The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is non-toxic, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the constitution assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer to refund the money for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

FOOLING A GREAT DOCTOR.
The Trick the Belgians Played on Sir Morell Mackenzie.

The Belgians once succeeded in getting out rates on an operation from Sir Morell Mackenzie. He engaged to attend a case at Antwerp. When he landed he was met by three men in mourning, who informed him, according to the Reader Magazine, that the patient had died, but that they would pay his full fee. "And now," said the man, "since you are here, what do you say to visiting the city hospital and giving a clinic for the benefit of our local surgeons? It is not often they have an opportunity of benefiting by such science as yours."

Sir Morell said he would gladly comply. He went to the hospital and performed many operations, among which were two of a similar nature to that for which he had been called over. When he finished, all three men professedly on the stretcher going home he met his friend who had a business house in Antwerp. "Pretty savvy trick they played on you, Sir Morell?" "What do you mean?" asked the surgeon.

"Told you the patient died before you arrived, didn't they?" "Yes." "Lied. You operated on him and a friend with the same trouble at the clinic." Got two operations for one price.

Curious Chinese Playing Cards.
A pack of Chinese playing cards is a genuine curiosity. They are generally printed in black on the card, and the average width and breadth being about that of the finger of a human being. In some cases they are only half an inch broad and about three and a half inches in length. The length, no cards which are always at least six times that of the width. Some of the packs have queer representations of our "kings," "queens" and "knaves" stamped upon them in black. Others are decorated with the figures of animals, birds and fishes. These used by mandarins and high officials bear only figures of mythological creatures.

The H-I-n-f-n-g Word.
Give the young and struggling a word of encouragement when you can. You would not leave those plants in your window boxes without water nor refuse to open the shutters that the sunlight might fall upon them, but you would leave those young plants to suffer from want of appreciation or the sunlight of encouragement. There are a few hardy souls that can struggle along on stony soil—shrubs that can walk for the dew and submergans, vines that climb without kindly training—but only a few. Utter the kind word when you can see that it is deserved. The thought that "no one cares and no one knows" blights many a bud of promise. Is it the young artist at his easel, the young preacher in his pulpit, the workman at his bench, the boy at his mathematical problems or your little girl at the piano, give what praise you can.

GREAT PIANO SALE DRAWING TO A CLOSE

No greater evidence of the prosperity of Danville and surrounding country can be had than by judging from the wonderful success of the Factory Piano Sale now going on at 282 Mill street.

Inasmuch as the instruments offered in this sale are well known hereabouts the Lester people felt that a number of Pianos would be sold; but they never thought when they started this sale that it would be necessary to telegraph to the States to be supplied by express. This was done last Saturday when their store was practically empty.

As per our ad, in today's Intelligencer this sale of beautiful Pianos is rapidly drawing to a close; it would pay those who are thinking of buying a Piano to see this display, get an idea of the little prices and easy terms that are quoted on these guaranteed instruments.

BUSY INSECT EATERS.

What One Day's Hunting Brought to a Hood of Pled Wagtails.

A close student of bird life writes: "Observation of several species of insectivorous birds has shown that the parent birds, when their family is growing up, make between them in the neighborhood of 500 visits to the nest in the course of a day, carrying on such an hour in taking the receipt of a pied wagtail which had its brood of newly fledged young ones in an old disused punt that had settled down at its moorings into the mud at the side of the pond. During the hour the male bird alone was looking after the family, the female having departed by running about on the bank catching insects for her own consumption and varying the occupation with long spells of attention to her toilet. The male bird, on the other hand, never rested from his work of bread-winning. As his hunting ground was the open surface of the pond, above which he flitted, he was never out of his sight.

In the course of the hour he made twenty-eight trips, the shortest absence from the young lasting one and a half minutes and the longest nearly six minutes. On no occasion did he remain at the punt for more than fifteen seconds or just long enough to turn over a stone or to take the receipt of the proper youngster and be off again. Myriads of gnats were dancing above the water, and at each dip the bird struck at one, but one could not see whether he always caught his quarry or not. As far as it was possible to guess he always did. On his shorter absence he made over forty shots, and from that the number ran up to considerably over 200.

"Supposing that he missed his aim half the time or afterward dropped or swallowed a shot, so that half of them were wasted and failed to reach the family at home, there must have been from 1,500 to 2,000 gnats brought back to the punt in the course of that one hour. Later in the day both parent birds were hunting simultaneously, each returning methodically to the young every two or three minutes. What the gross consumption of insects was in the course of the day it is impossible to guess, but it can hardly be put below from 10,000 or 15,000 and was probably twice as many."

RULES FOR A HOME.

Remember that home begins with charity. Remember that open windows make health epidemic.

If you must worry, take a big thing. The little things will knock you out.

Keep your children, your dogs and your troubles away from your guests.

The dining room should always be sacred. That is the one room where no scraps should be allowed.

Have the same standard of morals for yourself as for your children. You need it as much as they do.

There are three standpoints to every home—your own, your wife's and the cook's. Try and forget your own.

Patience is a virtue of every member of the family to read. He who enters here leaves satiate behind.

Buy everything on the installment plan by paying for it all in one installment—the first.—Tom Mabbion in Judge.

A Japanese Rabbit Hunt.

"There is a Japanese rabbit hunting story," says a Japanese authority, "which runs as follows: 'One Jap meets another in the hunting season with a gun over his shoulder.

'Ah! Been shooting?' he asks. 'You look upset,' replied the huntsman, 'and with good reason. I started a rabbit—Cherry Blossom, my dog, ran after it. I fired, and Cherry Blossom fell. 'Too bad. And the rabbit?' 'The rabbit? It brought Cherry Blossom back and laid her at my feet.'"

ROCKEFELLER FEELS RICH

Stomach Lets Up, and Oil King Superintends Work on $500,000 Castle.

Tarrytown, N. Y., May 21.—"I now feel like a rich man," said John D. Rockefeller today. "I feel better than I have ever felt in my life. My stomach does not trouble me, and I can travel about my estate with ease and comfort."

The oil king was discussing with a friend the plans for his $500,000 castle on Pkayuit, the highest point on his Big Pocatoco Hills estate, excavations for which have been begun.

Every detail of the castle was planned by Mr. Rockefeller. He is very fond of sun baths, and made a feature of the house that it be constructed so that the sun shall shine on it at all times of the day. The structure will be surrounded by an inclosed veranda, on which Mr. Rockefeller can enjoy his bath.

The castle will be fireproof, and will be six stories high on the north and three on the south. This is necessary, as it is built on sloping ground. It will be of rough stone quarried on the estate, and will be of the Colonial style. On the sixth story Mr. Rockefeller will have an observatory from which he can see for many miles.
