LOVEST REARTS.

How old is the emblem of a lover's heart? In the days before metals were used weapons made of stone were formed by prehistoric men. Among the most notable of such ancient weapons are a number of beautifully chipped arrowheads which have been taken to be the work of fairles and have therefore been used as charms from very remote times. In Sectland they are called "elf bolts," and they are so shaped that when the central projection is broken off the semblance of a lover's heart remains.—London Answers.

Mr. EDITOR:—As our town has not been reported for some time, will give a few of the happenings.

Wheat sowing time is here, but no many of the farmers are ready tor it, as the heavy rains have kept them from their fields. A good many of the farmers are cutting their buckwheat, and they say it is going to be a good crop. Corn is looking fine, and is ripening very nicely. The potato crop is not so good on account of so many affected by rot. No doubt they will bring good prices before next spring. Apples are not as plenty as they were last year, but peaches are plentiful.

James Jarret is out again, after an any of the farmers are ready for it.

James Jarret is out again, after ar attack of typhoid fever.
