

CONSIDER THESE CASES

Notwithstanding the vigilance of the trust officer there is now and then a case which in the very nature of things he is unable to cope with. The trust not unusually combines along with the indolent heedless qualities that make a poor student of him an astute and crafty nature which makes him an adept in eluding the officer. There are cases, therefore, where the trust simply has the best of it and the records at school show up badly on that account.

When truants of this nature have parents or guardians, no matter how indifferent, there is some hope, as these people under threat of arrest can be induced to co-operate with the officer. But when it happens that the boys are without parents and there is no one responsible for them it is altogether another matter and whether they are at school or not depends upon whether they want to go or the trust officer is able to catch them in a daily chase about town and "terrify" adjacent thereto. Two of such pieces of human driftwood without any one directly responsible for them the officer has on his list at present and the boys go to school when they want to, which is seldom.

The question arises whether in such cases something should not be done that would be effectual in bringing the boys under restraint and prevent them from pursuing a course that will be sure to make vagabonds of them. Why does not someone upon whom such duties devolve take the boys in hand and if it is necessary to send them to some institution where they will have to obey the laws that govern other people, then let it be done. Under proper restraint there would at least be half a chance that the boys would develop into lawabiding and useful citizens.

Will Monopolize Court.

Mount Carmel will practically monopolize the attention of the judges and officials at the sessions of criminal court to begin at Sunbury the first Monday in May.

Mr. Carmel will have almost fifty cases, all developed since the term of court held in February.

The list includes cases representing almost every known crime, from malicious mischief, one of the lightest of the minor offenses, to murder, the worst of the major crimes. There is a manslaughter case, two of highway robbery, one of criminal malpractice, several of assault and battery, also some of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, a speakeasy case, and even a witchcraft case.

The latter case is one of the oddest known, and is quite a novelty for the present officials. It grows out of the defense to be made by Walter Heagy, now lodged in jail on a charge of burglarizing the Parsick home on Vine street, Mt. Carmel.

Heavy's friends allege that the prosecution against him was instituted because of "information" gleaned from the incantations of several fortune tellers. They claim that Mrs. Miller, of Ashland, and other alleged fortune tellers held seances at the Parsick home to discover the identity of the burglar, and that the "witches" said the guilty man was Heagy. No doubt the story will be vigorously denied, but nevertheless the case is interesting.

ONE MAN'S VIEWS.

A member of our board of trade and a practical business man Tuesday deplored that more is not being done to promote the growth and development of our town. Our present industries, all of which are booming, these prosperous times, he held, should see their way clear to expand, as a result of which our population would grow. The municipality should be carefully looked after in all its relations and he suggested that a taxpayers' association be formed as exists in many other places to see that there is no dereliction of duty on the part of those in office. A spirit of enterprise and of civic pride should be encouraged and this should extend to land owners in the immediate vicinity of town, whose property must rise or fall in value as Danville grows and prospers or stands still and retrogrades.

This suggested to the gentleman that while the residents of Columbia county are prospecting for all sorts of minerals and are actually finding some land owners in the vicinity of Danville seem to feel no curiosity to know what they lie under their farms. In these days when drilling has taken the place of slow and expensive methods in digging into the earth he thought there were few farmers who could not afford to do a little prospecting. Coal in some quantities is known to exist as near as Kipp's run and it is not beyond the range of probability that underlying this immediate vicinity are both oil and gas. It might be several hundred feet below, but the probability is that the outlay required to bore down in the end would be a pretty good investment.

CONTRACT WAS NOT AWARDED

Tuesday was the date set for the meeting of the trustees of the hospital for the insane for the purpose of opening and examining the bids for building the heat, light and power plant at which electricity is to be employed. The occasion brought some twenty experts to Danville, representatives of the parties bidding, but they were obliged to return home disappointed, as the contract was not awarded.

The trustees present at the meeting were: H. M. Schoch of Danville; Dr. B. H. Detwiler, of Wilkes-Barre; Dr. Shoemaker, of Williamsport; Dr. Connell, of Scranton; Howard Lyon, of Honesville; W. E. Shay, of Yorkton, and C. G. Van Allen, of Northumberland. Mr. Van Allen, who was recently appointed, met with the trustees for the first time Tuesday.

The session occupied all day. The trustees found themselves up against a very weighty proposition. The specifications are voluminous, while the proposition involving as it does electricity leaves a good many different points to be taken care of; but what seemed to occasion the greatest delay was the difference of opinion as to which of the two sites should be selected.

At the previous meeting held March 10th, Phillip H. Johnson, of Philadelphia, the architect, submitted two sets of plans and specifications for the heat, light and power plant, one on the site first selected at the coal dump just west of the hospital buildings and the other at the rear of the hospital taking in the present steam power plant, where the air compressor maintained in connection with the new filter system is installed. Both sets of plans and specifications were adopted by the trustees and bids were invited on both of them.

There were a dozen proposals on hand Tuesday and it was in examining these and considering other matters in connection with them that the time was largely spent. Each of the two sites has some features to recommend it. The principal objection to the site at the coal dump lies in the fact that there will be a loss in power owing to the distance from the main building, about a thousand feet. Those of the trustees who believed that the loss of power could be obviated saw many objections to the site at the rear of the hospital, which involves a rebuilding of the present boiler house—objections which they were not slow to urge. On the whole there were so many matters to consider that night arrived before the trustees were ready to award the contract and adjournment was agreed upon to reconvene at some date yet to be determined upon.

Representatives of the bidding firms, experts and others, numbering in all twenty or more appeared in Danville early in the day. Many sought interviews with local contractors anxious to get their views as to estimates for certain lines of work, etc., that they felt implied seeming to be that if they got the contract the local men would be in line for sub contracts.

Blue Print Ready.

The blue print relating to North Mill street, prepared by Borough Engineer Keefer, which failed to arrive in time for the regular meeting Friday night, was acted upon at a special meeting of council on Monday night. It was approved in all respects and delivered over into the hands of Borough Solicitor E. S. Gearhart, who will see that it gets to Harrisburg in due time.

The borough solicitor will make another trip to Harrisburg to hurry up affairs in the State highway department. Council has now decided to pave North Mill street along its entire length, provided aid comes from the State. It will be a fine improvement and will add much to the value of property in the northern end of town. The same change will occur that took place in the other portion of Mill street. The driveway will be made narrower, which will result in a corresponding widening of the sidewalks.

In addition to this a sewer will be laid along the east side of North Mill street from Center to Chambers street. The sewer will be of 8-inch terra cotta pipe to connect with each of the dwellings and from Mill and Centre streets it will be carried down to the rear of the armory, where it will connect with the northern terminus of the present sewer.

Danville Defeated.

Fresh from a conquering tour through the West, where they earned the title of champions of the United States, the Tamaqua basketball players came to Danville Monday evening and easily took the locals into camp.

It is doubtful if such brilliant basketball was ever seen in Danville as the Tamaqua boys put up at that time. The locals, too, were playing good ball, and made the champions work for each point. In the first part of the second half especially the Danville boys for a while out passed and out tossed Tamaqua, but the spurt soon passed off and the visitors once more started forging ahead. Fogarty, one of Tamaqua's forwards, that night won the distinction of making a record for goal throwing in one game, tossing 27 baskets. Score was 103-48.

The line-up.

Tamaqua	Danville.
Fogarty	forward	Bedeo
McNeill	forward	Welliver
O'Donnell	forward	Johnson
Mulliner	center	Sechler
Kinnikide	guard	Gilmore
Hough	guard	Russell

Goals from field:	Fogarty 27, Mulliner 2, O'Donnell 8, Hough 4, Johnson 7, Welliver 5, Sechler 4, Bedeo 2, Russell 2, Peters 2, Gilmore 1. Goals from fouls: Bedeo 2, O'Donnell 1.

Trains Taken Off.

On account of the mines being closed down two of the miners' trains on the Pennsylvania railroad plying between Shamokin and the collieries have been taken off and will not be replaced until the strike question is settled and operations resumed.

LEGAL CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

There are many inquiries as to what are legitimate election expenses under the corrupt practice act passed at the recent extra session of the legislature. The act defines them as follows:

1. For printing and traveling expenses and personal expenses incident thereto, stationery, advertising, postage, expressage, freight, telegraph, telephone and other public messenger service.
2. For dissemination of information to the public.
3. For political meetings, demonstrations and conventions and for the pay and transportation of speakers.
4. For the rent, maintenance and furnishing of offices.
5. For the payment of clerks, typewriters, stenographers, janitors and messengers actually employed.
6. For the employment of watchers at primary meetings and elections to the number allowed by law.
7. For the transportation of voters to and from the polls.
8. For legal expenses, bona fide, incurred in connection with any nomination or election.

These are the authorized expenditures. Candidates or treasurers of political committees are forbidden to pay, lend, give or lend, agree to pay, give or lend either directly or indirectly, by any money or other valuable thing for any nomination or election expenses, whether save as declared in these eight exceptions. Considerable latitude is allowed as may be seen. All the expenditures permitted are perfectly legitimate however. There are some things that both candidates and political committees must do, and there is no purpose in the new law to interfere with anything that may be proper to promote the interests of a candidate or party. The purpose is to prevent the corrupt use of money in politics, to prevent the purchase or support through bribery, either with money, or other valuable thing, such, for instance, as the promise of a future office. It puts in more definite form the principles of acts which have been in existence for many years.

The law provides for the treatment by which the candidate and the treasurer of the party committee must state under oath just how much money was spent and give the details of such expenditure. In fact the statement must be itemized, and the law rates very clearly what are legitimate expenses. Furthermore, every expense account incurred by a candidate for a state office must be filed with the secretary of the commonwealth, and candidates for other offices must file with the clerk of the court of quarter sessions.

Chief Clerk Bartho has now in course of preparation blanks to be sent to all candidates for state office, including senators and members of the house of representatives, and they must all file their accounts, which will be open to public inspection. These blanks will be forwarded to candidates from the department. Danville and those for county offices must be supplied by the county commissioners.

In New Quarters.

Adams & Company's express with William M. Seidler as agent has taken possession of its new quarters in the building adjoining the Baldy House, Mill street.

Electric light was put in the building Monday but all the furniture is not yet installed that is required to accommodate the business. It will be several days before the office will be fully equipped. Only one wagon is in use up to the present. Whether or not another wagon will be added will develop later.

The new quarters are probably not as convenient as Grone's book store, which has a rear door on the alley, through which the goods could be loaded and unloaded directly on and off the wagon. In the new quarters the goods handled will have to be carried across the pavement and the front door will have to be used exclusively.

Miss Elizabeth Fischer, daughter of School Director Jacob Fischer, has accepted a position with Adams and Company as clerk. She entered upon her duties Monday.

ON THE RAILROADS.

The congestion of freight trains on the Pennsy, which held up things about South Danville only a week or so ago, seems to be no longer in evidence. In fact quite a falling off of freight is reported. No on diminution of traffic, although it is noticed that on all trains there are many empty cars than loaded ones. This is because in view of a probability of a coal strike on all the lines the foreign cars are being sent back to the roads to which they belong. The P. & R. company is shipping its own empty cars to Newberry Junction and to the coal region, where they will be kept until needed.

Flyer Wrecked in Landslide.

Plunging at high speed into a landslide at Fort Clinton, Monday evening, the Wilkes-Barre flyer on the Pennsylvania railroad was badly wrecked. The locomotive, containing engineer Harry Hoffmeister and fireman William Weismiller, went down the 15-foot bank to the Reading railway, and both men were badly hurt and were taken to the Pottsville hospital.

The passengers were transferred to the Reading, as the Pennsylvania was blocked all night.

The passenger coaches kept the track and beyond being violently shaken, none of the passengers were injured.

SATURDAY NIGHT.

Mill street was thronged Saturday night as it had not been for months previously. It was the first Saturday night on which the weather was anything like agreeable and the weather conditions as well as the approach of Easter had the effect of bringing out a crowd. The spectacle, indeed, was a most enlivening one after the dull season, in which few persons appeared on the streets that were not bent upon business. The stores wore their gayest Easter attire and presented a beautiful appearance. That the merchants did a good business goes without saying.

ONE TOWNSHIP'S PLAN.

The supervisors of West Chillisquinque township, Northumberland county, at a meeting held recently, laid a three mill cash road tax. This tax is to be paid in cash. It was decided, however, that taxpayers could have the privilege of working to the amount of their tax if they elect to do so and comply with the stipulations agreed upon by the board. They must be read to come when the supervisors call upon them. All work must be done by the hour. Teams will be paid thirty cents an hour and shovellers and laborers twelve and a half cents.

Favor the Widow.

The term of the postmaster at Ashland being about to expire there were a number of applicants for the office, but all of them, including the present incumbent, who would like to have had another term, have withdrawn in favor of Mrs. Patterson, widow of Congressman George R. Patterson, who died some three weeks ago in the midst of his congressional term. President Roosevelt will probably appoint her this week.

HAVE YOU MONEY THEN FUMIGATE IT

Bankers of Pennsylvania will at once get ready to fumigate all money that passes through their hands, and from a health point of view this is the proper thing in order to ward off contagion.

State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon will call upon bank officials throughout Pennsylvania to assist him in checking the spread of disease by taking the precaution to fumigate money before it passes out of the bank's hands.

Dr. Dixon has found disease producing germs on filthy paper money in circulation and says that undoubtedly many cases of communicable disease throughout the State must be traceable to infected money.

He has prepared the following circular letter to be sent to every bank in the State which he believes will not only prevent infection but be of direct benefit to the institution itself as a business proposition. "As the germs of disease are found in money in circulation, the department of health respectfully suggests and requests that you co-operate with it in the protection of the health of our people by fumigating all money received by your bank before it is again put in circulation. Such a precautionary measure, I am confident, will avoid many cases of sickness and death in your community."

"The disinfection of money may be accomplished by spraying it with a formaldehyde solution or exposing to the fumes of formaldehyde gas."

Dr. Dixon's attention was called to the importance of washing and disinfecting money through the action of a bank in the eastern part of the State, which invariably fumigates all of the paper money that passes through its hands thus insuring immunity from disease germs. This was a pretty good idea, and led the State health commissioner to send out the above circular. Another bank in the western part of the State gives a bath to the dirty paper money that it receives. It places the notes in a basin of clean water, and in a short time the accumulated dirt soaks off and the note, after being dried, becomes crisp and clear as if just issued from the printing press.

MINERS WANT SPALDING.

The operators say today that the situation is with Mitchell and his men, and upon them depends whether or not there shall be peace in the hard coal industry. The miners point out that the operators, by astute wording that the anthracite commission be required to arbitrate the situation, have lost to the miners one member of the commission, who was a great friend of the mine workers, Bishop Spalding, of Peoria. The bishop has recently suffered severe attacks of paralysis, and is consequently unable to serve. The operators in the counter-proposition state:

"The members of the anthracite strike commission, or such of them as may be able and willing to act, shall be requested to decide, etc."

This clause prevents anyone from serving in Bishop Spalding's place and as the bishop was appointed on the commission by President Roosevelt at Mitchell's request, they think it only fair that the president be asked to appoint someone in his place. This request will doubtless be incorporated in the miners' counter-proposition.

THINGS MINERS WILL REJECT.

The elimination of the miners' demands to only the question of wages and the adjustment of complaints by the board of conciliation will be flatly rejected by the miners. The mine workers contend that the question of the eight-hour day is one of great importance to the worker, and the scale committee will insist that this question be submitted to the commission for arbitration. The mine workers are of the opinion that there must be some modification on the proposition of the operators that the question of reduction of wages should be arbitrated as well as the question of an increase. How far the miners will carry their objection to this position of the operators that questions of reductions, as well as increases be arbitrated, is not known.

David Wilcox, of the Delaware and Hudson company, has stated that he is prepared to show that the cost of industry is in such shape that the price of fuel should be reduced, and that there should be a decrease in wages.

Arrests for Sunday Selling.

Seventy saloon keepers of Schuylkill county were arrested Sunday by the Law and Order society for Sunday selling. Yesterday attorneys for the society, asked the court to revoke the licenses of all of the defendants.

The large number of violations of the law is considered extraordinary, in view of the fact that the society only a few months ago secured the conviction of upward of 100 dealers for similar offenses, and six weeks ago the license court distinctly warned every dealer of the necessity of keeping closed on Sunday.

Heavy Weight Champion.

Donald Herring, son of former Judge Grant Herring, of Bloomsburg, has been decided champion heavy-weight wrestler of the inter-collegiate contests. Wrestlers from Princeton, Yale, Columbia and Pennsylvania contested in the match and although Yale captured the contest by the greatest number of points, the individual heavy-weight championship was captured by Herring.

He was easily champion as none of the bouts in which he took part was of more than two minutes' duration.

Dance on Easter Monday.

The annual Easter Monday dance will take place this year as usual at the armory. Music by a seven-piece orchestra.

WILL HAVE COUNTER PROPOSITION

Miners Were Busy Yesterday Preparing It for Today's Conference—Contentions.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The counter-proposition of the operators that the anthracite strike commission consider only two of the miners' demands, namely, rates of wages and an adjustment of complaints by the board of conciliation will be rejected by the mine workers in its present form. The counter-proposition of the operators includes many restrictions and limitations that are altogether objectionable to the miners. The miners' scale committee met today at the Ashland house to consider the latest reply of the operators to the demand for arbitration and it was indicated that a counter-proposition will be drafted which will be presented to the operators at the joint meeting tomorrow.

ELKS WILL TAKE SNOW BATHS

In the Mid-Winter, That's What the Western Fairly Told Says And 'Tis True.

Members of Danville lodge No. 754 B. P. O. E. are preparing for the Elks reunion to be held in Denver, Colorado, this summer. A good sized delegation of the local lodge will see the wonders of the west.

Snow balls in the summer time will be one of the features of the reunion to be held in Denver, next July. Sixty miles from Denver, on the new Moffat road, there are banks of perpetual snow lying beside the tracks, and quantities of this will be brought down while the great parade is passing through the streets of Denver, and the Elks will learn how it feels to plunge their hands in cooling snow while the summer sun is blazing down upon their line of march.

PASSENGER TRAIN STRUCK FREIGHT

Traffic on S. H. & W. Division of Pennsylvania Tied up by a Rear End Collision Above Nescopeck.

The noon Pennsylvania passenger train from Wilkes-Barre arrived at one late owing to a wreck at Retreat siding, just above Nescopeck, which occurred at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The passenger train leaving South Danville for Wilkes-Barre at 7:11 ran into the rear end of a freight train at the Nescopeck siding through some misunderstanding of signals. The engine of the passenger and the caboose of the freight train were badly smashed up, both crews as well as the passengers on the train all escaped unharmed. Some of the freight crew were in the caboose as the passenger approached, and seeing that a collision was imminent they jumped to safety, just in time to be saved from being crushed with the car.

The wrecking car was soon on the scene, and after two hours' labor the track was cleared, but it was several hours more before traffic could be restored.

Reading Cutting Time.

The Tamaqua Courier says: "The Philadelphia and Reading shops at Catawissa, Milton, Newberry and Tamaqua have been placed on three-quarter time. This move was made in accord with the general retrenchment policy that the Reading will carry out during the suspension of work at the mines. At Shamokin and Gordon the engine house men have been placed on half time, while those at Mahanoy Plane have been placed on quarter time."

Wholesale Revoking.

Following the seventy arrests for Sunday liquor selling in Schuylkill county, the sensation of the year was sprung in court Monday when Judge Bechtel, on motion of attorneys for the Law and Order society granted rules upon 49 saloonkeepers to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked. All these saloons are in Shenandoah, and as 50 more similar cases are to be brought in that town, which has a saloon for every 30 voters, the number of drinking places is apt to be cut down by two-thirds.

MINOR MATTERS OF INTEREST

Facts and Episodes Caught in Passing and Briefly Related for Benefit of News Readers.

MILES MURDOCK.

For several months an article has been going the rounds of the press to the effect that a fortune of $200,000 awaits a former Danville man named Murdock, who cannot be found. The article states that there is uncertainty about the man's first name, which is either Amiel, Emile or Albert—that he was born in Massachusetts in 1822, a son of Bartlett and Hannah Murdock—that those interested in locating him have traced him to Danville, Pa., where in 1861 he was married to Miss Henrie. It was known that he enlisted in Brooklyn in 1865 and records have been found of his discharge in 1871. After enlistment however all trace of him has been lost.

Joseph R. Patton and others well remember Murdock when he lived in Danville. These men are able to settle the question as to his first name, which was "Miles." Murdock was a very gentlemanly and clever man and held a position in the office of the Montour iron works. While in Danville, about 1856, he married Miss Lucretia Henrie, who sometime afterward secured a divorce.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR WHEAT.

The Government report concerning the growing wheat shows a slightly lower average April condition than that of a year ago. At that time the official estimate of the condition percentage was 91.6, and that made public yesterday was 89.1. A few states like Kansas, and some of smaller productive capacity, show an appreciable shrinkage, which brings the general average 2.5 points below that of last year, although the condition of the crop in some states is higher than was then.

The slight comparative deterioration, however, does not indicate an unsatisfactory crop outlook, as the present condition is unusually high even for April, and has been exceeded but three times in that month during the past fifteen years. The April figures are usually higher than the condition at harvest, but there is margin for some decline from the present high promise without material reduction in the aggregate yield. Unless there shall be serious future impairment of the plant the winter wheat production this year is likely to be as abundant as was that of 1905.

BUSINESS AND RELIGION.

Business principles applied to religion are as successful as sound religious principles applied to honest business. In Knoxville, Tennessee, the pastor of the First Cumberland Presbyterian church, at his wife's end to check a falling off in the attendance at his Bible school, recently inserted a page advertisement in a Sunday morning paper inviting young men to come to his meetings. The effort was instantaneous. As a result of one insertion of the advertisement the membership of the Bible class increased one-third, and scores who had never heard of it became sufficiently interested to write and inquire concerning the work. The church officials say that one hundred dollars—the cost of the advertisement—was never spent more advantageously for the cause of religion.
