THE AMERICAN CITIZEN.

Butler, Pa., Wednesday, Aug. 3, 1864. AT Entrance to the AMERICAN CITIZEN Printing Office m the South on Jefferson street

SAD ACCIDENT .- On Thursday, the 28th ult., John Hoon, of Centre town ship, was thrown off a wagon load of hay, falling on his head and shoulders, injuring him so severely, that he died about 11 o'clock, a. m., on Sunday. Mr. Hoon was an industrious and honest man, and a worthy citizen.

KILLED BY LIGHTENING .--- On Sunday, the 31st ult., Andrew, a son of Patrick and Catharine Dougherty, of Clearfield township, this county, aged 6 years, was killed by lightning. This boy, in company with two others, was sitting under an Apple tree, where a scythe was hanging. It would appear from the manner in which the ground was torn up, that the lightning struck a short distance above the scythe, and when reaching it seperated and ran down both ends-the wedge running down the scythe killing the boy, striking him on the back of the head and running down his back, cutting the skin and tearing the clothes off him. The other two boys were severely stunned, but recovered.

The Election.

The extreme caution with which our Democratic neighbors have moved for a few days, had led some to think that they had changed their programme, and were either going to stay away all together, or else cave and vote for the amendment .-Although the election is at the time of our writing, nearly closed, it is hard to tell how they are generally voting. It is now known that the leaders here have vo ted against allowing our brave soldiers, now batling with the rebel hosts in front of Richmond and Atlanta, the right of suffrage. But of this, more hereafter.

Meeting of Judicial Conferees. The Union Conferees of the 25th Ju-dicial District, met at the "Leslie House," in New Castle, on the 25th ult. The following are the names of the Conferees.

Army Correspondence.

For Through the kindness of Mr. Wm Cratty, we are permitted to publish the following letter from his son, Capt. Eli G. Cratty, of Co. E, 103d Pa. Vols. It will be recollected that the Regt. was captured at Plymoth, N. C. The friends of this Regt, will be glad to learn that they are faring so well in their captivity. We and the brave soldiers who fight and ensincerely hope that they may soon be exchanged, and be permitted to return to their peaceful homes.

June 6, 1864. DEAR PARENTS :-- With pleasure embrace the present opportunity of informing you that I am enjoying good health, we are getting along very well at this could be expected for Prisoners of war. The sege of Petersourg openation in ear-these this morning, and at daylight we blew up one of the principal rebel batter-iers of earthworks before the mail steam-er left City Point this morning. could be expected for Prisoners of war. I have heard from my men lately, they were all well then. I lost of my men in the engagement, one killed and two wounded slightly; Logan was killed—at this date there is no prospect of exchange. You can write to me, address your letter to me Prisoner of War, Macon Georgia. I suppose you have not received any of my former letters, but I hepe this will reach you in safety. Give my love to all Latest from the Army. HARRISBURG, July 29.—The rebels have crossed and re-crossed the Potomac at Falling Waters, and have again crossed, or were crossing yesterday evening. They were in force, and said to be 40,000 strong. At Hancock they were also crossing, and fears are expressed that they may get to Bedford Springs, where Governor Curtin They now is.

New York, July 29.—A special to the Post, dated Washington, July 29th, says: Advices from the Army of the Potomac show that Grant has secured an important strategic position above Bernu-da Hundred, as the result of Wednesday's engagement. It gives him the command of a good base of supplies only ten miles from Richmond.

WASHSNGTON, July 29 .- A letter from w ASHENGTON, JULY 23.—A letter from the army of the Potomac, of the 28th, says: The arrival of some troops in the vicinity of Bermuda Hundred a day or two ago, attracted the attention of the en-emy, and caused them to believe that an advance on Richmond by way of Malvern advance on Richmond by way of Malvern Hill was intended. A force, consisting of Kershaw's division, of Longstreet's corps, and Wilcox's division, of Hill's corps, was immediately withdrawn from the vi-cinity of Petersburg, and sent down to cinity of Petersburg, and check their advancement. To counteract this manœuver of the To counteract this manœuver of the enemy the second corps was detached and sent across the James River; and at 6:30 yesterday morning our advance met the rebel skirmishers in an open field oppo-site Jones Neck with a battery in posi-tior at the edge of the woods. corps. He lost forty or fifty wounded during the day. WASHINGTON, July 31-Evening.

No news later than 8 o'clock yesterday No news later than 8 o chock yesterday morning has been received from Peters-burg Word came here that the wildest reports and runors prevailed in the North and West to-day. Those who jump at once to the conclusion that Petersburg is destroyed and Gen. Lee's army overthrown are likely, it may be said, to be downcast on receipt of the next news from the scene of active conflict, while those who remember that the rebels are staking everything on the result of the contest and who are content with what General Grant meant when he said "from Spott sylvania the advantage is on our side," will, it is believed, have further cause for admiration of the brave soldiers who leads used on the death of Joury P. McGILL, who fell May 6th, 1864, at the battle of the Wilderness. Dear brave John thou hast fallen, As have many of the braves : Thou did's us to protect the country. Now thou slumberest with the deail.

What is camp without our Soldier; 'Tis a lone and dreary task! Each is filled with sighs and sadness, When the dreary drill is asked.

Sadly do we regret thy absence When we think of one so brave How he went forth so manfully; He his country tried to save.

How he left his aged parent, Brothers, Sisters, friends so true, And he left his h me and kindred He bid all, a long-adien.

Yet how fair were all his prospects On that clear, sweet autumn mo When he bade farewell to kindred "Weep not, John will return."

But that old-death sternly bullet, Entered the brace heroes head, He fell at the Wilderness battle ; Now he slumbers with the dead.

0.1 our home and camp is lonely When the evening shades appear, When we think of our true Soldier Boy He, us, on earth no more will cheer.

Yet thon ar't happy dear, brave, Johny, In a world that's free from war, Where the shrill sound of cannonading, Ne'er can disturb you there.

We would not try here to recall thee From that fair and radiant shore, When your reigning is celestial, Happiest for ever more. LOUISE J. JACE.

ments. The battle contract with the greatest fury. HRADQUARTERS AREAT OF THE POTOMAC,] July 20, 310 A. M. The great event so long anticipated, namely the explosion of the mine under the rebel fort in front of the 9th Army Corps, came off this morning at 40 min-utes past 4 o'clock. Picket firing was kept up all night, and in factall the time, the match was applied to the mine, the skirmishers were still engaged on both sides. The volume of dirt was immense, and thrown up three hundred feet in the air. The 9th Corps at once charged the works, driving the rebels to their eccond line of entrenchments, and taking a num-ber of prisoners, some of whom were dug out of the dirthadly bruised. These rebel prisoners state that only about a dozen remain of their regiment—a South Caro-lina one. As soon as the explosion took place 120 guns immeeiately opened on our front, while the musketry played in a continued fire along the front of the 9th and part of the 12th Corps. Prisoners say they were completely surprised. Those in front be-ing mostly asleep at the time and also that there were 14 guns in the fortifications, which, of course, were buried far tions, which, of course, were buried far out of sight. One of the prisoners sta-ted that they were busy mining under our works and that in two days they would have been ready to blow them up. We got the start of them, however, and it is hoped that long ere this reaches you Pe-tersburg will be in our possession.
