yesterday rounded out fifty years of married life. They celebrated the event at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Voris at Northumberland, who were married on the same date. The day was full of enjoyment to those participating and revived in memory many incidents, many pleasant pictures of life that belonged to that epoch a half a century ago when those now old though with hearts none the less fond and loving, were just entering together upon the threshold of married life.

It proved to be the merriest occasion that Elijah C. Voris of Danville and his brother William of Northumberland were united in matrimony on the same day. There was nothing prearranged about it and although the two couples took their wedding trip together the two brides had never met until stepping upon the train after the ceremony.

Mrs. E. C. Voris before marriage was Miss Julia Troxell, daughter of Benjamin Troxell of Chillisnoque township, Northumberland county. The wedding took place at the home of the bride on March 21, 1855. Rev. Samuel Barter, later Ersking Elder of this district officiating.

William Voris was married in Danville, his wife before marriage being Miss Letitia Zuber, of this city, daughter of Captain Zuber, deceased for some years. Mr. and Mrs. Voris have spent their entire married life in Northumberland, where Mr. Voris conducts the blacksmithing business.

There was nothing whatever elaborate about the celebration yesterday. Charles E. Voris as the only surviving child accompanied his parents to Northumberland. Mr. and Mrs. William Gray of Williamsport, Mrs. James Minier, of Birmingham, Ala., and John E. Voris who resides with his parents at Northumberland were also present at the reunion. Mrs. Maria Kling of Lewisburg, who was bridesmaid to Mrs. William Voris fifty years ago, was one of the honored guests.

ARBOR DAY IN THE SCHOOLS

Proposals of the proclamation of Governor Pennypacker designating April 14th and 28th as Spring Arbor days are marked upon the apparent lack of any practical observance of the day in Danville. He recalls the time, fifteen to twenty years ago, when arbor day meant a good deal of work not only for teacher and pupils, but also for the school directors. While the two former were arranging programs and rehearsing for the event it devolved upon the school board to procure the trees, and to have a place prepared for planting them, which involved not only the digging of the holes but also the cutting of fertile soil to the spot in which to embed the tender roots. Arbor day itself was to all intents and purposes a holiday in school. All the grades participated in the exercises. There was always an address bearing on forestry and the deplorable results following the destruction of forests, while not the least interesting feature of the program was the actual planting of the trees, the work of which to the smallest detail was done by the pupils under the supervision of the principal or one of the directors. A program of recitation and singing, appropriate to the matter in hand was rendered by the boys and girls beginning in the school room and ending on the grounds outside where the gladness and shout of children's voices were more likely an appropriate song kept time to the shovels of earth as they rained down upon the roots of the trees being planted. Similar scenes at the same hour were being enacted at each of the four school buildings in the borough. Very many of our men and women approaching middle life today, recall the old-time Arbor Days.

In the aggregate scores of trees were planted on the school properties alone and it is a reflection either upon the care accorded the growing shade trees or the lack of adaptability on the part of the soil, more probably the latter, that scarcely one of the trees planted at the present time. The latter fact is held responsible for the change in the manner of the day's observance in Danville. It is a fact, it is said, that each of the school buildings occupy sites where an immense amount of filling up was required at one time or another, either of gravel being employed in large quantities. Planting of trees on Arbor Day, whatever might be said of its value as an object lesson, or as a source of inspiration to the pupils so far as securing any immediate or practical results in forestry is concerned, became a sheer waste of time. Actual tree planting, therefore, has been eliminated from Arbor Day observance in Danville. Upon inquiry, however, it is learned that traditions are kept up by the rendering of programmes appropriate to the event in nearly all of the rooms, which keeps the pupils in touch with Arbor Day, and imparts instruction on the value of tree planting and the importance of preserving our forests.

Former Resident Heard From. Three Rivers, March 20, 1905. Editor Intelligencer—I will drop a few lines that my old friends in Montour county may hear from me. We have had a fine winter here. It was not very cold except for a few days. We have a great deal of snow. At the present time the sleighing is about all gone in the city but in the country districts there is plenty of snow and good sleighing. The winter grain looked fine last November, but little of it can be seen yet by reason of the snow.

Michigan is great for corn and potatoes. It is noted also for fruit of various kinds. Three Rivers is a city of the fourth class, having a population of 3913. We have a high school building and this season will build a $20,000 school building; also a flooring mill of 100 barrels daily capacity as well as a number of dwelling houses. The Sheffield Car Company will enlarge its plant. It employs about 400 hands at present. There are two Robt Tanning Plants, Brass Foundry, Globe Factory and Carriage Works.

Disclosed please find one year's subscription to your paper. I do not get along without it, as it keeps me up to date on what the good people of grand old Montour are doing. E. V. FLICK.

An excellent dinner was served. Those present were: Edward White, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Leslie H. White and daughters Mary and Lizzie and son Edward, Mr. and Mrs. John Mack and son Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parsell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. White, John White, Mr. Margaret E. Sechler, Mrs. A. M. Schenk, and Norman Kram. The management of the Danville Basket Ball Team received a letter from the Philadelphia Deaf A. O. yesterday signifying their intention of playing in this city next Friday and Saturday evenings. The local management guarantees that the notes will play these games as scheduled, and anyone not satisfied with the exhibition may have their money refunded for the asking. The line-up will be announced later. FRANK EDMONDSON, Mgr.

Painfully Injured. Walter Metler, an employe at Curry & Company's machine shops was painfully injured yesterday. Mr. Metler was handling a heavy casting on one of the cranes, when the retaining chains slipped, causing the iron to fall on his left foot. Had the full force of the casting, which weighed about 350 pounds, struck him he would not doubt have been more seriously. The piece, however, struck glancingly, tearing the flesh but not breaking any bones.

Preliminary Inspection. Pursuant to instructions from regimental headquarters a preliminary inspection of Company F, N. G. P., will be held at the Army camp Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Men will wear blue uniforms, blue flannel shirts, caps, waist belts and white gaiters. Members will report at 7:30 sharp for instructions before the inspection.

FERRY SERVICE SOON TO RESUME

Now that the ice from the headwaters of the North Branch has made a start on its journey to the Chesapeake and since the greater part of it has passed Danville on its Journey South as soon as the river falls a few feet there will be nothing to prevent a resumption of ferry service.

There are a large number of people on each side of the river who are very anxious to see the ferry in commission. It is true foot people are permitted to cross the bridge, but this only fills the bill in part. Taking the traveling public into account, it matters but little to a man that he is permitted to walk over the bridge if there is no way of getting his luggage over the river. Neither does the unfinished bridge avail much to the large number of farmers on the opposite side of the river whose products help to replenish our stores and whose trade contributes a big item to our town's prosperity. So long as these farmers are unable to bring their load of wagons across the river the more privilege of walking across the bridge does not count for much.

Not only would the ferry if put into commission accommodate the classes above enumerated but its service would be highly appreciated by our own townspeople, such as physicians who would be enabled to respond promptly to calls in Rush and Gearhart townships and others who would be enabled to receive goods and express from South Danville.

In view of the above facts the public does not anticipate much delay in launching the ferry. It was the general opinion yesterday that the County Commissioners are missing a fine opportunity by not launching the flat boat during the freshet, while the water is at its height. With a very slight effort at present the big flat could be slid into the water, whereas if the river is permitted to fall near low water mark the boat can only be launched at the expense of much labor and attendant cost. In all probability the boat will not be calking and other repairs so that at best there will be delay. Not a day therefore, should be lost. The County Commissioners no doubt will take the proper view of things and launch the ferry at once.

Boys' Bible Class. The regular monthly reception of the Thomas Beaver Boys' Bible Class of the Y. M. C. A. was held in Association Hall last night, with an attendance of over 200 persons. Of this number 150 were members of the class. The program was under the direction of Miss Gussie Bruder and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, with Mrs. Emma McHenry as accompanist. The singing of the boys was, as usual, a feature of the occasion. This was followed by Scripture reading and prayer.

The program, which was particularly fine and well rendered was as follows: Piano Solo..... Miss Edith Jenkins; Vocal Solo..... Master Harry Latimore accompanied by Mrs. Latimore; Vocal Solo..... Miss Emma Gearhart, accompanied by Miss Ruth Gearhart; Recitation..... Miss Paugh; Piano Solo..... Harry Peters; Vocal Solo..... Miss Hughes, accompanied by Miss Emma Gearhart; Vocal Duet..... Misses Ruth Kase and Margaret Byerly, accompanied by Miss Hattie Kase; Song..... Children from Miss Lovett's school, Anna Ricketts, Marion Lunger, Jessie Rodierick, Ruth Yeager and Laura Hughes.

Quail Nearly All Dead. The sportmen of this vicinity have experienced bad luck with the consignments of young quail that arrived in this city about the first of January, and which were to have been liberated early in the Spring. Of the 243 birds that were sent to Danville at that time only seven are now alive.

Many of the quail were dead when they reached this city. The remainder of the consignments received the best of care, but notwithstanding the efforts made to keep them alive, they died away in their captivity and in the end. The birds received at the beginning of the year were, however, only a part of the order. Subscriptions were raised to purchase 80 dozen quail. The remainder will be shipped during this week, and the birds will be liberated as soon as they arrive. Notice of their expected arrival in this city will be given later; so that the subscribers may call at the express office and obtain their quail.

Will Picnic at Rupert. The convention of the O. U. A. M., took place in Sunbury on Saturday to decide upon a place for holding the annual picnic this year. Local No. 167 of Danville was represented at the convention by Robert Farley, John Schank, Andrew Kram, H. T. Hess, J. A. and D. F. Deibert.

It was decided to hold the picnic at Rupert this year. The picnic is an annual event, which brings much pleasure to the members of the order and is always very largely attended. The towns included in this district are: Danville, Sunbury, Shamokin, Bloomsburg, Central, and Wapwallopen. The date for the picnic will be decided upon later. Pleasant Birthday Surprise. A very pleasant party was given Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Smith, Mill street, in honor of the 5th birthday anniversary of their grand daughter Evelyn Peace. The little one spent a most enjoyable afternoon with games and music. Refreshments were served. Those present were Misses Margaret and Dorothy Vincent, Dorothy and Alice Tooley, Helen and Harriett Foster, Margaret and Catherine Bottman, Mary Miles, Mary Rogers, Pauline Swintek, Louisa Reynolds, Jessie Hinshelwood, Marion Ellenbogen, Bessie Magill, Esther Jacobs and Mary Parcel. The Legislature will now have to push along the appropriation bills.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

At a regular meeting of the Ministerial Association of Danville and vicinity held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, Monday morning an Advisory Committee was formed auxiliary to the Pennsylvania Children's Home Society, a State institution taking in all denominations, which has for its object the care of homeless children.

The Advisory Committee was formed as follows: President—Rev. M. L. Shindel, D. D., Vice President, Rev. George E. Limbert, D. D.; Secretary, Rev. E. B. Dunn; Treasurer, Rev. William McCormack, D. D. The following lay representatives from the various churches were appointed on the Committee: St. Paul's M. E. church, Mrs. S. Y. Thompson; Shiloh Reformed church, Mrs. W. H. Orth; Grove Presbyterian church, Mrs. Edward S. Gearhart; Mahoning Presbyterian church, Mrs. J. E. Moore; Pine Street Lutheran church, Mrs. F. G. School; United Evangelical church, Mrs. J. M. Bradford; Trinity M. E. church, Mrs. S. F. Ricketts; Mansfield Reformed church, Miss Jennie M. Kindt; Riverside M. E. church, Mrs. Jesse Shannon; First Baptist church, Mrs. A. D. Myerly; Trinity Lutheran church, Mrs. A. O. Root; Christ Episcopal church, Mrs. T. J. Price.

The Pennsylvania Children's Home Society has nothing to do with the various orphanages or children's homes in the State, which while they accomplish a noble work, are little about them in common with the domestic life of a true home. The object of the Society in question is to find places for orphans or for children whose parents are unfit or unable to keep them in the homes of good Christian people. The missionary of this district is Rev. James Furrey, of Scranton, to whom the Advisory Committee appointed yesterday stands in close relationship and which will co-operate with him in finding homes for children.

Should a child in Danville or vicinity need a home it will devolve upon the Advisory Committee to present the matter to the District Missionary, who working through Advisory Committees elsewhere will find a suitable place for the dependent one. On the other hand should a family here desire to take an orphan or other child into their home the Advisory Committee will be expected to furnish reliable and necessary information as to the standing of the family, whether or not it is of good Christian character and such as could be expected to raise a child up in the way it should go.

Sure He Drew a Prize. J. G. Homet, the distillery gauger who advertised for a wife, and who, through the advertisement, obtained a wife in the person of a Philadelphia girl, says he thinks he has discovered a prize.

Mr. Homet's place of work is at the McHenry distillery, near Benton, but he is now temporarily staying at Forest Hill, near Lewisburg. A dispatch from Lewisburg, printed in a Philadelphia newspaper yesterday morning says: Jewet G. Homet, of the "Barkis" of Union County, is evidently well pleased with the result of his matrimonial advertisement. Although he failed to marry Miss Gertrude McCoy, of Bucks County, he still received offers of marriage. From the first lot of letters received, Homet read one, the contents of which so appealed to him that he decided that the girl should be made Mrs. Homet. The choice of the 58-year-old widower was Miss Mary Elizabeth Brooks, of Philadelphia.

Negotiations were at once opened, and on Tuesday, Homet met his future wife at Millinburg. The ceremony was performed the next day by Rev. V. T. Rue, of Millinburg, at the boarding house of the Homets at Forest Hill. When questioned yesterday Homet said that his three days of married life have proven that his bride possesses the qualifications enumerated in his advertisement. He said: "My wife is 21 years old. She has been for several years a stenographer and typewriter in the employ of a large manufacturing plant in the city of Philadelphia. She is an intelligent girl, of a cheerful disposition, and it is remarkable how she has adapted herself to her new home. "Considering that she is a bookkeeper, I feel that she will be a great help to me in my clerical work at McHenry's distillery, at Benton, Pa., where in a week or so, we will go to live." Mrs. Homet said: "I find Jewet an affectionate husband and a charming companion. Although he is 37 years my senior, I cannot help but love him."

Mrs. Homet refused to give her address in Philadelphia. In consideration of the fondness of Mr. Homet for Quaker City bread, and the refusal of his wife to name her former employer, it is thought by some that he may have married a professional baker in order to enjoy continually his favorite repast.

In Honor of Col. Freeze. On April 19th the bar association of the 26th Judicial district will tender a banquet in the Elks rooms, Bloomsburg, in honor of Col. John G. Freeze, who was rounded out years ago a member of the Columbia county bar.

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATED

One of the most enjoyable social events that has taken place in Danville for some time was held at the home of J. H. Montague, Grand street, Saturday evening, the occasion being the twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Montague.

About sixty guests, including many persons from a distance, were present. During the evening the Rev. S. B. Evans made an appropriate address, congratulating the couple, and wishing them many happy returns of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Montague wore the recipients of a large number of very handsome presents. An elaborate supper was served.

Those present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. John Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stricker and Mrs. Jennie Herr, of Milton; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lose, Mrs. Lucy Ficks and Miss Gertrude Handley, of Watsontown; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cooke, of Arroyo Station, and Mrs. William Kerschner, of Berwick. The guests from this city were: Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Switzer, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Switzer, and Mrs. John Lerner and son Marvin, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Smithers, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Swayze, Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Switzer, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. David Harin, Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbony, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. William Sechler, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Switzer, Mesdames Mary Handley, T. J. Swank, A. O. Root, A. Larson, H. T. Price, John Springer, Felix Monaghan, Mark Conley, Mary Freeze and U. Y. James; Misses Glendora McWilliams, Elizabeth Seidel, Mary Montague and May Montague; Messrs. D. H. Bond, Harry Titley, Frank and Edgar Montague, Harry E. Seidel and Arthur Freeze.

Tour to Pinehurst, N. C. Via Pennsylvania Railroad for the Golf Championship. For the benefit of those desiring to visit Pinehurst, N. C., during the great championship golf tournaments, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run a personally-conducted tour to this attractive mid-South resort, leaving New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, March 29, by special train. The rates for this tour, including railway transportation in both directions; Pullman berth and meals in dining car going trip only, and three days' board at the Hotel Carolina, will be New York, $32.00; Philadelphia, $30.00; Baltimore and Washington, $24.00. Proportionate rates from other points.

For tickets, itineraries, and other information apply to ticket agents or Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

"SOULS ON FIRE." The greatest serial story of the year by Louis Tracy, the famous author of "The Wings of the Morning" and "The Pillar of Light," will be exclusive to the readers of the color magazine given free with each copy of "The Philadelphia Press," beginning Sunday, March 26. The Sunday Magazine will be the only publication in America where this great story may be read. By special arrangement with Mr. Edward J. Glode, Mr. Tracy's American publisher, this story will appear in any other published form until next year.

England, Russia and America furnish the principal characters in this remarkable and timely story. Love and thrilling adventure is the theme, as in all of Mr. Tracy's most successful work. The action begins with a bomb thrown in London, an anarchist meeting in the Tottenham Court Road, some sensational disclosures in the Russian colony in England, and then shifts to the castle of a Russian provincial governor, or "Little Czar," whose subjects are in revolt at his instance.

The plot affords superb opportunity for brilliant display of the author's swift imagination and an almost equally interesting display of his intimate knowledge of Russian life of today. An effort will be made to have the court out of the eight stubborn councilmen of Luzerne Borough. Since the election the councilmen have been struggling in vain to organize but without result.

Because Tieling is so easy to pronounce so many people are wondering why it came to be so named. Let it pass. Our two policemen on Saturday discarded their winter caps and came out with their blue helmets on. This is taken as another sign that spring is near.
