Meeting in the Court House.

At an impromptu meeting held in the Court House by a few citizens of the borough and vicinity, on the 19th inst., who came together to consult as to the mode of spending the day in an appropriate manner; it being the day set apart for the funeral ceremonies of our late President.—On motion, Gen. Purviance was called to the chair; and Wm. Stewart and Jas. G. Campbell, Esq. Vice Presidents; William S. Ziegler and Thos. Robinson, appointed Secretaries.

On taking the chair, the President made the following remarks:

"We have met to take suitable action in regard to the horrible event, which causes the nation to mourn. The death, by the foul hand of the murderous assassin, of our lamented and beloved President, fills the nation with inexpressible sorrow. The head of this great nation—a wise, good, generous and beloved Chief Magistrate has been murdered by the fiendish hand of the bloody assassin.—"

The nation weeps and mourns in sadness of heart the loss of the great, good and wise Abraham Lincoln. Language fails us to express our deep abhorrence of the atrocious crime.

Just at a time when the great nation was rejoicing as men never before rejoiced, when gladness of heart pervaded the land, when the cheering news was every where received with unbounded gladness—that a causeless and wicked rebellion had been crushed, comes the heart-crushing intelligence that Abraham Lincoln, the pure patriot, the wise statesman, the christian man, who under a gracious and all-wise Providence, had led us through our protracted national trials, was deathfully murdered by the bloody hands of the midnight assassin. Truly the nation mourns, and prays God for strength to bear up under the sore bereavement.

Abraham Lincoln lived to see the rebellion ended and the promised land of peace. The possession is heritage, we may confidently hope, of a Free and Christian people, who will ever love Liberty and hate slavery.

May President Johnson, in whom we have all confidence, take the reins of Government with a firm hand, and abiding faith in the Almighty, until we shall reach the haven of Universal Freedom. Let us all with unity of purpose, unity of action and unity of heart stand up—uphold and support the New President, in finishing the great work which, under Providence, lies before him."

The following resolution was then offered and adopted.

Resolved, That in response to the call of the Chief Burgess of this borough, we recommend our citizens to meet in this Hall, at one p. m. to-day, to take such further action as may be deemed proper and becoming, and that all business be suspended as requested by the Chief Burgess in his proclamation of this morning.

On motion, the following committee were appointed:—On Resolutions, Wm. Stewart, Esq., James Bredin, Esq., Dr. Wm. Cowlen, Col. John M. Thompson and L. Z. Mitchell, Esq.

On Organization, Capt. Wm. O. Brackenridge, J. A. Sedwick, James G. Campbell, H. C. Heineman and Wm. Stoops, Esq.

According to understanding, meeting adjourned to meet in same place at one o'clock p. m., at which time one of the largest meetings ever assembled in the Court House came together, the hall being quite insufficient to accommodate the hundreds that were compelled to stand round the doors and outside the building. Charles M. Candles, Esq., E. M. Junkin, Esq. and E. M. Bredin, Esq., were appointed additional Vice Presidents, and Jas. Bredin, Esq., additional Secretary. The following were the order of exercises. Prayer by Rev. Wm. White. Music by the brass band. Address by Rev. Miser (in german)—reading a portion of the 3d chapter, 2d Samuel, by Rev. Limberger, in the 2d.) Same in English by Rev. Brown. Address by Rev. Tibbles. Music by the band. Address by Rev. Lemburg; 90th Psalm sung. Rev. Niblock leading. Address by Rev. White. Music by the band. Address by Rev. Niblock.

The committee on Resolutions reported the following, which were unanimously adopted.

PREAMBLE BY WM. STEWART, ESQ. "Know ye not that there is a Prince and a Great Man fallen in Israel?" the chosen head of this mighty nation; the beloved of the people; the hope of the poor and down-trodden; the friend of mankind; the devoted lover of his country, has fallen; stricken down by the hand of a foul assassin. In the mid-day of his life and usefulness, while bending all his powers and energies "to gather again into one" the broken fragments of our divided and hostile sections; when he hoped very soon to see our distracted and desolated people folding up their banners of war, sheathing the sword of slaughter, and again embracing each other as brothers of a common country, his life is suddenly taken, sacrificed for his stern, unbending fidelity to his duty as the preserver of the nation's life.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved, That as citizens of Butler County, we join with our fellow countrymen of all classes and conditions in life, in mourning the untimely death of our beloved Chief Magistrate, and re-iterate our tears to those of all lovers of their country, who weep that another, and in some respects a greater one, has fallen to the lot of the honored dead, in the sacred cause of American Nationality. And we cannot forbear to express our desire for the speedy arrest and condign punishment of the cowardly assassin, and of all who were privy to, or participators in, the nefarious plot or conspiracy, aimed at the life of our Nation, as at the breast of its chief ruler.

Resolved, That, whether considered as to the person, the time, the circumstances, or the manner of this sad event, we can regard it only as an unexampled calamity, and look upon it as one of those mysterious visitations, permitted by an all-wise Providence, for further chastisement and humbling us for our national sins.

Resolved, That President Lincoln, in his strict adherence to his conception of right, his straight forward honesty of purpose; his kindness of heart; his tender and forgiving disposition, shown by his advocacy of all conciliatory and merciful measures toward those who had, without cause, rebelled against the mildest and most beneficent of governments, administered by the mildest and most beneficent of rulers, had justly endeared himself, not only to the people of this land, but to the virtuous and enlightened, as well as the oppressed, of all climes. And his name will stand throughout all ages, among the highest on the scroll of the martyrs in the cause of human freedom. Millions, yet unborn, will do homage to his memory.

Resolved, That we have abiding confidence in the stability of our free institutions, and that our glorious Union, reunited, cemented by the blood of thousands of patriots shed in its defence, and re-invigorated by the struggles and dangers through which it has passed, will remain forever the asylum of the oppressed, and the beacon light of liberty to the nations of the earth.

Resolved, That we have confidence in the patriotism and ability of Andrew Johnson, and that to him, as President of the United States, we pledge our cordial and active support, confident his administration will rebound to the honor and welfare of our nation, and the interests of humanity.

On motion, it was resolved that the proceedings be published in all the county papers.

The meeting was one of the most interesting ever witnessed in this community. The exercises were solemn and impressive, and all returned to their homes evidently feeling that much had been done in the way of overcoming party prejudice and ill feeling.

—The Boston Post says: We are as much on trial to-day before the tribunal of the world as we were in the darkest day of the rebellion. We shall stamp our character for the future on the mind of the world indelibly for good or for bad, through the acts that are to follow these great victories of our arms. We are to make the future of our country great, glorious and powerful, or we are to have it torn with intestine wars and strife, without unity of heart or of purpose.
