

NEW CHAPEL IN EAST END

The East End mission, which, under the zealous leadership of Hon. M. Hinckley, has grown and prospered during several years past, is about to enter upon a new era, marked by still greater growth and enlarged influence. Among the new order of things will bring about another epoch in the mission's history is a new modern church structure designed with special reference to the growing needs of the mission, and the foundation of which will be laid not later than next spring.

Ever since the East End mission has been in existence the meetings have been held in the third floor of the Ammerman building, East Market street. The quarters there are somewhat cramped but the two narrow flights of stairs that have to be climbed by those attending constitute the worst objection.

For some time past those interested in the work of the East End mission have been casting about for a new site of ground conveniently located, upon which to build a chapel. Such a site is now procured. It was purchased last week of W. A. Shepperson and adjoins the Ammerman building on the west. It was formerly occupied by Mr. Shepperson's coal yard and has a frontage of forty-seven feet on East Market street and is one hundred and fifty feet deep. The deed has been delivered to the mission.

Hon. H. M. Hinckley stated yesterday that a capacious chapel would be erected on the site, that would have an auditorium of large size on the first floor. The exact dimensions have not been decided upon; nor of what material it will be constructed. Work may begin in a very short time. The first of April at the furthest ground will be broken.

Death After Long Illness.

Samuel Boyer, of Plymouth, a former resident of Danville, died at his home in the former place Saturday morning.

For many years the deceased was employed as a clerk in the company store at this place and thus became very widely known. His wife, before marriage was Miss Rishel, of this city, a sister of Miss Mary A. Rishel, Pine street. When he lived in Danville the deceased owned and occupied a residence on Bloom road just beyond the borough line.

In 1857 Mr. Boyer moved to Plymouth, Luzerne county, and sometime later he became associated with W. B. Chamberlain in a mercantile business. For some years he was manager of the store but later became a member of the firm. He was accounted a first class business man.

The deceased was in ill health for two years. During this time he decided to retire from business and remove to his old home, Danville. With this object in view he purchased the A. H. Woolley residence on West Market street. Declining health, however, deterred him from changing his residence, although he still retained possession of the West Market street dwelling.

The deceased was 68 years of age and is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter: Catherine and Miss Lois Boyer.

Six More Weeks of Cold Weather.

He walked right out, and turned around, and walked right in again—this is a record of the prevalent expression would describe the stunt of the groundhog on Saturday. His Hogship did his little act, and according to the old tradition, the winter is not yet at an end and we are to have cold and stormy weather for the next six weeks.

The sun was shining brightly the greater part of the day, and not withstanding that his eyes may have been somewhat blinky on emerging from his long sleep into the bright glare of day light, our friend had no difficulty in discerning his shadow distinctly outlined on the snow. After taking a sniff around, and without waiting to say goodbye—not even inquiring about politics or the legislature—he turned his back on the glittering world and withdrew again into his retreat, slamming the door shut to keep out reporters and others of the curious. He will resume his sleep and will not again come out until the six weeks are elapsed and winter is over.

SACRIFICE TO SAVE CHILD

In order to save the life of his three year old daughter, Charles Kremer, of Lewisburg, had thirty square inches of his skin grafted on her at the Williamsport hospital Tuesday. Early last December his daughter Geraldine, was badly burned about the body and arms, and has been in the hospital since December 22. Over three weeks ago as much skin was taken from Mrs. Kremer for a like purpose. The physician at the hospital thought that in order to save the little girl's life more skin would be needed, so Mr. Kremer, without any hesitation, offered himself to save his daughter from death. Geraldine is now getting along nicely and it is thought that she will recover.

For School Director.

Frank Johnson, who was nominated to be school director by the Democrats of the first ward, Danville, has declined to be a candidate.

To fill this highly important place on the ticket William A. Sechler, general manager of the Danville Stove and Manufacturing company, has been chosen by the Democrats.

THE DANVILLE STOVE WORKS

At the annual meeting of the Danville Stove and Manufacturing company, held last week, the following officers were re-elected: President, W. B. Chamberlain; secretary, Alexander Foster; treasurer, W. L. McClure; W. A. Sechler was re-elected general manager of the works.

The plant of the Danville Stove & Manufacturing company, beside being one of the most prosperous industries in this section with a bright future ahead of it, has a record behind it that well entitles it to the distinction of being a standby in Danville. For more than twenty years it has been forging ahead in the even tenor of its way, a source of steady and remunerative employment to it hands every working day of the year when they close to apply themselves to their tasks. There might be protracted shut-downs elsewhere, but the stove works was always running or in a condition to run.

For twenty years or more the business has been gaining ground and it is still growing. Last week the company shipped a car load of Beaver stoves to San Francisco, which is an entirely new field. A circumstance that reflects well on Beaver stoves is the fact that the order came wholly unsolicited, from a party who had heard of the Danville stoves and came here to negotiate. Danville stoves are exported to many foreign countries and are found in South Africa, China as well as in Mexico and Cuba.

To keep pace with the demand of the times the Danville Stove & Manufacturing company is constantly adding to its product. The new Queen Beaver, the patterns of which were begun last summer, will be ready for the spring trade. This range, which is in two sizes and twelve different styles, is made with lift-off nickel and is plain in finish, just the kind of stove to please the fancy of the present day, which is constantly demanding something new.

Work is well under way on the patterns of two other stoves which will be ready for the season. One of these is a new size of Beaver A, plain cabinet range and the other a new square burner heater, which will be made in two sizes.

A Birth Day Party. A pleasant surprise party was tendered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Snyder, Railroad street, Saturday evening, in honor of Mr. Snyder's thirty-fifth birthday. A most enjoyable evening was spent. Mr. Snyder was the recipient of a number of beautiful presents. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fogel, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Rudy, Mr. and Mrs. Madison Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Willet, Mrs. M. J. Bogart, Mrs. Eyerly, Misses Katie Wertman, Maggie Willet, Daphnia Prentiss, Tracy Price, Sara Price, Ethel Snyder, Elanor Price, Ada Fogel Catherine Ryan, and Mamie Price; Messrs Joseph Keefer, John Reppert, of Bloomsburg, Charles Snyder, Hiram Temple, George Fogel, Harry Snyder, James Wertman, Norman Arnold and George Kerstetter.

Birth Day Surprise Party. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blohn, West Hemlock township, was the scene of a very delightful occasion Friday, when a number of their friends met to celebrate Mr. Blohn's birthday. A fine dinner was served to the guests, after which pictures of the party were taken by Rev. S. V. Bedickian. Mr. Blohn was the recipient of a number of handsome presents.

Those present were: Rev. S. V. Bedickian, of Washingtonville; Miss Hannah Welliver, Mrs. Eva Blohn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aruwine, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Vulkman, and children Ethel, Florence and Clarence, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Irvin, of Backhorn; Mr. and Mrs. John Aruwine, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blohn, Misses Mary, Berrie and Dora Aruwine, Messrs. Charles Aruwine and Walter Blohn.

THE CROAKERS

There are croakers and idle fault-finders in every community and the Shamokin Daily News referring to such says that "the fellows who stand on street corners chewing and spitting and telling obscene stories, cursing and declaring merchants and business folks in general skins and thieves are a nuisance and an abomination. Any town pestered with any such wretches would be justified in exercising cowhide authority. No one is compelled to live in any town and the one not leaving a good word for its business enterprises should be helped out."

Must Take Pledge.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company will in a few days issue a formal order for every employe in the telegraph department and on trains to take the pledge of total abstinence and to keep it in force during the time of their employment on the road. Having for some time encouraged the employes to be total abstainers, and having observed the steady and reliable work of such employes, the officials have decided to make the total abstinence order obligatory.

Cooper Democrats.

The Democrats of Cooper township have made the following nominations: Judge of election, L. H. Weaver, inspector, Benjamin Buck; school directors, Harvey Keiser and William Fern; supervisors, Philip Boyer, 3 years, and William Fern, 2 years; overseer of the poor, Charles Fry; auditor, John Casey; assessor, J. M. Shultz; tax receiver, Alfred Blecher.

EASTER.

Easter can never be earlier than March 21, not later than April 25, since it is the first Sunday after the full moon that happens on or nearest to March 21, and if this fall on a Sunday, then Easter is to be the Sunday following. In 1818 Easter was March 23. Since 1875 there have been seven Easters in March, including the Easter of this year, which falls March 31.

DISEASES OF MID-WINTER

The local registrar's report to the bureau of vital statistics for January shows the usual amount of illness incidental to midwinter, although the general health is better than during the month of December.

Eleven cases of typhoid fever were reported during January as against seven cases in December. In proportion to the population there is nothing abnormal in eleven cases of typhoid fever. Besides, the majority of the cases were reported during the early part of the month and are now convalescent. There is scarcely any doubt but that Danville's practical immunity from typhoid fever, which is prevailing in so many of our neighboring towns, is due in great measure to the precaution of boiling water used for drinking and ordinary purposes as well as to the efficiency of our filter plant, which cleanses and purifies the river water.

As relates to diphtheria, the most dreaded disease of childhood, the situation is much improved, there being but one case in January as against five cases of that disease, one of which was fatal, in the month of December.

This is the season when pneumonia begins to gather in its victims. During January there were three cases, of this dreaded disease, one being fatal, as against one case in December, which was fatal.

Scarlet fever made its appearance during January, three cases being reported. There were no deaths from this disease.

The general improvement as relates to the public health is noticeable in the falling off of grippé. A couple of weeks ago there was scarcely a family but had one or more victims of this disease. Some of the cases were attended with a good deal of suffering, while there were few who were not too badly indisposed to pursue their daily vocations. The falling off of grippé is attributed by the doctors to the more reasonable weather which has prevailed during the couple of weeks past.

During January there were twenty-five deaths in the district, six of these occurring at the hospital for the insane.

The births for December which were not previously printed, were twenty-three as against twenty-one deaths for that month.

GIFTS TO A WIFE.

In a recent divorce case the husband, when asked if he ever gave his wife any Christmas or birthday presents, replied: "No, I am sorry to say I never did. I gave Mrs. — power to draw on my bank account and to buy anything she wanted. I was mistaken. That was not all I should have done. That I did not take the pleasure of buying things and taking them home to her."

It is astonishing how little even the majority of husbands know about the feminine nature. I recently heard a young wife say that she would rather visit than give her husband a bunch of money her husband bring her a bunch of money than give her the things she most covets. But she said she could never make him appreciate the fact that money was not all that she needed.

I know men who never think of taking home a bunch of flowers, or a gift, or anything else that is unnecessary, extravagant or that if their wives want flowers they can get them themselves. They do not realize that women prize the little courtesies, the little attentions and evidences of thoughtfulness more than money. It is this invitation to the little thing or vacation, the little trip to another city, the bringing home of tickets to the theater or opera or to the concert or lecture—it is the hundred and one little things that make the average woman happy and not merely the fact that her imperative wants are supplied in a lump sum.

Most men overlook the fact that it does not take so much, after all, to satisfy the average woman. It is largely a question of the right spirit, of doing the things which indicate thoughtfulness. Just giving a wife a check once in awhile, no matter how large it may be, or telling her to draw as much as she needs from your bank account will not satisfy a womanly woman. It is yourself she wants with the money—Success Magazine.

Shoplifters in Bookstores. "Ours is one business in which there are no women shoplifters," said a bookseller yesterday. "We are troubled with shoplifters, but they are all men. They don't seem to have any time for book stealing. It remains a mystery how many thefts we detect in the course of a week. Visitors who look prosperous enough to buy whole libraries are often caught abstracting a twenty-five cent book. I figure that this is due to the great temptation. You see, in bookstore callers are given the run of the place and are at liberty to examine the stock at their leisure. A man picks up some little volume he checks once in a while, and he is tempted to get something for nothing is too much for him. He slips the coveted article into his pocket, but we have wary salesmen, and most such offenders are tripped up. Then they have to pay for the purloined volumes and we warned that more serious consequences will follow any repetition of the shoplifting."—Philadelphia Record.

London's First Balloon Ascent. When Lunardi made the first balloon ascent from London in 1784 he had for fellow passengers a cat, a dog and a pigeon. Such was the excitement caused by this ascent that a jury, deliberating on the fact of a criminal, returned a hasty verdict of acquittal in order not to miss the spectacle, while King George III. broke up a meeting of his council to watch the progress of the balloon. It was in the following year, 1785, that an adventurous Dublin undertaker, Mr. Maguire, made a balloon ascent and was actually caught by the lord lieutenant for his courage.

Don't Be a Sensitive Plant. The sensitive plant is found in the church. The pastor has a difficult time keeping him in humor to do church work. The sensitive plant is found in political circles. The candidates must handle him with gloves. The sensitive plant is found in all avenues of human activity. Most generally he is a nuisance. Don't be one.—Columbia Herald.

FINE PROGRAMS FOR INSTITUTES

The arrangements for the Farmers Institutes in this county have been completed by Hon. Charles A. Wagner, of Ottawa, chairman of the board of institute managers of Montour county. The institute will be held on two days, Wednesday and Thursday, February 13th and 14th, in the Lutheran church at Washingtonville and one day, Friday, February 15th, in the hall at Exchange.

The institutes are held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania department of agriculture, and neither pains or expense have been spared to securing the finest instructors and speakers, as the following programs will show:

COURT FACES UNIQUE DILEMMA

Complications in the Fisher case during the past few days put the Northumberland county court in one of the strangest dilemmas in which any judge has ever been placed. Fisher is accused of murder and his case was to have come up yesterday. Under the law it could not again be postponed except by request of the defendant as it had already been twice put off, and as Fisher still has no counsel he can hardly be put on trial for his life. Nevertheless he insisted on being tried. "Have it over," he said. "I don't care whether you hang me or not." If his case would go by default he could no longer be held in prison.

The honorable court looked over the attorneys present, attempting to discover some prospective lawyer for the defense. He again appealed to Welsh and Welsh, whom he had originally appointed. They firmly declined. "We will go to prison for contempt, your honor," they said, "rather than take up the case again." The last time they called on their client a desperate fight had ensued and they have no desire to consult him again. Pressure was brought to bear on Fisher, and after several days hard work he was persuaded to ask for a continuance, which was granted with great alacrity by the court on Tuesday evening.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Peckham. LOCAL OPTION. There is a very decided sentiment throughout this Commonwealth in favor of the enactment of a reasonable local option law to advance local option is not necessarily to favor local prohibition. It is simply to take the ground that the people of each county, or smaller district, have a right to determine whether or not they want the licensed liquor business to exist in their community.

A BOLD PROJECT.

The Scheme by Which Malet Nearly Captured Paris in 1812. A bold scheme was that engineered by Malet, a Frenchman. Malet had been a republican general, was ruined by the rise of Napoleon, betook himself to plotting, was arrested and finally put in a madhouse. During the emperor's absence in Russia in 1812 Malet escaped one night from his prison, obtained a general's uniform and with an accomplice dressed as an aide-de-camp made his way to the prison of La Force, where the unsuspecting governor released on his command two other ex-republicans, Generals Laborie and Guindal, and gave the charge to his own. Together they proceeded to a neighboring barracks, announced to the commandant that Napoleon was dead and that they were acting by the decree of the senate, ordered the troops to be paraded and dispatched bodies of men upon various duties. Some arrested Savary, the minister of police; others the police prefect. Another battalion obeyed Malet implicitly, even the prefect of the Seine, and he would undoubtedly have gained possession of Paris had he not been recognized by Laborde, chief of the military police, as an escaped prisoner. He was arrested after a scuffle, the plot was unravelled, and in due course Malet, with twenty-three of his abettors, was shot.

Remedy For Excess In Eating. A hint to those who may thoughtlessly at some time or other indulge in excess in eating. If this indiscretion is committed, especially in high season, something with rich sassafras, a draft of cold water acidulated with lemon juice will take off the sense of weight at the stomach and assist the digestive process by insulating the alimentary fermentation.

Old English Directions. As an illustration of the violence that was once common during political campaigns in England is a quaint bill from a lawyer after an election at Andover in 1738: "To be thriven out of the George inn, Andover, to my legs being thereby broken, to surgeon's bill and loss of time and business, £500."

BIG PARTY AT COMLEY

A large party of the good people of Anthony township gathered at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George Watson at Comley on Tuesday evening, and were delightfully entertained by the host and hostess. Mohr's orchestra furnished fine music for dancing, while a big supper and many other amusements helped to enliven the occasion. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Ellis and daughter Thelma, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Denner and daughter Clara, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bitler, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mohr, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Mohr, Hon. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Welliver, Mrs. Thomas Dennen and daughter Isabel, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Betz, Mrs. Grant Houghton, Miss Susan Watson, of Manoy; Misses Mary Munroe, Laura Applegate, Susie Hartman, Messrs John and Thomas Hartman, Randall Ellis, W. J. and Thomas Mohr.

WEIGHT FLUCTUATIONS.

A Man May Gain and Lose Five Pounds in the Day. "A dinner like this increases one's weight two and a half pounds," said a physiologist as he finished his more than generous meal. "An average dinner increases the weight two pounds two ounces. Did you ever consider how the weight fluctuates night and day?" "We lose in bed at night two pounds six ounces. Between breakfast and lunch we lose fourteen ounces. Between lunch and dinner we lose ten ounces more. Total loss, four pounds fourteen ounces. That goes on every day of our lives."

"At breakfast we gain one pound twelve ounces; at lunch, one pound; at dinner, as I said before, two pounds two ounces. Total gain, four pounds fourteen ounces."

"Thus, day by day, gaining nearly five pounds, our weight remains uniform. If we ate but a half or a third what we do, it is logical to suppose that our organs, digestive and so on, would have but half as much work to do and that our brains in consequence would be able to do twice as much. That is the logical supposition, and no doubt it is the correct one, but man is still too nearly animal to eat only what he needs. He insists upon eating till he can hold no more."

Saved by the Apostles' Creed. The value of a religious education was once experienced by the skeptic Home. He fell off a temporary bridge connecting old and new Edinburgh and sank in a bog. After many cries for assistance an old woman drew near and began to make preparations for saving him. But as soon as she saw that it was she would save him, she desisted and held him stay where he was. "I am no atheist," protested Home. "I assure you, good woman, you are mistaken." "Well, then, if you are not an atheist," she cried, "you can say your belief, and if you cannot do that I will be glad to save an infidel!" Home accordingly, engorged in the swamp—de profundis—recited the Apostles' Creed and, having made no mistake in the recital, was duly saved by this severe Samaritan. If he had failed—

Exhibits in Law Cases. What are known as "exhibits" in law cases range from sheets of paper to houses and other large articles. At various times an omnibus, a motor car and a cab have been on view in the private roadway by the side of the London law courts, and as they could not be brought into the witness box the judge and jury have had to go out and inspect them in the open. One of the most ponderous "exhibits" of this kind was a large ship's boiler furnace, which was conveyed from Swansea for inspection.—London Standard.

Early Beds. The beds of the ancients were piles of skins. The first beds resembling those used in modern times were made of rushes and later of straw. The use of feathers in making beds has been attributed to the Romans, and Elagabalus (Hellogabalus) is said to have used an air cushion for a pillow in 218. Air beds were frequently used during the sixteenth century. Feather beds were largely used during the reign of Henry VIII. of England.
