RIVERSIDE AND SOUTH DANVILLE

The history of Riverside and South Danville by Ogden H. Ostrander is a new book, which is bound to prove interesting to the residents of this section. That there is a vast amount of interesting data available for such while all persons instinctively turned to O. H. Ostrander as the one may qualified for writing such a history. He has faithfully performed the task. The book starts out with a sketch of the "First settlers" In 1756, it is stated, all this section was a wilderness with here and there the rude home of a pioneer. The nearest settlenent on the west was Shamokintown tion of the west was standard town.

Ten miles down the river at the junction of the two branches, where Sunbury stands King George the Third had built Fort Augusta to protect the settlers against the Indians. Ten miles further up the river was Catawissa. About half way up the north branch in 1772, the Montgomery, Sechler, Frazier, and Maus families took up Inads and formed what was known as Montgomery's landing. An outline of the town's subsequent history is given, which brings the reader up to the construction of the D. H. & W. railroad on the opposite side of the river, following which a swalington was form. following which a syndicate was formwhom were E. W. Conkling, F. C. Derr, John W. VonNieda, and O. H. Ostrander, for the purpose of securing land on that side of the river to be sold as building lots. From this point on the history of Riverside is crowded with events. The first dwelling was erected on Avenue D, near First street, by William Spotts, May 1869, and was river bridge, Riverside School house, South Danville school building, P. O. So of A. hall, St. Peter's M. E. church, First M. E. church, now Grace P. E. church, the latter especially being a very clear and distinct cut, which gives things the appearance of reality

The history is most complete and enters fully into details. Under the head of "houses erected" not only is the name of the building given but the year in which the house was constructed along with the section and

The full history of each church is given and the full history of each school along with a list of the teachers and the year they were employed. In fact not a department of life is omitted and the history is a perfect record from the time the town was laid out until the present.

Township High Schools.

The growth of the township high school idea throughout the counties of the State has been very gratifying to many people interested in educa-tion and it is good to note that there is a prospect of schools of that type being organized in Montour county.

being organized in Montour county.
The township high school fills an important place in education in the rural districts, for it brings the advantage of higher education to communities whose young people would otherwise have to go to normal or private schools or else take a course of study at home, which too frequently the student can not afford. The State makes a liberal appropriation for such schools, and if they increase in num-ber will be still more generous. Their cost to the district wherein they are situated is small considering the good they do, and it is to be hoped that township high schools will speedily be organized in Montour county.

At the meeting of the Presbytery of Northumberland at Lock Haven Fri-day night, the session of Bethany church, of Williamsport, presented a protest against the Third Presbyterian building on the lot next to the Berk shire, corner of Fourth and Campbel streets, Williamsport, because of the proximity of Bethany and the Church

INHABITANT OF ZION CITY

E. S. Anderson, of Zion City, a former disciple of John Alexander Dowie, but now a follower of Voliva was in this city Tuesday. Mr. Anderson is a man on the sunny side of middle life, who immediately impresses one with his sincerity, and his cleanliness and purity of life. He is presses one with his sincerity, and his cleanliness and purity of life. He is a salesman of the Zion Office Supply Company and was here purely in pur-suit of his calling.

During conversation one gleaned a great deat of interesting information relating to Zion City and was able to see many things in quite a different light from that in which they are us-ually presented.

To begin with Mr. Anderson says it is a fact that not more than fifty per-sons of Zion City's five thousand insons of Zion City's five thousand inhabitants still adhere to Dowie, the rest all following the standard of Voliva. Mr. Anderson himself for many years was a faithful follower of Dowie, but he how sees in Voliva all the business of the company belonged to the control of the c virtues which formerly belonged to Dowie. Upon being asked what Dowlowie. Upon being asked what Dow-ie's shortcomings might be attributed to after so many years of faithful leadership, he replied that summing all up it resolved itself into the one fact that "he could not stand prosperity." As long as he was poor—as long as he was a humble minister struggling with his people he was the very in-carnation of goodness and devotion, but when the point was reached that money began to pour in in millions it seemed to turn his head. Dowie's followers never attributed any divin-ity to him, although they recognized in him great magnetism, which made him a leader of people just as Roosewith its Dowie was the recipient of divine power, which he wielded for the good of his people. He came by this power naturally justs as my of his followers came by it, by being "right with God," by prayer, by leading clean word layer see as a void any of the

To explain, the people of Zion City observe the moral law—they lead clean and virtuous lives; they do not smoke nor chew, they do not drink nor use drugs in any form. They are consist-ent in this and in the city of five thousand people there is not a saloon or any place where liquors are sold, there are no cigar nor tobacco stores, neither are there any drug stores and what is more surprising there are n doctors. The people shudder at th thought of drugs and would not tak thought of drugs and wond not take medicine in any form. They have no use for doctors. When a person be comes indisposed it is regarded as the result of excess or sin and a recours to prayer is the remedy adopted.
