

THE AMERICAN CITIZEN.

Butler, Pa., Wednesday, July 6, 1864.

Entrance to the AMERICAN CITIZEN Printing Office from the South on Jefferson street.

GOOD APPOINTMENT.—C. E. Purviance, of our town, has been appointed and confirmed by the Senate, a position in the Commissary Department, with the rank of Captain. This, we say, is a good appointment.

On Sabbath day, the 26th ult., a swarm of bees located themselves in the eastern side of the U. P. Church, Butler, Pa. There is an iron rod or brace extending through the building between the Gallery floor and the ceiling of the same, fastened on the outside of the opposite walls with an iron S, for the purpose of bracing and holding the walls; and on the eastern side there is a small crevice along the said rod or brace, through which the bees entered, and are busily engaged in laying away their sweet store between the floor and ceiling of the gallery. From all appearances they are doing well, and we believe that the people worshipping there, intend to permit them to remain in their chosen location.

Death by Hanging.

On Friday morning, July 1st, John Martin Swartz, aged about 17 years, son of Christian Swartz of Summit township, this county, took his own life by hanging himself. The circumstances as near as we have been able to gather the same, are about as follows: Young Swartz had been unwell for some considerable length of time, and on the day previous to the melancholy event, he went to Saxenburg to consult the family physician with regard to his health and recovery; after his return home, and retiring to rest in the evening, he and his sister were engaged in conversation with regard to his visit to the Physician and he told her that the Doctor said to him that "it might be a long time before he would get well." This fact appeared to have some effect upon his mind, and in this connection it is perhaps proper to remark, that the deceased was generally believed to be at least partially insane. In the morning the Father arose in the gray of the morning and as usual found the door locked, and as it was yet very early, he again retired to rest, and at 5 o'clock the father was again up and awoke the rest of the family, in a short time breakfast was ready, and the daughter said to her father that Martin was yet in bed and that he had better awake him for breakfast, accordingly he went to the room to awake the son, but found that he was not there; he supposed as was natural, that he was about the barn, and went out to bring him to breakfast, and on opening the small barn door, he beheld his son hanging by the neck and dead. When the fact was made known to the family they were so perfectly amazed and perplexed that they hardly knew what to do. The neighbors were apprised of the occurrence, and Geo. C. Roensing, Esq. was notified, and immediately repaired to the place and held an inquest upon the body. The Jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts in the case.

Evansburg Celebration.

At an early hour on the 4th inst., the roads leading to the village, were thronged with wagons and vehicles of all descriptions, and it was evident that there would be a large concourse of people.—The place of meeting was in Hazlett's grove, East of the village, being a delightful spot on elevated or rising ground.—The day was beautiful and pleasant, which added greatly to the pleasures and enjoyments of the celebration. By 10 o'clock it was estimated that there was not less than 800 persons present. The Harmony Brass Band entertained the large audience with sweet and stirring music—this, we understand, is a newly organized band, and we can truly say, that they did themselves great credit on the occasion. At 11 o'clock, the table was spread with almost every variety of the necessaries and luxuries of life; everything that the citizens and fair Ladies of Evansburg and vicinity could procure and provide for the occasion was on hand, as a free will offering on their part, for it must be borne in mind, that the net proceeds, (after bearing some necessary expenses,) are to be donated to U. S. Sanitary Commission.—We were informed by the Committee, that over 400 partook of the sumptuous feast; after which the remainder of the provisions (which was no small quantity) were placed upon the table and the poor, maimed, and halt, were feasted to their hearts' content.

COMMITTEE CLAUSE REVEALED.

The Conference Committee of Congress on the disagreeing amendments to the military bill have agreed upon and reported the Smithers substitute which has been adopted by both Houses, and only wants the President's signature to become a law. This bill, which repeals the commutation clause, authorizes the President to call out troops for a term of one, two or three years, and fixes the bounty to volunteers at $100, $200 and $300 for the respective terms for which they may enlist. Fifty days are allowed after a call in which to raise the quotas of the several districts, at the end of which time a draft is to be ordered in those districts where there may be a deficiency. The Executives of the several States are empowered to recruit men in any of the States in rebellion, with the exception of Louisiana, Tennessee and Arkansas.—Pittsburgh Courier.

deeds of the 11th Pa. Reserves, a number of whom were present, giving a short history of the noble part which they performed on many a bloody battle field. The Band then played the Patriotic air, "Red, White and Blue, which concluded the regular exercises of the day. Everybody appeared to be pleased and gratified, and at 5 o'clock the large gathering had dispersed to their homes, feeling that they had at least done something to alleviate the sufferings of the brave heroes who are giving their lives a willing sacrifice for the perpetuation of the inestimable blessings of Civil and Religious Liberty.

Great praise is due the patriotic men and women who were engaged in preparing and superintending this celebration, for the manner and spirit in which they performed their part. All persons interested will, in due time, be informed with regard to amount of proceeds and its application.

War News.

By our exchanges of the 4th inst., we have the startling intelligence that the Rebels, from 10,000 to 20,000 strong, under Breckinridge and Ewell, had advanced on Martinsburg, and that firing was heard in that direction, which was indicative of an engagement; great excitement in Chambersburg, Harrisburg, and Philadelphia. Later dispatches state that Gen. Sigel had fallen back to Harper's Ferry, and that the Rebels were advancing in three columns.

A fight took place at Bunker Hill and also at Lee Town, 20 miles from Harper's Ferry. At Lee town our forces succeeded in repulsing every attack. The rebels appear to be advancing in three columns. No doubt the movement has a double object in view; to draw forces from the front of Richmond and Petersburg and plunder. Governor Curtin has gone to the front. The news from Gen. Sherman is to the effect that he has compelled the rebels to evacuate their strong position at Kenesaw, and our army was in pursuit.

The rebel Gen. Shelby and Marmaduke have been defeated, we captured 200 prisoners and took a number of guns, and four mountain howitzers. Gen's. Wilson and Kautz have returned from their recent raid on the Danville road; our forces utterly destroyed over 20 miles of the road, all the black smith shops and saw mills adjacent thereto, rendering it very difficult to repair said road. Gen. Wilson states, that the road could not be repaired in less than 14 days, if the necessary materials were all on the ground. This is pronounced one of the greatest raids of the war, and will prove an irreparable loss to the rebels. Our loss is estimated at from 7,50 to 1,000, killed, wounded and missing—we also lost a small empty wagon train and a few pieces of cannon.

Our forces are shelling Petersburg, which is said to be on fire. At last accounts Gen. Hunter, with his whole force, had arrived safely at Charlottesville, West Virginia, having destroyed $5,000,000 worth of Rebel property, and proving victorious in every engagement.

The Case Stated.

The following dialogue, says the Louisville Union Press, really took place in this city on Friday last between an unconditional Union man and a McClellan Copperhead. The two just read the news dispatches, giving an account of the successes of the army under Grant:

Union man—Well, what do you think of the news?

Copperhead—I don't believe it; there is nothing official; I must wait for authentic information.

Union man—Suppose the news to come as you wish—that Lee had repulsed Grant and driven him back to the intrenchments of Washington; that Johnston had whipped Sherman and driven him back beyond Chattanooga—what chance do you think Lincoln would have in the pending Presidential election race?

Copperhead—None whatever. McClellan would then carry almost every State.

Union man—But suppose the opposite—that Grant whips Lee and captures Richmond; that Sherman whips Johnston and occupies Marietta and Atlanta, and that these two armies are marching forward victoriously, what then will be the result of the Presidential contest?

Copperhead—In that event Lincoln would be easily elected.

Union man—Then you confess you belong to a party whose candidate has no chance of an election except in the defeat and overthrow of the armies of the nation. That you so desire, I have every reason to believe; but that the unsophisticated millions who claim to be true patriots will unite themselves with a party that can only succeed in the event that the country is humiliated by defeat, and disgraced by conquest, passes my comprehension.

And thus the dialogue closed; not another word did the copperhead utter.
