

RAPID GROWTH OF BERWICK DISTRICT

The completion of the work of the assessors in and about Berwick reveals some interesting statistics, and shows the vast strides and almost phenomenal growth of that section of Columbia county.

Five years ago, just before the big car shops were built there, Berwick was a little town of three thousand inhabitants, with beautiful farm land lying just outside the town limits. Now the district that it is proposed to include in the "Greater Berwick," has a population of 20,000 or over, and things are so rosy hued that the people are talking of building observation towers in the public squares, and adding all sorts of grand stunts.

Assessor Jacob Laub, who has just finished a most complete assessment and census of West Berwick, finds the population of that one borough alone to be 6014, including 3514 American citizens and some 2500 foreigners. The number of American citizens in West Berwick now exceeds the whole population of Berwick proper in 1900, which was 3014.

Valuations have also increased wonderfully. The total valuation in West Berwick now is $854,270. This is an increase of $202,270 over the previous year and an increase of $104,270 over the last triennial assessment. These increases are only the result of building operations, however. The big increase came five years ago when the steel plant was built. At that time the increase was big for the values came from almost nothing.

In his rounds Mr. Laub saw many strange things, especially among the foreigners. He found houses that are overcrowded almost beyond belief. It was a usual thing to find twenty or over in a six room house. In these houses not only the two floors were utilized for sleeping rooms but beds were placed in the cellars. The largest number in one building was 110, in the Mellet block and the second was 68 in a double residence.

Mr. Laub says he is glad his labors are over. He states that the district he assessed is the hardest one in Columbia county, and there has been no one as yet who will dispute the statement. He had men of a-half dozen nationalities, and with a thousand out-of-town property owners to keep track of, together with a continual sale of properties. The continuous changing of owners is shown by the fact that he was notified of 20 changes within twenty-four hours after he had completed his assessment. One property in West Berwick has been sold five times in the last year.

The populations of the towns of which Berwick is the center are as follows: Berwick, 9,000; North Berwick, 1,000; East Berwick, 1,000; West Berwick, 6,000; Nescopeck, 2,000; Briar Creek, 800.

To Take Faces Off Doors.

The much-talked-of proposition to file the bronze heads or "types" of the doors of the new capitol at Harrisburg has at last been put into the form of a resolution and introduced by Senator Herbst, of Berks county, who claims he is in earnest, although the bill is of factitious composition. It follows:

Whereas, The recent unprecedented rise in the price of copper, restoring it almost to its once proud position of a precious metal, has made the impish heads on the front door of this capitol a valuable asset for thieves, and the continued wild state serves as a temptation for the light-fingered gentry abroad in seemingly godly numbers in this climate; and

Whereas, the distinguished ex-governor and head of the capitol building commission seems to have lost his file with which he had proposed to remove them; and

Whereas, The revenues of the State can be more profitably used than in the employment of officers to specially guard such inartistic type heads; therefore be it

Resolved, If the house concurs, that the superintendent of public buildings and grounds be and is hereby instructed to have those heads removed forthwith, and on account of their metal value sold to the highest bidder, the proceeds of such sale to be paid into the State treasury, and applied to lessen the expense of the capitol investigation.

It will be interesting to watch what becomes of this bill. It was long hinted that it was always side tracked until now.

DIXON WAS RE-APPOINTED

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27. Governor Stewart this morning appointed Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, of Arlington, to be State commissioner of health for four years from March 1, 1907. Dr. Dixon was appointed two years ago by Governor Pennypacker, and has made a most efficient officer practically organizing the department.

The committee on health at once reported Dr. Dixon's appointment favorably and it was confirmed by the senate by a unanimous vote.

Insanity No Cause for Divorce.

Judge James M. Galbreath, of Butler, has decreed on the petition of A. B. Johnson for legal separation from his wife because of insanity, that insanity is not a cause for divorce and the petition is, therefore, denied.

Tri-County Picnic.

The members of the Tri-County picnic association will hold a meeting in the grand jury room, court house, on Saturday, March 2nd, to select a place for the holding of the next annual picnic.

CANDIDATES ARE APPEARING

Candidates for county offices to be voted for at the next general election are already appearing themselves. There are only two offices to be filled in the county, that of prothonotary and county treasurer.

Candidates for these offices are already obtaining signers to their petitions as required by the Uniform Primary Act. The candidates will be nominated at the spring primary, which, this year, will be held on the first Saturday of June.

The spring primary will be the first one held in Montour county under the Uniform Primary Act. Persons, therefore, are poorly acquainted with the provisions of the act.

The names of candidates for nomination are printed upon the official ballot of a designated party upon the filing of petitions signed by qualified electors of the political district division, within which the nomination is to be made, setting forth that the signers thereof are members of the party designated.

The secretary of the commonwealth immediately after the filing of said petitions with him shall forward to the county commissioners of each county a correct list of the candidates of each party for the various offices as contained in such petitions.

The county commissioners shall have on file in their office at least one week preceding the primary open to public inspection, forms of the ballots with the names printed thereon, which shall be used in each election district in such county.

The primaries shall be conducted by the regular election boards and shall be open between the hours of 3 p. m. and 8 p. m. Between the hours of 1 p. m. and 9 p. m. all persons licensed to sell liquor, either at wholesale or retail shall be compelled to keep their places of business closed on days when primary elections are held.

At the primary each elector shall have the right to receive the ballot of the party for which he asks. If challenged he shall be required to make oath or affirmation that, at the next preceding general election, he voted for a majority of the candidates of the party for whose ballot he asks.

BOGUS LODGE ORGANIZER.

The Chester Times gives some account of a chap by the unusual name of Smith, who is now in prison in Pittsburg charged with buncoing people in the organization of bogus lodges and the initiation of scores of persons into mysterious rites. It appears that Smith has recently operated in Chester with much success, having organized one of his bogus lodges. The Times tells something of his proceedings and how he lured victims to his victims who in turn were wakened up to the fact that Smith was a fraud of the finest type and that their degrees were travesties on the ancient rites.

Rush Township Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was held Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Leiby, Rush township, in honor of their son Harry. The evening was delightfully spent in playing games. Refreshments were served.

Observed Anniversary.

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Longfellow was fittingly observed Tuesday by the pupils of the Sider Hill school. The program recited by the grades was "Hiawatha's Wooing," "Paul Revere's Ride," "The Children's Hour," "The Arrow and the Sun," "Two Angles," "The Village Blacksmith," "The Rainy Day," "The Old Clock on the Stairs," "Excelsior," "Conradship of the Mermaid," "The Ship of State," "A Psalm of Life," and Longfellow's poem entitled "Mr. Finney's Turnip."

ENTERTAINMENT IN DERRY SCHOOL

The Derry township school, which is located just outside the borough limits of Washingtonville, gave its annual entertainment Monday evening. A carefully prepared program was rendered, which was highly appreciated by the large audience present.

The Derry township school is taught by Mrs. George K. Heddens, of Washingtonville, who is an adept in the arrangement of school entertainments. She has taught the Derry school for a number of years and takes great delight in her work. The pupils, also, are always highly interested in the work and ably second Mrs. Heddens' efforts.

The program follows: Instrumental Solo—Elsie Foust. Song of Welcome—by the school. Duet—"I'll Meet You in the Morning." Fuller and Pauline Runyan. Recitation—"Dog and the Tramp." Lillie Shoemaker. Dialogue—"Very Bashful." Song—"Little Fairy." Mary Pollock. Recitation—"Little Fisherman." Wellington Hoffman. Dialogue—"What I'd Like to Be." Song—"Far Away Are Angels Dwelling." # ODDITIES IN GRAVES.

A woman who, born, living and dying, was buried Cross, was buried Cross. There is a curious old gravestone in Presbyterian churchyard which records the fact that one woman at least in the past had a bachelor. Her name was Sarah Pickford, and the stone gravely informs the reader she was there interested "August 17, Anno Dom. 1703, and died a Bachelor in the 48th year of her age."

A stone in Westminster abbey records the fact that the only workman who received the honor of being buried in Westminster abbey. He was an adreptic instrument maker, who in 1700 invented the dead-end escapement in clocks. His funeral was attended by the royal society in a body.

In East Ham churchyard there is a tombstone placed crossways. The woman interred is said to have been born Cross, lived cross, married a Mr. Cross and died cross. Her dying request was to be buried cross, and this was carried out.

As to more ancient graves, that of Noah is reported to be in the small town of Nakhichevan, near the foot of Mount Ararat, and is sixty feet in length. Another tradition says that the grave is merely a niche in the wall of an abandoned fortress—London Chronicle.

A Direct Appeal.

A story is told of a New York car conductor who had once been in the ministry and who retained some of his former ways of speech in his new calling. He had been at the front of the car collecting fares, and when he returned to his platform a well-dressed passenger told him that a man had found a hole in the car and had found a place inside. The conductor stepped inside the doorway and ran his middle finger up and down the car, but could not be sure which of the tightly packed passengers was the late arrival. "Will the gentleman who got on at Houston street please rise?" he asked calmly.

The gentleman rose involuntarily, and, with a bow and a "Thank you" the conductor collected his fare.

Victim's Epitaph.

When living first appeared in a certain midland town critics declared that his curious mannerisms of voice, gait and gesture destroyed his chances of becoming a great actor. How long they confounded his critics by creating triumph after triumph and redeeming the English stage from the charge of mediocrity is now a matter of history. This great Shakespearean actor rose from the ranks to the head of his profession by sheer force of his histrionic power, ability and originality. And withal he was one of the most kindly of men, generous to a fault when the distress and troubles of others came under his notice.—London Mail.

THE PARIS CLUBS.

Election to the exclusive clubs of Paris is a very serious business. The applicant is secondarily not only known all about their candidates, but he is able to hear witness to their antecedents and even to their forefathers. They must write to all their friends and ask them to support their candidates. When the election takes place, they must not only be in the room, but approach each member individually as he comes up to the ballot box and ask him for his support.

When the member has been elected, he arrives the first day in hand, he is then formally introduced by one of his proposers to each member separately who happens to be in the room at that time. On the second occasion he has been elected, he is introduced to the other actor's wig and buttoning up his coat, he went on and delivered the well known lines.

Next morning the newspapers stated that the imitation ruined the performance, the personation of Edwige Booth being simply vile enough to make that actor shudder had been seen in Toledo Blade.

DIXON'S PLAN CHECKS DISEASE

From January 1, 1906, to January 1, 1907, there were reported to the State department of health 87,952 cases of communicable disease. A very large number of these occurred in the rural districts, and to promptly enforce necessary placarding, quarantining or isolation of such cases in the rural districts will be one of the important duties of Health Commissioner Dixon's township health officers. After the termination of each case the health officer will thoroughly disinfect the premises.

Particular attention will be paid to the disinfection of premises following tuberculosis and to the proper disinfection of school houses after cases of communicable diseases have been discovered in attendance. This will add greatly to the protection afforded our school children throughout the State.

It will require a small army of health officers to cover all the townships, but the number of lives that their work will save, will amply justify the money outlay, just as the free distribution of diphtheria antitoxin to the poor has done.

From November 1, 1905, to December 31, 1906, the department of health distributed antitoxin for 3,918 cases of diphtheria among the poor people throughout Pennsylvania, while during the same period 2,454 indigent persons were immunized against the disease with the State's free antitoxin.

The total number of deaths was only 379 or a death rate of about one per cent. Reliable statistics show that where antitoxin is not used, the death rate is upward of forty-two per cent. The great number of lives, mostly of little children, that the State department of health's free distribution of antitoxin saved during the year 1906, makes this one of the greatest blessings that the poor people of this Commonwealth have ever had bestowed upon them. The prevention of the spread of disease in the rural districts by the department's township health officers will similarly save hundreds of lives and vast amount of suffering.

DRUGGISTS' GLOBES.

How the Colors in the Window Emblems Are Produced.

"The big glass globes filled with colored water which were once in the display cases of every drug store are not seen so frequently as of old," said a drug clerk to a reporter.

"Of course many are still in use, but in the readjustment of the window displays in drug stores by reason of the change in the electric light they have been displaced. With the old gas jet arrangement there were but two or three separate illuminations, mostly placed behind the globes in question.

"The colored contents of these globes and the chemical constituents of the water in them, and I have had ladies ask me if they contained colored perfumes. The globes are made in all sorts of fancy and elaborate shapes and designs. Some are costly. Their history is buried in antiquity, but as they contain chemical compositions they were primarily, as they are now, the emblem of the chemist.

"The water is filtered and beautifully colored by chemical admixtures and are composed of such chemicals that they will withstand the rays of the sun and not fade. The exquisite pale green, which is one of the popular selections of coloring, is a solution of nitrate of nickel, and most persons will be surprised to learn that it is derived from dissolving the common five cent nickel piece in nitric acid. A few five cent nickel pieces dissolved in this acid will produce enough coloring body to tinge several gallons of water and give a coloring which is most pleasing to the eyes.

"The red, which is also a very bright, beautiful and permanent color and which shows up especially well by day and when illuminated at night is made from resublimated or metallic iodine. The blue is made from sulphate of copper and ammonia, and the yellow is produced by an admixture of sulphate of potash and sulphuric acid. Any person can make these beautiful colorings, especially the green, but as the acids used are very powerful it is best to have them prepared by a chemist, as a drop of nitric acid will eat a hole in the flesh.

"In fact, even druggists make mistakes. I remember one who tried to get a fine new color that other druggists didn't have, so he mixed tincture of chloride of iron with antipyrin. It did, in fact, make a fine color in the globes, but when the sun's rays rested on it for a few hours explosive gases were generated, which sent the globes flying in a thousand pieces and wrecked the contents of the window."

Too Rapid Growth.

The minister's six-year-old son is of a very critical, literal turn of mind, and his father's sermons sometimes puzzle him sorely. He regards his father as the embodiment of truth and wisdom, but he has lately been harping on the dominion's pulpit utterances with the world as it really is. His parents encourage him to express his opinions and clear up his doubts as much as possible. So one Sunday at dinner, after a long period of thought, they were not surprised when he said gravely, "Papa, you said one thing in your sermon today that I don't think is so at all."

"Well, what that, my boy?" asked the clergyman.

"You said, papa, you said 'The boy of today is the man of tomorrow.' That's too soon."

A Vile Performance.

On the occasion of his brother's benefit Edwin Booth was standing behind the scenes when a character actor who had been giving imitations of noted actors was about to respond to an encore.

"Whom do you imitate next?" inquired Booth.

"I will do a kind of a thing, but I don't know the name of it."

"What do you mean?"

"I give you a kind of a thing, but I don't know the name of it."

First Doctore's description should not be taken too literally. Doctor It is the only possible chance we have of getting a new bill for life insurance.

MRS. LAW'S ABLE DISCOURSE

That the Temple lecture course is a success, at least so far as attracting the entertaining masses are concerned, was well illustrated last night, the second of the course, when unmistakably the largest audience that was ever seen in the court house crowded into that building to hear the superb singing of the "Suffists" and the entertaining and able address of Mrs. E. Norine Law.

The meeting did not open until 8:30 o'clock in order to accommodate those who wished to attend prayer meeting. Before Mrs. Law began speaking Mr. and Mrs. Suttin rendered several selections. Their singing, indeed, was most effective and added very much to the evening's entertainment.

Before Mrs. Law spoke five minutes she had the audience hushed into silence. She is a most magnetic speaker, earnest and impressive in manner. She has at her command a vast array of facts, which she employs to an excellent advantage and last night occupied managed to create an unusual interest in her theme. She is a most zealous prohibitionist, but at the same time is in favor of woman suffrage, a movement to which she paid her respects in opening. Although in her address she employed many of the old arguments, she handled them in her own inimitable way and seemed to invest them with a new force and interest.

Tounght Rev. Killinger, D. D., of Philadelphia, and Professor Thatcher, the distinguished soloist of Boston, will be the attractions at the court house.

EXCEPTIONS MAY BE FILED

In re petition to change route of road in Limestone township, the rules granted to show cause why exceptions should not be filed nunc pro tunc to the report of viewers filed May 22, 1905, were made absolute by Judge Evans Monday. This is a road case which has been very stubbornly fought in court during the past year. Judge Evans in his opinion sets forth the following facts:

On Sept. 25, 1905, a petition for review was filed and reviewers were appointed. The reviewers filed their report on Jan. 8, 1906. On Feb. 24th, 1906, exceptions were filed to the report of the reviewers. The exceptions thus filed are still pending.

On October 18, 1906, upon petition of Alex. Billmeyer was granted upon the original petitioners to show cause why exceptions should not be filed to the report of the viewers nunc pro tunc. On Dec. 17, 1906, a like rule was granted upon petition of the county commissioners.

It was alleged in the petition presented by Alex. Billmeyer that the proceedings thus far were erroneous and contrary to law in that among other omissions notice of the time and place of holding the view was not given; also that the report of the viewers showed that they exceeded their authority by laying out a road out side of the terminal specifically mentioned in the petition. In the petition presented by the county commissioners similar averments are contained.

In the answers filed to these rules the original petitioners aver that the petitioners have no grounds for asking for the rules, that they have been in default in failing to file exceptions and that confirmation absolute has only been given by the proceedings for review.

Judge Evans' opinion cites authorities to show that it is not too late to file exceptions to the report of viewers after final confirmation, if the exceptions are grounded upon matter appearing upon the face of the record and they are substantial; also that "exceptions as to matters appearing on the face of the record may be filed after final confirmation of the report, where the record itself sustains the exceptions."

Without expressing any opinion on the merits of the controversy the court permitted the exceptions to be filed nunc pro tunc. The rules granted in the case were made absolute and it was further ordered that the petitioners file their exceptions to said report, nunc pro tunc, within fifteen days from date and not after that time.
