PLATFORM ADOPTED.

The platform adopted at today's co vention congratulates the country be cause of its success during the Roose velt administration, mainly due to his application of the policies of William application of the policies of Winiam J. Bryan. It asserts that the platform adopted by the recent Republican con-vention is a sweeping indictment of Republican party; "as it denounces all that the party has stood for for a quarter of a century and promises all the legislation for legislative reforms it has opposed in that time." With that preparatory observation, the plat form adds "we are for highest measure of honesty and integrity in our public tration of public affairs, and expulsio lobby from the halls of legisla The platform declares for an wed election law which shall in the secrecy of the ballot and the greatest facilities for independent vot ing, an honest count and return of the ballot boxes by the court where fraud is established or in g good faith alle stitution of 1874.

From Scranton.

Calvary Commandery, K. T., No. 37, held a grand banquet last night at which a number of visitors from out of town were entertained. The commandery has "called off" for the sumner, the last regular meeting taking place on Thursday night of last week.

Harman Sechler, eminent command er, of Calvary Commandery, came up from Mahanoy City yesterday after-noon. A delegation arrived from Scran-ton on the 4:33 D. L. & W. train. In the number were: John Reynolds, D. J. Davis, John Horn, Jacob Hetzel, George L. Peck and A. L. Derry, Mr. George L. Peck and A. L. Derry. Mr Horn was a former resident of Dan ville, but has not lived here since the war. He entertained himself for an hour or more after his arrival in hunt-ing up old time acquaintances and looking up old landmarks. The entire party from Scranton are friends of H. T. Hecht, general manager of the Reading Iron company's plant, and a popular member of Calvary command-ery, K. T., No. 37, who was formerly resident of the city of Scranton The banquet last night was a sump tuous affair served in the rooms form-erly occupied by the Moneta Club. Carl Litz, the well-known restaur ateur, was caterer.

Calvary commandery is one of the oldest commanderies of the order and has members in Danville, Sunbury Milton, Watsontown, Lewisburg, Mifflinburg, Northumberland and Mid-dleburg. It had a membership of some 140 up to a few months ago when some 40 withdrew to unite with the new ommandery constituted at Sunbury.

Thleves Operate New Scheme.

The thieves who have been plying their shady vocations in this vicinity for some time past have varied their operations by proceeding in a manner seldom heard of before to separate peo-Lewisburg, spent Sunday with rela sentom neard of before to separate peo-ple from their rightful property. Their latest conception, which has been very successfully carried out, was to steal boats from towns up the river, bring-ing them down to Danville, selling them here for what they could obtain and then in turn stealing other boats at this place disposing of them else

As a result of it all several residen of the second ward are minus their foot boats, while at least one of the boats stolen at Catawissa was recovered in this city. The Danville man, who purchased the Catawissa boat, who purchased the Catawissa boat, paying two dollars for it, was obliged to turn the little craft over to the party that claimed it. Among the Danville people whose river crafts were spirit-ed away is N. C. Prentiss, whose boat lay in the river near the foot of Rail-road street. The success of the Cata-wissa man in recovering his boat has suggested to the losers in this city the advisability of making a short trip up and down the river for the purpos of tracing their boats.

There is nothing to prevent them from recovering their boats, if able to identify them. A gentleman in this city, who had paid hard earned cash for a boat brought here, and who was not swift enough in delivering the boat over when an alleged owner appeared, Monday night, was subjected to the indignity of an arrest and in straightening out the matter was forc-ed to lose not only what he had paid on the boat but also to pay a consider able sum in costs.

Boats lie in the river here by score and many of them are quite valuable. All the thief has to do whose fancy turns to boats is merely to take his pick and it may be days or weeks be fore the thieft is discovered. Inhabit Mrs. James Wagner has returned to Montandon after a visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Willard Pannebak-pears with a boat which he offers for ed with suspicion.

Hay Making

The farmers of our county have now ntered upon haymaking. This import ant branch of farm work will be so what late this year and no doubt much larger quantity of hay than us ual will be cut after harvest. Th spring was late, but the abundant rain which followed during the month past which followed during the month past in a measure made up for lost time and has hurried along the clover and timothy in double quick time. Stil it is believed that the hay crop in gen-eral will be slightly below an average yield. Farmers are now selling their old hay, where a surplus remains make room for the new crop. Each day now several loads of hay may be seen
