

THE AMERICAN CITIZEN.

Butler, Pa., Wednesday, Nov. 23, 1864

We refer our readers to the various advertisements of H. C. Heineman, in our paper to-day. We advise all wishing to procure Holiday Gifts, &c., to examine his fresh stock of Variety Notions. We have no doubt they will find everything desirable in their line, at reasonable figures. Call and see.

We are informed that Mr. Benjamin Jack is going to take charge of the Jack House, in this place, now kept by Mr. Magee. We are not informed as to Mr. Magee's future intentions—the best wishes of the community will accompany him. Mr. Jack, we believe, will take possession of the house on the 1st of December; he will doubtless be welcomed back to our town by his numerous friends. While proprietor of the Lowry House, he earned a name as a hotel keeper, of which he may well be proud.

We would direct the attention of Farmers, and all others fond of good reading, to the Prospectus of the Germantown Telegraph, published in another column. It is an old and well established Agricultural Journal, embracing Horticulture, Gardening, Fruit-Raising, &c.—Its Literary and News Department, are highly interesting and instructive.

We have just been informed that a telegraphic dispatch has been received, announcing the death of Thomas Armstrong, a citizen of Jefferson township; but late a member of Co. —, 6th Heavy Artillery. Mr. Armstrong was one of our most worthy citizens. We have not learned any of the particulars of his death. He leaves a wife and children, with a large circle of friends and acquaintances to mourn his untimely death. Our own relations to the deceased, were those of most intimate friendship—we can scarcely imagine that he is no more—we sincerely sympathize with his bereaved family. His name will be added to those who have fallen in the cause of their country.

The Presidential Election.

Table with columns for States, 1860, and 1864. Lists electoral votes and popular votes for various states including Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nevada, California, and Oregon.

Table with columns for States, 1860, and 1864. Lists electoral votes and popular votes for New Jersey, Delaware, Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland, California, and Oregon.

By these figures it appears that in all the States (except possibly in Tennessee and Louisiana) now voting for President, Mr. Lincoln, has a majority of nearly 400,000 on the popular vote, and 213 Electoral votes to 21 for McClellan. The same States, in 1860, gave 138,704 majority against Lincoln, although he had 168 Electoral votes to 49 for all others. The entire vote in 1860 was: Union, 1,864,525; Democratic, 1,723,099; total popular vote, 3,587,622. We include in our estimated majorities the vote of soldiers wherever they are allowed to vote. It will be observed that while of all the above States the Democrats carried eight in 1860, they now have but three; and their column of majorities shrinks from nearly half a million to the paltry handful of thirty thousand. The Union party carry twenty-two States; the Democracy carry three.—Enough, said—N. Y. Tribune.

The Cooking Wagon.

As soon as they were come to light, saw a fire of coals, and had had thereon, and bread, Jesus said unto them, 'Come and dine.' John xxi, 8, 12. I must refer particularly to one prominent feature of their work for wounded bodies of this day, which for its novelty and usefulness, deserves especial attention. Some of the newspapers have mentioned a new cooking-wagon, presented by the inventor to the Christian Commission, which is thoroughly satisfactory. It is constructed somewhat like a battery caisson, so that the parts can be unlimbered and separated from each other. The 'limber,' or forward part bears a large chest, which is divided into compartments, to contain coffee, tea, sugar, and corn starch, with a place also for two gridirons and an axe. From the rear portion rise three tall smoke-pipes, above three large boilers, under which there is a place for the fuel. Each boiler will hold fourteen gallons; and it is estimated that in each one on the march, ten gallons of tea, or coffee or chocolate, could be made in twenty minutes—thus giving ninety gallons of nourishing drink every hour. It is truly a most ingenious and beneficent invention. There was a call for coffee. A party of delegates at once volunteered to re-pond to the call. The fires were lighted, the water boiled, the coffee made, and soon the whole, drawn by two powerful horses, and attended by half a score of willing laborers, was on its way, from division to division. Up the hospital avenue it rumbled and rolled, passed the long rows of white tents, stopping at this cluster and that, giving to all from its generous supply.

You should have seen the wondering look of the men as it passed by. They rolled themselves over to get a glimpse of it. They stretched their necks for a sight at it. The wounded heads forgot to ache, and the wounded limbs almost forgot to cry for nursing in that moment of eager curiosity. Was it a new sort of ambulance? It didn't look like one. What did those three black pipes mean, and those three glowing fires? Is it a steam fire-engine, and are they going to give us a shower-bath? But the savory odor that saluted their nostrils, and the delicious beverage the engine poured into their tin cups, soon put the matter beyond all doubt. They soon found that there was no necromancy about it, for it had a substantial blessing for each one of them, and they gave it their blessings in return. One by one such as were able, crowded about it with curious faces, and the wagon, as it stood steaming and glowing in the midst, was the theme of many affectionate comments.

'Lay, Bill, ain't that a bully machine?' 'Yes, sir, it's the greatest invention ever saw.' 'That's what you might call the Christian Light Artillery,' says a third. 'Good deal pleasanter ammunition in it than the Rebs sent us this morning.' 'Well Doctor,' said a delegate to a surgeon, 'what do you think of this?' 'I thank the Lord for it. That's all I can say,' was the reply. And so, on a sudden, the new invention was crowned with the praises and benedictions of the admiring crowd. It was a marked feature in the work of the day, and must be set down as one of the 'peculiar institutions' of the Commission.

Coffee and Bullets for a Division. Mr. J. A. Cole has put the Cooking Wagon to a new use, refreshing our battle-worn veterans on the field. He says: 'The Coffee Wagon was kept at work, and was really a means of giving a great deal of comfort. It was taken to the lines, where bullets flew about it, and every soldier in the division that made the charge, capturing the fort on Chapman's farm, had a good drink of hot coffee—what they had not had for three wet muddy days. The machine is getting to be very popular.'

Prevention Better than Cure.

R. C. Smalley, Esq., M. D. writes: 'During my stay with the 5th Corps, I was chiefly occupied in distributing reading matter in the hospitals, and to the soldiers at the front; and in carrying writing paper, canned fruits and meats to those in the front lines who were not well, and yet were not sick enough to go to the hospital. They were very grateful for those articles there; and I deemed it important that those who were ailments should have a change of diet, farina, corn-starch, canned milk, Jamaica ginger, &c.; and to prevent men from becoming so sick as to leave their post of duty is saving to the government efficient working men. At all times I talked personally with them in regard to their spiritual welfare.'
