Godey.—The March number of this beautiful and excellent Magazine is on our desk. Each succeeding number bids fair to rival its predecessor. The March number is replete with interest. The Spring Fashion Plates are beautiful, and the engravings handsome and instructive.

Our brave veteran soldiers of the 102d and other regiments who have reenlisted and have been with us for a short time on furlough, are about to return to their respective commands and regiments. We hope that their visit has been a pleasant one to themselves and friends. The gentlemanly deportment and good behavior of our brave defenders is a high commenda-tion in their favor. Their presence has acted like a charm in encouraging volun-teering; many of their young friends have enlisted and are now on their way to the tented field, and if need be to meet the ing to destroy our government. They are shared with many of you the privations and perils of ladies and gentlemen, on a very interesting subject.

The occasion is one of great interest, and one that warms the heart of every partiot. We have assembled to greet and eheer and welcome many of the veteran soldiers of the Union Army.—Heroes of many battles. The ladies ever foremost in every good work, are here also to velcome the solliers, not only to their homes, but to a sumptuous dinner which they have generously prepared for them. Ladies you have bestowed your kindness upon a most meritorious class of our citizens. Soldiers who have shared the privations and perils of the camp and the field for years, and yet, to maintain the Government and the free institutions of the country, have again volunteered for the soldiers who have shared the privations and perils of the camp and the foreign for the country, have again volunteered for the country have again volunteered for the

It is one of the most encouraging features of the times to the loyal heart, and most chrushing to the hopes of the rebel conspirators, to see the unanimity with which our veteran soldiers are re-enlisting, and I am pleased to learn that the old 13th, now 102d Regiment, Pa. Vols., is not behind others in patriotic devotion. is not behind others in patriotic devotion to the good cause. The effect is cheering—thousands of others too are encouraged by their noble example to volunteer, meet by so general a movement in the right direction, by the veterans. The re-enlistment of such soldiers whose proved de.

and well deserve the thanks and gratitade, and support of millions of your admiring countrymen.

A bright page in our history will re-cord the fact that a million of freemen or all trades, occupations and professions volunteered to stand by and support the flag and Government of their country in the hour of its severest trials. The indications are that there will be no need of a draft in several States. What a noble history we will have when this war is over, and the truthful historian shall rehistory we will have when this war is over, and the truthful historian shall record the brilliant achievements of our volunteer soldiers, as well on the fields of battle, as the patient endurance of the privations, hardships and exposures of the march and the camp. Soldiers, when you rejoin your regiments and companies in arms, bear with you that the hearts of a crateful records beat in nuison with a grateful people beat in unison with yours, and will ever cheer and support you in all your trials. We have reason to be-live that the fiery ordeal through which we have passed and are still passing, is the terrible road marked out by a greater than man's wisdom that is to lead us safe-ly through all our troubles to National prosperity and universal liberty, and unite justice and enlightened benevolence.

I have said we believe this rebellion will be subdued before the close of another summer. Can it be otherwise? A country reduced to waste and threatened famine, with an unwilling army, poorly provided for railroads worn out, and all industrial pursuits paralized, the submis-sive spirit pervading the masses of their population, their money or serip valueless, and their credit bankrupt at home and abroad, their flag recognized and honored by no nation on Earth, with numerous desertions and thousands willingly accepting the Amnesty proclamation, utter hope-

These brave sess a power in military resources and general prosperity even greater than when the rebels first fired upon our flag at Fort Sumter, and willing now as then to defend the National honor and unity. They are deserving the gratitude and esteem of evdeserving the gratitude and esteem of every lover of liberty and justice. May the God of battles shield, protect and defend them in the hour of danger. Our best wishes go with them, in hopes that this wicked rebellion will soon be put down and a permanent peace be established on the immutable principles of liberty and justice.

gradually, but surely, narrowing the circle of its foes, no one can doubt our success. And I may add too, that since this rebellion commenced, we have not borrowed a dollar outside the limits of the United States, and that all our loans are the voluntary offerings of our own people. Confidence in the stability of our Government never for a moment shook the nerves even of the most timid. The monied men of the country have tested Meeting of Veterans.

Pursuant to previous arrangements a meeting of veteran soldiers was held in the Court-house, in Butler, on Thursday, the 18th inst. The meeting was called to order by electing Mr. Wm. Campbell, President; Maj. C. E. Anderson and Geo. W. Reed, Vice Presidents; James S. Kennedy and Geo. W. Crozier, Secretaries.

On motion, Rev. A. B. Leonard, opened the meeting with grayer.

The President then made a few appropriate remarks, welcoming the vecterans and "defenders of Liberty and Justice to the hospitalities of Butler. The Presidence of Matter Vice to and from our ports, and increased ed emigration to our shores, evince faith in the stability of our government.

In early spring we will have in the field the best Army ever marshalled under the banners of any nation, and concentrated, no rebel power can successfully resist its advancing columns. Who then can doubt that with such an army and an unsurpassed Iron clad navy, reliant upon a mighty power that directs, shapes, and controls the destinies of men and nations, that before the close of another summer we will have conquered peace, and such a peace, the hospitalities of Butler. The President called upon Col. J. N. Purviance to with such benificent results in the instiintroduce the Rev. A. M. Messrs Editors:—I again seat myself to write you a few lines, not that I have anything special to write, but I desire to express my heart-felt thanks to kind friends at home for favors received at their hands. It is indeed truly gratifying to us who are away from kind friends and all the endearing associations of home life, to know, that while we are out upon the tent-ed field battling for the maintance of our know, that while we are outupon the tented field-battling for the maintnance of our national existence, we are still remembered by them; and this is clearly proven to us by their kind acts toward us; and perhaps we do not appreciate them to the same extent that those do, who are suffering from wounds and diseases, now in the Hospitals.
Many a Mother has a Son, many a Sister, a Brother, and many a wife a husband that are now suffering from wounds received in Battle. Whose sufferings may be alleviated. Battle, whose sufferings may be alleviated by some kind act of theirs. Much can be done, (and I am happy to say is being done,) to alleviate the sufferings of our Brother Soldiers—this is a noble work, and those of the fair sex that are laboring and those of the fair sex that are laboring so faithfully deserve the highest commendations for this reason; while the patriotic sons of America are battling and-enduring the hardships of a soldiers life, they are laboring and sending forth those things which contribute to their comfort and welfare; and these acts of kindness and labours of love towards the soldiers are enouraging to them to endure the hardships and deprivations necessary to a soldiers ife. But this is too noble and too deep a subject for one like me to dojustice to.— I would only say, while you are laboring assiduously for the temporal welfare of assiduously for the temporal welfare of the soldiers of our country, do not forget their spiritual welfare; the mind must be employed in some way or other, and as we are very searce of reading matter, any papers, old or new that are full of good sentiments, will be acceptable to many.— Hoping that the country may be soon res-tored to peace and happiness again,

And the flag which our fathers gave Tous their children all. Shall o'er, our childrens children wave; And not one star from off it fall. I remain as ever yours with respect, W. **

OF Course.—Some Copperheads of Ashland township, Clarion county, went to a spelling on Thursday evening, the 11th inst., for the purpose of whipping several young men who had enlisted in Co. See our darling little Susie, Peaceful in her slumber lie; Gently to the grave we bear her Lay her from our sight away.

Sweet one, thou art gone forever, We no more thy voice shall hear; Gone to brighter worlds above us, Far, far above all sin and care.

List! and hear our Susie welcome, As our Allie "hies for home to see h We'll not weep, for Christ has taken, Our two darling little ones above.

Side by side they now are sleeping. Children of our tender love; In the garden of the blessed, Evermore to dwell above.

Roses now have been transplanted, Angels plucked them from their stem Bear them upward 'midst the cherubs Place them in God's diadem. On their wings they gently bare them, Far above this land of strife; Till they found their heavenly mission, 'Neath the tree of fadeless life.

Left are they in tender keeping, Unforbidden children go: This their thrist to quench from tears, Where the living waters flow.
